

LET'S PUT IT IN ORBIT!

And Up She Goes! Rising with the hopes for a better life for hundreds of Victorians, the Community Chest balloon soars up from the Empress Hotel front walkway today to signal the start of the 1958-59 campaign for $300,000. Lt.-Governor Frank Ross, right, cut the string, watched by Chest president Hubert Wallace. The balloon is tethered at 150 feet. Tied to it at 75 feet is a Red Feather pennant, which will inch up as donations are received, at the rate of $4,000 a foot. When the pennant is at the same level as the balloon, the $300,000 will have been collected.—(Times photo.)

FLYING START FOR $300,000 CHEST DRIVE

The Balloon Went Up! How High Will It Go?

By DAVID COWLISHAW

A snip of a pair of scissors, a sudden riving of some 200 pairs of eyes skyward and a big white plastic balloon floated up from the front walkway of the Empress Hotel today.

The time: 11:06 a.m. The occasion: the launching of Greater Victoria's 1958 (for 1959) Community Chest campaign, blowing the kick-off whistle on a spirited drive for money that will not stop until $300,000 is in the bag about Oct. 31.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross was the man with the scissors.

"As this balloon goes up, so I hope will your contributions," he said to the applauding on-lookers. "Three thousand volunteers who are giving their time to this campaign will be looking for your support and generosity."

As he spoke, the balloon bobbed gently around above the hotel lawn. Tethered to a wooden block, the 40 cubic foot oval sausage filled with high-pressed helium (courtesy, Yarrows Ltd.) was at once the epitome of Chest officials' hopes for a triumphant drive, and a reminder to citizens to keep their contributory sights high.

But there wasn't much doubt that Victorians will heed the call for cash.

Said Chest president Hubert Wallace: "Victorians have charitable souls. They have rallied before—I know they will rise again this time."

The speeches came after a parade of army, air force and navy men that was slick enough to coax the small change from anybody's pocket. Led by the 17-piece Naden band, the marchers strode along to the subdued cheers of curbing Victorians whose representative support augured well for the outcome of the drive.

Pearson Hopeful Solution Looms In Formosa Talks

By PETE LOUDON

New hope for peaceful settlement of the Formosa dispute by negotiation was expressed in Victoria today by Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson.

He was most optimistic over a proposal by India which would see the war-torn islands of Quemoy and Matsu become a no-man's-land while talks proceed.

Mr. Pearson spoke against any Canadian participation in the dispute over the off-shore islands. He said the war between Red China and the off-shore islands is a Chinese civil war.

Regarding the threat of U.S. armed intervention, he added, "The time has come when we should say publicly we don't support this... our attitude should be made clear to the United States."

"We shouldn't break with the U.S. if we can avoid it, but if that U.S. is going to continue this policy, then their friends should let them know... where they stand."

The only alternative to a U.S. diplomatic defeat or a world war, he felt, was through negotiation as proposed by India.

Algerian Rebels Fight On

CAIRO—Algerian rebels will continue their war against French rule despite the results of Sunday's referendum in Algeria, sources of the newly-constituted Algerian provisional government said today.

The rebel sources charged that Algerian voters were hauled to the polls in trucks and under heavy guard. They said Moslems were forced by various means to vote.

Incomplete results from 12 of Algeria's 15 departments reflected a 96 per cent "yes" vote in the referendum.

For the first time, French and Moslems voted on an equal footing. It also was the first time Moslem women were given the vote.

The big turnout of Moslem women surprised officials. They regarded it as a signal the women are taking full advantage of their new opportunity for emancipation.

The new constitution makes no provision for the future of Algeria and a heavy yes vote there was simply an expression of confidence in de Gaulle personally.

The favorable vote by the fact most of the Arabs and Berbers who make up nine-tenths of Algeria's 10,000,000 people are illiterate and were under pressure from the French army to turn out and vote yes.

The Algerian result also was rendered less valid by the fact only 1,005,538 persons were registered to vote out of 4,222,000 eligible adults. Nationalist rebels campaigned for abstention.

ST. PIERRE, St. Pierre of Miquelon—Residents of these French islands off Canada's west coast voted heavily for Premier de Gaulle's new constitution Sunday.

A total of 2,385 persons voted at the town hall here and 2,325 marked their ballots in favor of the constitution.

PARIS—France today notified her West African possession of Guinea that it has chosen the path of separation from the French union by voting against the new constitution.

Premier Sekou Toure was told his government no longer could receive financial or administrative aid from France.

The alumina-rich country, slightly larger than the United Kingdom, broke its links with France Sunday when its people rejected Gen. Charles de Gaulle's constitution.

With about one-quarter of the vote counted, Guinea has gone for its freedom 30-to-1.

GEN. DE GAULLE... personal triumph.

NATIONALS IN CANADA GO ALONG

OTTAWA—French nationals in Canada voted about 97 per cent in favor of Premier de Gaulle's constitutional proposals—one of the highest percentages anywhere.

The French Embassy here reported that with two-thirds of the ballots in, the total favoring the proposals was 6,880 as against 338 contrary ballots.

The feeling in Canada was that the proposals "will likely give France a stronger, more lasting government." They would give the allies of France a better partner.

FOLSOM SPARES NEGRO'S LIFE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The death sentence of Jimmy Wilson for a $1.95 robbery was commuted to life imprisonment today by Governor James E. Folsom.

The decision was announced by Folsom following a clemency hearing last Friday which brought the 35-year-old illiterate Negro handyman face to face with the governor.

Wilson must serve 15 years before he is eligible for parole.

NOT DUNCAN TRIO

U.S. Doctor Believed Plane Victim

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—Wreckage of a light plane found on El Capitan Mountain was identified today as one in which Dr. Charles G. Keigwin of Renton, Wash., disappeared Dec. 5, 1953, on a flight to Spokane.

Earlier it was speculated the wreckage might be that of the aircraft which carried a Duncan, B.C., family of three to their deaths in May of last year.

Warren Wall, 36, his wife Mary, 32, and their son Glen, 8, disappeared during a flight from Ellensburg, Wash., to Everett. Clifford Wall of Duncan, brother of the missing man, told the Times today he could tell from a description of the aircraft, even before identification had been made, that it was not the one in which his brother had been flying.

U.S. Fires A-Test

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—A nuclear test weapon exploded with shattering impact today. The device, packing half the power of the A-bomb exploded over Hiroshima in the Second World War, was detonated while hanging from a balloon anchored 1,500 feet in the air.

PRESIDIO, Tex. (AP)—The Rio Grande, a swollen monster three to four miles wide, crumbled homes as it swept through the Presidio Valley of southwest Texas and isolated thousands of border cities today.

New walls of water were expected today from continued deluges along the Rio Conchos in northern Mexico.

About 30 families were evacuated in Presidio. One man was believed drowned.

The river, normally four feet deep here, was at more than 17 feet Sunday. 1.19 feet higher than in the big 1932 flood.

More than 16,000 were isolated in the Ojinaga area on the Mexican side. Pemex, the Mexican government oil company, flew in milk and baby food. Food, fuel and gasoline were reported running low in the Mexican town.

The Red Cross declared Presidio a disaster area.

All-White Private Schools Set Up as Vote Backs Faubus

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Federal Judge Harvey M. Johnson announced today the court will issue a temporary restraining order against the Little Rock school board which has leased four high schools to a private corporation.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock school board today leased four closed high school buildings to a private group for operation as private, segregated schools.

With the approval of the state attorney-general, the board went ahead with the leasing without waiting for federal court action in Omaha, Neb., where the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is asking that the leasing deal be temporarily halted.

A two-judge court was to take up the NAACP request for a temporary restraining order later.

The action followed an overwhelming vote by Little Rock citizens Saturday against letting Negroes attend the all-white schools. The final result

Frenchmen Back New Constitution

PARIS (AP)—Premier de Gaulle has won his fight. Returns from the most sweeping referendum in French history today gave him a resounding personal triumph and a strong constitution for a new Fifth Republic.

The Fifth Republic will be proclaimed in the official Journal next Sunday. And France will embrace a new, more powerful system of government so daring many Frenchmen gasped at the conception while they voted their approval by a landslide Sunday.

Voters of continental France approved the new constitution by a margin of almost 4-to-1.

Complete official tabulations in France showed 17,666,828 yes votes and 4,624,475 no votes. There was a record turnout of 84.9 per cent of the registered voters. Counting all those who went to the polls, including some who cast blank ballots, the new constitution was approved by 78.5 per cent.

With one exception—French Guinea in West Africa—the overseas lands of the erstwhile French empire also backed the constitution to the hilt. This set them up with France on the world political stage as a "French community," a sort of global confederation, with commonwealth status and even independence waiting in the wings.

Can Write His Own Ticket

Even the no vote of independence-minded Guinea, on a steamy stretch of the West African coast made little impression in the general massive outpouring of approval that exceeded even the most optimistic estimates.

The landslide raised the prospect that de Gaulle, the 67-year-old wartime hero who became premier after a rightist uprising last May, can almost write his own ticket to cure the sickness of this long ailing country. Chief of these is the four-year-old Algerian rebellion.

De Gaulle probably will become president, with powers that no French chief of state has enjoyed since Emperor Napoleon III was overthrown in 1870.

In the interval France has deliberately maintained a strong legislature and a weak executive.

De Gaulle's dramatic victory was the worst electoral black eye the Communists have suffered in postwar France. The Communists formed the largest bloc campaigning against de Gaulle's constitution. They said it would open the way to dictatorship.

Gaullist leaders hailed the results as a decisive blow at the Reds, who had the biggest single voting bloc—148 deputies—in the 596-seat National Assembly.

Approval of the constitution automatically rejects the old assembly. De Gaulle now has four months of near-dictatorial powers in which he will write a new election law to seat a new assembly.

Elections probably will come in late November or early December.

Chiang Threatens To Bomb Red Guns

TAIPEI (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek said today his Nationalist air force will bomb the Communist guns ringing Quemoy when and if the "crucial moment arises."

He added he felt the United States would back him if that time came.

Chiang said this would be when the lives of the 130,000 troops and civilians on the outpost fortress are in danger either from the effects of the Communist artillery blockade or other military action.

He said:

"When the crucial moment arises I feel the United States will not fall back on its promises to help. But the crucial moment has not yet arisen."

"But we will act on our own regardless of the U.S. attitude when it comes a question of life and death."

Chiang spoke at his first open news conference since Feb. 7, 1955.

Meanwhile, growing bitterness is reported in Formosa over United States policy on the Formosa Straits issue. Nationalist armed forces and political leaders are saying privately that there is a growing feeling the government of Formosa will be "sold-out" by the United States.

Nationalist official quarters received with "grave concern" press reports from Washington Sunday on possible American moves to bar Nationalist agents from being airdropped into the Chinese mainland.

They said the ban would impede their efforts to defend Formosa.

Reliable Nationalist sources said Nationalist airmen, who now are reported operating F-100 supersonic jet fighters, had penetrated into the mainland several times in the last week.

The sources said the Nationalists would seek permission to bomb rocket bases on the mainland if the Communists opened fire with their newly-installed rockets, reported to be in position opposite Quemoy.

State Has No Right To Interfere—Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court declared today the constitutional rights of Negro students "are not to be sacrificed or yielded" to violence and disorder.

The assertion was in the formal opinion setting out the reasoning behind the court's Sept. 12 decision against any delay in integration of Little Rock's Central High School.

With the justices assembled in a special session, Chief Justice Warren read the court's 17-page printed opinion. It said that violence and disorder in the Little Rock situation "followed upon the actions of the governor and the legislature."

"No state can deny to any person within its jurisdiction equal protection under the laws, the opinion said."

"In short," the chief justice said for his unanimous tribunal, "the constitutional rights of children not to be discriminated against in school admission on grounds of race or color... can neither be nullified openly or directly by state legislators or state executive or judicial officers, nor nullified indirectly by them through evasive schemes for segregation whether attempted ingeniously or ingenuously."

senior and junior Chambers of Commerce — steered along at five miles an hour by beaming drivers who occasionally waved to shoulder-hoisted kiddies.

Policemen kept the crowd lines straight. Youngsters skipped and ran alongside the marching feet. An old lady sat on a folding chair and munched an apple. Victoria—a representative gathering, anyway, had turned out to see the 1958 Chest off to a good start.

At the Empress the cars drew up to the right of the causeway and parked. The marchers formed a U-shape in front of the main entrance, while Victoria MP A. deB. McPhillip's, Labor Council's A. W. Toone and other dignitaries representing civic and other groups took their places.

CHANGE LIVES

The lieutenant-governor arrived promptly at 11, the servicemen presented arms, the band played six bars of God Save the Queen and the simple ceremony began that signalled the start of a campaign that will affect and perhaps change the lives of hundreds, maybe thousands, of luckless Victorians.

Out came the scissors and up went the balloon, up 150 feet. Tied to it literally is a mammoth red feather. Tied to it figuratively are a myriad hopes that a lot of people dealt an unfair hand by life will be able to raise their heads during the next 12 months and live in happiness—free of the stigma of need.

Symphony Wins Applause In Rising to Challenge

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON

All-orchestral program with which the Victoria Symphony Orchestra launched its 18th season Sunday afternoon was well chosen to give the ensemble scope for showing off its most appealing attributes.

Pleasure of the fair-size audience at the Royal Theatre — where the program will be repeated tonight — was enthusiastically expressed. Such delectable music as Weber's "Oberon" Overture and the "New World" Symphony of Dvorak while welcome to the audience is peculiarly fraught with danger for the orchestra.

SHARP CHALLENGE

The slightest "fluff" or fall below standard in a work like the "New World," known in intimate detail via a dozen distinguished interpretations on records, provides, at least outwardly, a sharper challenge than a new suite by Prokofiev or a piece by Samuel Barber.

Let me say at once then, that the Victoria Symphony inspired by the interpretive insight of Hans Gruber was equal to the challenge and gave us a reading that evoked the folk quality, seeming to draw attention to the composer's imaginative delight and skill in manipulating his new-found material.

Technically this first concert of the winter season revealed no slip below the good level of competence achieved at the height of last season.

It makes one long to find out what could be done on a basis of daily rehearsals.

But what it lacks in the sheer, breathless dazzle of technical perfection heard from some orchestras, the Victoria Symphony makes up in a way that gives lasting pleasure.

SACRED DUTY

This is an interpretive orchestra. With Gruber on the podium it provides lovely effects achieved through sensitive handling of color and an earnest dedication to the principal that the truth and meaning of the music is a sacred duty and of first importance.

As a result, such music as Debussy's atmospheric tone poem, "Afternoon of a Faun" is given a lucid performance full of mood and delicate light and ephemeral shadow.

Another of the orchestra's strong points is its playing of Mozart and Haydn. The current program includes Mozart's 33rd Symphony in B Flat.

Helene saved her hardest blows for Southport, tucked inside the elbow of Cape Fear, and for Wilmington, 30 miles to the north on the inland river. She never came inland, but stayed about 35 miles offshore, lashing the coast.

Capt. C. R. Williams of the state highway patrol estimated total damage in Southport at between $500,000 and $750,000. Wilmington, the state's biggest coastal city, suffered an estimated $1,000,000 damage, said the highway patrol. Most of this was to residences and businesses. Seven thousand telephones were reported out of service.

Two Killed as Car Plunges Out of Control Into River

(From CP Dispatches)

PRINCE RUPERT — A car plunged into the Skeena River Saturday carrying a man and woman to their deaths. A third occupant escaped.

Only one of the bodies was still in the wreckage, that of the woman apparently having floated away. She was identified as Vivian Lucy Watts, 22, of Kincolith, B.C.

Police identified the man as John Berry, 26, a longshoreman.

Prince Rupert garage mechanic Howard Nicoll crawled from the vehicle as it sank beneath the surface. He was pulled to shore by Joseph Kraupner, 19-year-old bank clerk, who dived in when he saw Nicoll in the water.

Kraupner and three companions, driving here from Terrace for a junior chamber of commerce installation, watched horrified as the car went out of control as it came toward them and slid over the bank.

The story of the growth of Canada's First King Size Cigarette

From the beginning, Rothmans new concept of King Size smoking pleasure appealed to Canadians. In just four short months, it was first in sales in Toronto.

Then, early in 1958, other Canadian tobacco manufacturers followed Rothmans King Size idea by introducing 11 new brands of longer-than-ordinary cigarettes.

Canadian smokers sampled these new brands (as evidenced by the downward curve in the above graph) in the spring of this year. Equally evident in the graph is the fact that Canadian smokers returned to Rothmans King Size after trying the newcomers.

The unprecedented demand for Rothmans King Size then proceeded apace. In April, Rothmans became first in sales in Ontario, and across Canada, first in sales in August.

The month of August marked the passing of yet another Rothmans milestone—the sales of one billion (1,000,000,000) cigarettes since October, last year.

Did Canada Submit To U.S. on China?

Smith Says 'No'

OTTAWA (CP) — External Affairs Minister Smith today denied that Canada had been prepared to announce in the United Nations this was the last year it would vote against admission of Communist China into the UN until the United States had protested.

Mr. Smith, in a telephone call from UN headquarters in New York, said Canada had had no communication whatever with the United States in the matter. He was commenting on a Washington dispatch in the New York Times.

Mr. Smith said that on Sunday, September 21, he took before the cabinet a memorandum on Canada's attitude toward admission of Communist China to the UN. The cabinet had approved it. He had taken it to New York the following day, September 22, and had spoken in the UN that afternoon, giving Canada's reasons for voting against Red China's admission.

Mr. Smith said the United States did not know in advance what was in his speech or how Canada was going to vote on the issue.

NO ACTION TAKEN

Nixon Scores 'Sabotage'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The state department declined to say today what action if any it would take against an official accused by Vice-President Richard M. Nixon of trying to "sabotage" the administration's Far East policy.

Nixon said Saturday he was "shocked" that an unnamed state department "subordinate" had told The New York Times the mail to the department overwhelmingly was opposed to the administration's decision to defend the islands of Quemoy and Matsu off Formosa.

The vice-president said the official had made a "patent and deliberate effort" to "undercut the secretary of state and sabotage his policy." He left the impression that he thought someone in the department who opposed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' policy had deliberately leaked the information to newsmen.

SUICIDE FOILED AFTER 26 HOURS AFLOAT

He Sought Death But Wave Won Life

TAIPEI (UPI) — A Chinese newspaperman who floated 26 hours in a life-jacket after a Nationalist landing barge sank off Quemoy said today he tried to strangle himself in the sea because he feared no rescue would come.

Reporter Yen Chung-Chi, 33, described his brush with death from his bed in the naval hospital in Kaohsiung, southern Formosa.

He said that at dawn Saturday, 20 hours after he leaped into the Formosa Straits from the sinking barge, he took off his belt and tried to strangle himself.

But a wave knocked the belt from his hands.

Yen was one of eight Asian newsmen aboard the ammunition barge bound for besieged Quemoy when it sank two miles offshore.

Six of them are still missing. They include Nobuyuki Yasuda of The Yomiuri Shimbun of Tokyo and Choi Byung Woo, managing editor of The Korea Times in Seoul.

WHAT MAKES A CIGARETTE FIRST IN SALES ?

Only public demand can make a cigarette first in sales.

And public demand changes with the times. Today, probably more than ever in man's history, you find new fashions, new designs, new appeals that capture the public's fancy.

Everywhere you look—in food and drugs, in automobiles and electronics, in furniture and furnishings, the leader in new fashions wins customer approval. The horse and buggy will no longer suffice when tastes are tuned to the modern automobile.

And so it is with cigarettes. One year ago, Rothmans of Pall Mall Canada Limited introduced Canada's first King Size Filter.

It was the beginning of a new era. For this new concept in smoking pleasure—this new idea, this new fashion—intrigued, captured and held the public's attention.

Overnight, Canadian smokers realized that Rothmans offered them more than just a smoke. In Rothmans King Size they found the best tobacco money can buy, the pure, clean taste that spells real smoking enjoyment. And Rothmans finer filter draws easy and smooth, lets all the natural flavour through.

With sales of over one billion (1,000,000,000) cigarettes to date, Rothmans is proud and grateful—proud of the fact that they are first in sales across Canada—grateful to Canadian smokers who have made this possible.

King Size is a trade name first used in the world by the Rothmans group to denote extra quality plus extra length—look for the name Rothmans on every package—the one cigarette that really satisfies.

Now It's Our Turn

WITH A PUBLIC CEREMONY today the 1938 Community Chest campaign was officially opened. For many months preparations have been going on in the background, for many weeks preliminary approaches to business firms, special donors and others have been made. Now the campaign is thrown open to the people of Greater Victoria.

In the next few weeks we will be called upon in our places of business or in our homes to contribute as much as we can to twenty charitable agencies of this community.

The United Appeal method of charitable collections has been instituted in 80 Canadian cities and several hundred centres in the United States. It is designed to lessen the burden on contributors by cutting down the number of appeals made each year.

Through the local Community Chest, twenty organizations which would have gone to the public in one way or another for funds to carry on their work have combined in one request. That request will be brought to the people of this community by some 3,000 canvassers. Back of these voluntary helpers are dozens of committee members and organizers who have been working almost from the day the last campaign closed to prepare for this one.

The United Appeal also means that collections can be made more economically. Duplication of effort is avoided. The net result is a saving in collection and administration costs which means more of each dollar goes directly to aid charitable causes.

But the United Appeal carries other benefits as well. Because of the co-operation of member agencies which present their budgets for review by a Community Chest committee, there is a better opportunity to keep overlapping of services to a minimum, and the added advantage that the work of each agency is reviewed annually for its value to the community and for the efficiency of its financial policies.

Contributors, workers and beneficiaries—in short, the whole community—gain from the United Appeal.

This year the goal has been set at $300,000. This is larger than ever before. The community also is larger than ever before—its needs are larger but its ability to fill those needs is increased.

It is not good for Greater Victoria that its charitable agencies should have to limp and struggle, retrench and scrape by each year. It is not right that social workers here should be faced continually with jobs they know should be done but which lack of funds prevents them from doing. When the canvasser calls on you this time, do not dismiss the appeal with a mere handful of small change, welcome though even that would be. A two-dollar donation means only ten cents for each agency to cover a year's operation.

Dig a little deeper. Let us FEEL ourselves giving, and we shall also feel the benefits of giving.

The Forgotten Man

THE FORGOTTEN MEN IN THE Formosa crisis—the Formosans themselves—have been brought into the picture through a proposal by Mr. Lester Pearson that the islanders decide their own destiny.

This is a revolutionary idea. It seems not to have occurred to the great powers that the residents of Formosa might have some interest in what happens to their home, and might even appreciate a voice in what becomes of them.

To date the islanders have been pawns in the game of power. The Japanese were ousted at the end of the last war only to have the Nationalist Chinese take over when they were driven from the mainland. The Chinese arrival was not in the nature of an invasion by force, but it has had the same effect. By sheer weight of numbers and by military necessity, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's military organization assumed control of the territory.

A popular vote among the Formosans would be a very interesting thing. It is not likely, however, that one will take place. Too much importance resides in Formosa—as a military outpost for the United States, as a prestige acquisition by the Chinese Communists of the mainland—for its fate to be decided merely by the people who for generations have lived and worked there.

If the eventual destiny of the island is to be a neutral territory under United Nations jurisdiction, a new era will dawn for the Formosans. Instead of having one dominant country for their supervisor they will have more than eighty bosses. But there will be safety in numbers, and the Formosans might even find themselves effectively in control of their own affairs. That would seem to be the best solution of all.

Against All Odds

THE TOLL OF DISASTER ON the Atlantic coast of the United States and in central Japan is not yet known in its tragic entirety, but it will be of major proportions. Unconfirmed reports already put the dead and missing in Japan at two thousand as a result of one of the worst typhoons on record. The 100-mile winds of a hurricane have lashed the eastern states of this continent with heavy property damage.

While mankind has been justly concerned about the threat of man-made devices to global safety, nature still demonstrates on occasion that her powerful forces can operate with awesome effect.

A minute shift of the earth's crust, a build-up of air pressures that unleash high winds, a storm that drives tides over coastal defences to flood large areas—these are the casual weapons of nature that dwarf man's puny efforts. With one blow we are put in our places, reminded that our infinitesimal lives are still at the mercy of blind natural forces which take no note of our boasts or protests.

Perhaps such reminders are not out of place occasionally, tragic though they may be for the direct victims. If we are of a mind to learn, we could see the lesson they teach: that mankind is still a negligible factor in the cosmos and should, if it is wise, lay aside its internal squabbles and unite to face the major problem of the human race—the unending struggle to preserve existence in our inescapable environment.

ON THE ROUNDS WITH A WELFARE WORKER

A Look Below the Surface of Our Town Might Shock You Out of Your Complacency

VICTORIA is a lovely city, beautifully located, inhabited by fine, happy people, moderately prosperous, everybody comfortable and contented. At least that's the way it may look, on the surface. But did you ever take the lid off and have a peek inside? Did you ever look under the outward appearance and catch a glimpse of the tangled turmoil of lives carried on in the little houses on the back streets, just out of sight of the routes you drive along and just out of sight of the life you lead? I lifted that lid a little last week when I spent half a day going the rounds with a social worker. I recommend it as a shock treatment for complacency.

Susan—to give her a new name—lies on a dirty mattress propped up beside a window. By rolling her eyes in one direction she can look out on the debris of a cluttered yard, by slanting them to the corner of the room she can see a TV screen—the bright spot in her life. She cannot move her body. Her pretty mouth smiles readily, her large blue eyes gaze at you with the wonderment of a little baby. She was lying there the day before I visited her; she is lying there today; she has been lying there for sixteen years.

Mrs. L., a case worker for the Family and Children's Service, talks cheerily to the silent girl, discusses cleaner and mattress-covers with the mother, and takes her leave. Medical examination, provided earlier by the Service, has shown that nothing can be done. This is a continuing case, one of many on the list.

In a house in the suburbs a different problem awaits. A woman, seeking a divorce, has decided to place her baby for adoption. But consent of her husband had to be obtained.

After weeks of effort through the usual channels of police and various welfare agencies, the Service located the husband in Alberta. But he replied that the child was not his, and while agreeable to adoption he feared that his signature on the forms might involve him in legal obligations.

The mother admitted that her husband's allegation was correct. Now the Service must devise some method to straighten out the problem and ensure that the child finds a permanent home where it will have a better chance in life.

The next visit was a routine call to see a young wife whose husband has left her for another woman, but maintains her at subsistence level in a small room with her two children. She was not at home.

Around and Around It Goes—

Wives of Great Men

From Regina Leader Post

LADY Cynthia Asquith, leader of London society for many years, recently published her memoirs. In it she came to the conclusion, after studying carefully hundreds of biographies and historical records, that great men do not make good husbands.

The greater the intellect, she concludes, the smaller the regard for the women who share their lives.

Indeed the lives of many great men of the past would appear to bear her theory out. Novelist Leo Tolstol for instance had the reputation of being the unbearable genius type husband at its worst. Sofia, wife of Russia's best known writer, bore him 13 children and was eternally pursued by her tyrannical husband's cry "Write faster, my dove, faster" as she copied out his great works in her own tired handwriting.

"War and Peace" was written and rewritten by this over-worked, long suffering spouse seven times while her husband shouted at his attractive and delicate wife "Write faster, posterity is waiting for my words."

Another One

Henry VIII is another one of the past greats whom Lady Asquith claims would never qualify for any sort of perfect husband award. Few would quarrel with her on this score, yet at 35 he was still known as "Good King Hal," popular among his people and a truly regal figure.

The succeeding years were not kind to him nor he to them. He turned into a brutal tyrant who had his best friends and loyal wives equally executed at will and indulged in all imaginable vices.

Lord Nelson, great admiral though he was, ruined the happiness of two women, that of Lady Nelson, his wife, and Lady Hamilton. History has recorded countless instances where great men held faithfulness and integrity in low regard and tossed the happiness of their families and wives overboard as just so much excess baggage.

But a look at the private lives of the great men of today makes one wonder if times have changed. Or perhaps modern day equality of the sexes has something to do with it.

Whatever the reason it does seem that most famous husbands of the day lead exemplary lives and enjoy happy marriages. Dwight D. Eisenhower and his wife Mamie are a case in point.

Tranquil Home

When French president, M. Coty, lost his wife, the whole of France knew that a very happy marriage had come to an end. General Charles de Gaulle, France's man of the hour, is known to enjoy a behind-the-scenes domesticity that is tranquil and ideal in every sense.

General MacArthur has often said that all through the tumultuous years of his Second World War career he would have been lost without the moral support of his wife Jane.

More recently on the occasion of the golden wedding anniversary of England's grand old statesman, Winston Churchill was cited as "one of the most marvellous husbands alive." The assessment came from one who should know best, his own wife.

Even the volatile Orson Welles, temperamental genius of film and stage career, earns nothing but praise from his wife who said recently "It is a wonderful thing to be married to a genius. He is different every day and yet he is always the same man. I would not like to be married to an average man."

Perhaps modern and emancipated wives of today understand their husbands better and are more adaptable than the wives of geniuses of other days. Modern romances among the famous of today seem to prove this theory.

In the Back Yard

Winnipeg Free Press

THE president of the Parks and Recreation Association of Canada has come out in favor of backyards. Every home—at least every home with children—should have one, he says. Public parks and playgrounds should be necessary only for children who have no backyard to play in.

At the opening of his association's annual convention in Regina the other day, Mr. Dulude went on to suggest that a backyard should have sand, water, simple slides and swings, perhaps even a barbecue pit, "so the yard can become a neighborhood centre."

Ay, there's the rub, as anyone who owns a yard equipped with even one of these amenities knows too well. For it is one of life's little mysteries that while there may be a dozen backyards in your block, all well equipped for the small fry to disport themselves in, it is always yours that turns into the neighborhood centre.

At any hour of the day or evening—but more particularly when you are trying to get a little peace and quiet—the sandbox is full of children pouring sand down each other's necks; the swing is covered with would-be Tarzans; and in the paddling pool someone is going down (noisily) for the third time.

The real mystery, of course, is that every one of the dozen owners of the equipped backyards is in exactly the same boat. Ask any one of them. He will tell you that every other yard in the block is always quiet as the grave. His is as full of little people as Dagwood's bathroom.

It is indeed a mystery. But there it is.

FROM TAIPEI, FORMOSA

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Deferred Decision

THUS far, the Taipei visit of the American Commander-in-Chief in the Pacific, Adm. Felt, and the Pacific Air Commander, Gen. Kuter, has produced no major result except bewildered disappointment among the Chinese leaders here. The disappointment is emphatically not directed at the admiral and the general. They listened sympathetically to the Chinese warning that they would have to use their air power against the Communist artillery emplacements, if other means were not found to break the artillery blockade of Quemoy.

Alsop

They heard and transmitted to Washington a new Chinese proposal that the American government warn Peiping of its intention to use American forces for the whole task of resupplying Quemoy. The idea of this scheme is to create a "touch-me-not" situation. Thus the American forces are to be justified in returning the fire, if the Communist artillery blockade is not abandoned.

Then Adm. Felt and Gen. Kuter studied and approved ways to improve the limited blockade-running that now supplies Quemoy. Improvements can be made, and time can be gained by better blockade-running.

But it was admitted, by Americans and Chinese alike, that the Quemoy position could not be indefinitely held by mere blockade-running.

In short, this meeting outwardly resembled the old high level inter-allied conferences of the Second World War. But it altogether failed to take the decisions in the grand style that used to result from those conferences of the past.

No such decisions could be made here, in fact, for the excellent but somewhat curious reason that Adm. Felt and Gen. Kuter did not have the needed authority from Washington.

Question of Degree

According to reliable report, the directive of our Pacific commanders consists of nothing more than general instructions to carry out the purposes of the President's speech on the offshore islands crisis.

In that speech, the President declared that he would use American forces to repel any "major assault" on Quemoy or the Matus. But "apparently" Washington has not yet decided whether a third of a million artillery shells dropped on Quemoy constitute a major assault.

The quotation is from a highly placed American who has to wrestle with the realities of the crisis in the Taiwan Strait. He was a little embittered, perhaps, because the American response to the challenge in the strait seemed to him anomalous and hesitant, except in the big words that have been so freely used. This is also, the reason, of course, for the prevailing Chinese disappointment.

Maybe a firm American decision will be revealed shortly. Meanwhile, the cause of the present indecision about the crisis in the strait seems worth examining. From this angle of vision, the case appears to be a kind of temporary dissonance among the men who made up the President's mind to stand firm on the offshore islands.

The leader of this policy-making group, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, has always resembled a high stake poker player who never expects to have his hand called.

Evidently he did not really expect to have his hand called when he urged the commitment to defend the islands. The imposition of the artillery blockade and the Communist refusal of a cease-fire at Warsaw have called the Dulles hand, however.

Perhaps he will finally get a cease-fire by agreeing to further talks at the secretary of state-foreign minister level—by sitting down with Chou En lai at the point of the guns around Quemoy, in fact. In any case, the record plainly suggests that the secretary of state has been seriously disconcerted by the turn events have taken.

Disconcerted

The Joint Chiefs of Staff, who were Dulles' allies in urging a firm stand, have equally plainly been severely disconcerted for quite another reason. They just have foreseen that the Dulles hand might be called.

But they cannot have foreseen the sudden cancellation of the Presidential directives authorizing the use of nuclear weapons in almost any kind of fighting involving American forces. All our defence planning has been based on these directives aimed to achieve alleged defence economies on the "bigger bang for a buck" theory. But this planning has now been upset.

While determined that the offshore islands had to be defended, Secretary Dulles has also been determined that the utmost effort must be made to defend the island with conventional weapons alone, even if American forces have to be engaged.

He has won the argument thus far, and this is the clue to the mysterious story of Adm. Felt's critical message to Washington. The admiral did not attack the commitment made by the President concerning the islands. But he vigorously attacked an attempt to honor the commitment without using nuclear weapons.

With all the chief policy-makers severely disconcerted for different reasons, it is not surprising that the American posture has recently seemed hesitant and anomalous.

Nuclear Weapons Issue

Washington was ready to deal with a straight naval blockade of the islands, and the Communist naval blockade was successfully broken by conveying as soon as it had been imposed. But Washington was unready, and apparently still is unready to deal with the equally effective and dangerous artillery blockade, which raises the problem of the use of nuclear weapons in a fairly acute form.

Soon or late, however, the Eisenhower administration will have to grasp one horn of the dilemma or the other, unless a Communist cease-fire can be obtained in the interval.

One horn is the application of American power to break the blockade decisively and without regard to risk. The other horn is surrender despite the President's solemn commitment, followed by the destruction of just about every Western position and the loss of just about every Western friend throughout the Far East.

Reds Blamed for Attacks on IWA

VANCOUVER (CP)—District IWA president Joe Morris issued a statement Sunday aimed at stemming what he termed "incorrupt and malicious statements" about the 1958 wage settlement between the International Woodworkers of America and Coast lumber operators.

Morris suggested in the lengthy statement that the Labor-Progressive (Communist) party is behind the rumors.

The LPP-Communist plot to destroy the IWA in 1948 was attempted by IWA members who attacked the union's policy from within the union, as the tools of outside interests," he said.

"We must never allow this to happen again."

His statement was a defence of the district policy committee's acceptance of the Sloan formula calling for no wage increases during 1958.

"Membership opinion was made known to the committee at the district delegates conference called for the purpose of assessing the union's position. This conference approved the actions of the negotiating and policy committee unanimously.

"Those who now attack the terms of settlement were not heard to express opposing views at that time," he said.

WHY VOTE FAILED

Although the union vote members had voted 82 per cent in favor of strike action, within a few days the government-supervised strike vote reduced this majority to 65 per cent.

"Out of every seven operations... three voted against strike action.

"There were reasons for the membership opinion opposed to strike action. Serious unemployment prevailed over large sections of the union. Major strikes in other industries had failed because of a well-organized employers' campaign of attack.

He said it was also "made clear" that if the IWA struck the government would intervene.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Industrials Hit Peak at Toronto

A new two-year high was established by industrials on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Led by steels and banks, the advance pushed the industrial index 2.21 points to 490.44, surpassing the 1957 high of 490.42, and any mark since mid-September 1956. Trading was otherwise light.

Steel Company of Canada and Algoma each moved up 1/2. International Nickel boosted both industrials and base metals with a 1 point gain at 82 1/2.

In base metals Hudson Bay Mining added 1/2 at 53 and Campbell Chibougamau advanced 45 cents at $6.60.

Bailey-Selburne led western oils, ahead 30 cents at $9. Calgary and Edmonton, up 1/4 at 29 1/2, and Pembina, up 1/4 at 8 1/2, were other winners.

Other index changes: Golds off 0.8 to 82.80; base metals up .49 to 166.73; western oils up .84 to 136.1.

AT NEW YORK tobacco and drugs made good gains as the stock market continued to advance in active trading late this afternoon.

Steels, aircrafts, non-ferrous metals, rails and airlines were among the gainers.

McIntyre Porcupine, up 1 1/2, led gainers among Canadian stocks while International Nickel was up 1. Hudson Bay Mining 1/2, Walker Gooderham 1/4 and Aluminum Ltd. 1/4. Canadian Pacific, Distillers Seagrams and Dome Mines each lost 1/4.

Among Canadian stocks on the American Exchange, Brazilian Traction was up 1/4, Fargo Oil 3/16 and Sapphire Petroleum 1/16, while Molybdenite, Richwell and Scurry-Rainbow oil each lost 1/16.

AT MONTREAL prices were irregularly higher in active trading early this afternoon. Changes were confined to a fractional range.

Up 1/2 in the papers were Great Lakes at 35 and Price Bros. at 42. Down 1/2 were Fraser at 20 and Macmillan "B" at 34. Anglo-Newfoundland gained 1/4 at 35 and Minnesota and Ontario advanced 1/4 at 43 1/2, while Shawinigan advanced 1/4 at 30 1/2.

Asbestos gained a point at 33 in the base metals. Hudson Bay was up 1/2 at 53.

Industrial volume was 52,700 shares, mines and oils 311,000.

AT LONDON the stock market was quiet with some irregular price movements today. Gilt-edged securities were slightly easier but gains predominated among industrials. Newspaper and newsprint shares advanced.

Oil and gold shares were easier.

AT VANCOUVER a dull market showed little change in prices during the forenoon. Futures moved 3,000 at 87. Prosper sold 2,000 at 29. New Hamill traded 2,600 at 37. Alberta Distillers (VT) moved 3,000 at $1.80.

Agreement Set On Lebanon Withdrawal

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters)

—United States and Lebanon have reached "complete agreement" on the subject of the withdrawal of American troops. Withdrawal of the remaining 9,000 of the 14,200 troops was discussed by American ambassador Robert McClintock and the new Lebanese premier, Rashid Karami.

A spokesman said: "The ambassador and Admiral James Holloway, commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in Lebanon, have found themselves in complete agreement on the subject with the president (Gen. Fuad Chehab) and prime minister."

McClintock also conferred with Admiral Holloway and Foreign Minister Philip Teila, as it was announced that 2,700 U.S. Army engineers left Friday by air for West Germany.

TODAY'S GRAIN

WINNIPEG (CP) — Flax prices showed a firm tone in moderately active trade today.

Buying was prompted by heavy rains expected to delay harvest in Western Canada. Fairly good support was attributed to export accounts indicating that some overseas business might develop.

Oats and barley trade showed shipping demand for barley and there were indications of a small disposal to the United Kingdom. Oats trade was mostly domestic with prices in both grains firm and moving in a narrow range.

The rye trade was quiet and mostly local with prices fairly steady but with some periods of irregularity.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom, 300,000 bushels; Germany, 85,000; Belgium, 40,000; Venezuela a small lot.

TRADE CONFERENCE ROUNDUP

Closed Ranks to Fight Reds' Major Development

By VICTOR MACKIE

Times Ottawa Correspondent

MONTREAL—A competition between Canada and the United Kingdom developed during the two-week conference here that saw each country striving to appear to make the most concessions towards freer trade, but at the same time not giving away too much.

Despite the competition, or perhaps because of it, the Commonwealth emerged from the discussion trade and economic affairs, bound more closely together than when the delegates first took their chairs around the table.

Oil Companies Announce Merger

VANCOUVER (CP) — Basco Oil and Gas Co. and Kroy Oil and Gas Co. Ltd. have announced an amalgamation plan for the two companies.

Holders of Kroy shares are being asked to exchange them for an equal number of Basco shares. Basco will issue one Basco share for each Kroy share, and secretary Charles Killip.

Basco is a Vancouver company. Kroy has producing oil properties in Alberta, Oklahoma and Louisiana, and gas reserves in Alberta.

Government Bonds Firmer in Advance

MONTREAL (CP)—Government of Canada bonds were firmer in active trading today on the Montreal bond market. Short-terms advanced 5 to 10 cents.

Provincial bonds were quiet with good demand for the new Ontario Hydro issues.

DIVIDENDS

Craig Bldg. 5 cents payable Oct. 10; record Sept. 30; ex Sept. 28.

International Holdings, 40 cents payable Oct. 31; record Oct. 10; ex Oct. 8.

Ingram and Bell, 10 pld. 15 cents payable Oct. 30; record Oct. 15; ex Oct. 12.

Commonwealth International Corp., 6 pld. payable Oct. 15; record Sept. 30; ex Sept. 28.

Two other forces worked to push the Commonwealth countries more closely together. They were the United States and the Communist bloc.

The U.S. action in restricting imports on lead and zinc brought angry protests from Commonwealth countries directly hit and sympathetic response from other Commonwealth nations.

The collapse of the world price of tin, due to manipulations by the Russians, came during the conference and served to impress on the delegates the need to stand together against the economic offensive being waged by the Sino-Russian bloc.

In the final communique apprehension was expressed about the Communist activities in the world trade picture. It was agreed some understanding must be reached with the Sino-Soviet area to stabilize commodity prices.

The fact that the Commonwealth countries, including the members from the Far East, had closed ranks to present a strong front to the Communist nations was regarded here as one of the most significant developments out of the conference.

A hardening of opinion against the Communist bloc was apparent on all sides, arising out of the disruption of world trade patterns.

But as the talks progressed, it was the "give and take" between the British and Canadians that captured the headlines. Official spokesmen stressed, however, that there was "no bargaining."

This was not a conference for "bargaining," just for some hard "negotiating," briefing officers told the press, more than once.

Mineral Turnout At Varied Pace

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian production of minerals and allied products moved at a varied pace during the first six months of this year; the bureau of statistics reported today.

It gave these figures during the January-June period, with last year's figures in brackets:

General Motors Strike Deadline Put Off 2 Days

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union has postponed a Tuesday strike deadline against General Motors until Thursday and ordered 45,000 prematurely made idle at GM plants by wildcat work stoppages back to their jobs.

UAW president Walter Reuther's surprise move came shortly after GM and UAW negotiators began an unusual Sunday bargaining session.

Reuther notified General Motors the union would recess its striving for a new contract to cover the company's 250,000 UAW members until Tuesday so that it could devote full attention to getting GM plans back to normal.

The UAW chief said he would join new contract talks at Chrysler today, but would switch back to GM Tuesday. Bargaining continued Sunday at Chrysler, where Reuther said "there are fewer problems than at GM."

Court Gives Okay To Deal In UDL Shares

VANCOUVER (CP) — An interim injunction which prevented an individual and two companies from dealing with some 78,000 shares in United Distillers of Canada Limited was dismissed in B.C. Supreme Court because the plaintiff failed to disclose some pertinent information to the court.

Frank Reid of West Vancouver had been granted the injunction June 6, restraining Hyman Harvey Klein of California from dealing with the shares he owned in the distillery, and restraining Montreal Trust Company from transferring the shares or United Distillers from ratifying the transaction.

Tories Tested In By-Election

OTTAWA (CP)—The government's record since the last general election was tested at the polls for the first time today in the Quebec constituency of Montmagny-L'Islet and in Ontario's Grenville-Dundas riding.

The Ontario seat has been Conservative since it was created in 1924 and the Quebec seat Liberal since its formation in 1933. Both were straight Conservative-Liberal battles.

The by-elections come six months after Prime Minister Diefenbaker led his party to the largest Commons majority in Canadian history March 31, taking 208 seats including 50 of the 75 in traditionally Liberal Quebec.

Hearing Set On SIU Decertification

Wednesday has been set as the day for a hearing by the Canada Labor Relations Board of an application for decertification made by a majority of the unlicensed personnel on the Imperial Oil ships Nanaimo and Namu.

The certified bargaining agent for the men is the Seafarers' International Union. Fewer than 15 men are involved.

The application for decertification was made to the board representatives in Vancouver by a lawyer of that city engaged by the men.

The men were reported "fed up" with the SIU for its "union-like activities."

5,000 Adults Back To School This Week

More than 5,000 Greater Victoria adults go back to school this week as Greater Victoria school board and Victoria College night classes go into full swing.

All Monday evening classes among the 185 courses offered by the school board open tonight. The remaining courses will open each night this week.

More than 2,600 persons have pre-registered for these courses and another 2,000 are expected to register during this week's five opening nights.

At Victoria College, opening night for 18 credit courses will be Tuesday. Some 146 students have pre-registered for these courses. Another 30 registrations are expected.

More than 250 persons have registered for various general courses offered by the college's evening division. Some of these classes already have begun. All will be in session by next week.

'End Discrimination'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Provincial Social Credit convention Oct. 31-Nov. 1 will hear a demand that racial and religious discrimination be outlawed in the B.C. Social Credit League. Notice of motion was made Friday by Tom Irwin and adopted at the annual meeting of Vancouver-Point Grey S.C. Association.

At last year's provincial convention, there was a furore over an anti-Jewish statement by a Peace River delegate.

'More Airports' Plea Made At Aviation Council Parley

The B.C. Aviation Council wound up a two-day convention in Victoria Saturday by appealing to the federal air authorities for more airports in Canada.

They approved a resolution by Dr. A. B. Nash of Victoria complaining of the danger to flyers from power lines and deploring the fact that the federal government had done "nothing about it."

Another resolution criticized the lack of facilities in British Columbia for giving weather reports to aircraft.

OVERCROWDING

The council agreed to press for establishment of more secondary and light plane airports and adopted a resolution calling for formation of a permanent committee to study the problem. Many of the 150 delegates spoke of the serious overcrowding of airport and landing strip facilities in Canada.

J. A. Meagher of the Imperial Oil Co., Vancouver, was elected president of the council and Capt. B. J. Gadsden of Victoria was among 20 directors elected.

YOUNG BIKE RIDER HIT BY GUNSHOT FROM CAR

A Victoria woman called city police Sunday complaining someone had shot at her boy in Beacon Hill Park.

Edward Lumby, 13, of 39 Ontario, said he was riding his bike near the wading pool when he heard what sounded like a shot from an air gun behind him, and was struck on the arm.

He said he thought a shot was fired from a passing car from which occupants shouted to him to "get off the road."

The boy was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by his mother Mrs. Grace Lumby for a checkup.

Two teen-aged Sidney police suffering from knife wounds outside a downtown dance hall early Sunday.

Frank Allen, 16, R.R.1 Sidney, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with companion Archie Jones, Patricia Bay Reservation, with arm cuts.

Police said they were told the two men had been involved in a fight with another youth, about 17, who had left the scene.

When police arrived the two injured men were in Jones' car on Government between Fisgard and Cormorant.

Firemen Curb $1,000 Blaze In Oak Bay

Oak Bay firemen battled an early Sunday blaze in the living room at 2178 Bartlett which did about $1,000 damage.

Call was received at 7 a.m. from the rented home, owned by Russell Cooney. The department had the fire out within an hour.

The department shortly before 10 a.m. attended a roof fire at a bakery, 1175 Newport, caused by a chimney spark. The fire was controlled within a half hour. There was no estimate of damage.

Victoria firemen Saturday night extinguished a blaze in an unoccupied apartment at 2550 Vancouver before flames had a chance to spread through the three-storey building.

Other tenants didn't know the apartment was on fire. A neighbor who saw the flames, Fred Christensen, 2553 Vancouver, turned in the alarm.

A chesterfield was aflame and a wall charred.

It appeared someone had been working in the apartment preparing it for occupancy before the fire broke out, a fireman said.

Chest Aid Plea From Archbishop

An appeal for generous support of the Victoria Community Chest campaign was voiced by Archbishop Harold Sexton preaching in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday morning — the opening day of the campaign. He said the drive to raise $300,000 for 20 deserving agencies "involves the physical and mental welfare of a great number of underprivileged men, women and children."

"Many need our help — particularly the aged and the blind and the unfortunate—and I commend this appeal to the generous support of the public."

The archbishop referred to Justin V. Harbord, chairman of the campaign, as "a highly esteemed citizen and a member of this congregation."

'God Pity the World' If U.S., U.K. Split

If there is ever any estrangement between the British nations and the United States it will be a case of "God pity the world," Sir Evelyn Wrench, CMG, LLD, founder of the English Speaking Union and the Overseas League, said here Saturday night.

Sir Evelyn was addressing a joint meeting of both organizations held at Holyrood House. He founded the Overseas League in 1910 and the English Speaking Union in 1918.

"If friendship between the English-speaking peoples was important in 1918, it is infinitely more important today when even much greater issues are at stake."

"The greatest thing about the First World War in 1918 was that we were fighting side by side with the United States. If there had been any estrangement between us then it would have meant disaster."

MORE UNDERSTANDING

"Happily, there is a much more genuine understanding between these two groups of nations today than ever before. Go to any university in the United States and you will find people who understand most of the things we stand for in the British Commonwealth."

Sir Evelyn recited a creed he had written for the English-speaking peoples:

I believe in our glorious union of English-speaking peoples
In the sacredness of our mission;
In the unselfishness of our aim;
In the ultimate triumph of our cause.

I believe in our great past
And in our great future;
In the emptiness of riches
And the dignity of labor.

I believe in right thinking and pure living
And in the inspirational power of women.

I believe in our two modern states' rebirth;
In a new vision and a new world.

I believe in the need for humbleness;
In the vision of the mountain-tops.
I believe in God's guidance in

Book Given To Teacher

A copy of Bruce Hutchison's book "The Unknown Country" was presented Saturday to Miss Nancy Hardie of Edinburgh who was in Victoria on a two-months' tour of Canada under auspices of English Speaking Union.

The book was presented to her by Mrs. H. L. Smith, acting chairman of the English Speaking Union in Victoria, at a joint banquet given by the Union and the Overseas League at Holyrood House.

Miss Hardie is on leave from her post as assistant teacher of homecrafts at Nidrie Marischal secondary school, Edinburgh. She was chosen for the tour because of her work with boys' and girls' clubs which are organized in all parts of Scotland. "She will return to Scotland as an interpreter of this country to our country," said Sir Evelyn Wrench, CMG, founder of the English Speaking Union and the Overseas League.

the days ahead. I believe.

SPEAKING TOUR

A life-long campaigner for better relations between Britain and the U.S., Sir Evelyn will be 76 on Oct. 29. From his home at Marlow, Buckinghamshire, England, he is now on a speaking tour of Canada and the U.S. He was editor of the British right-wing weekly The Spectator from 1925 to 1932 and is still chairman of the board. His books include "Uphill," "Struggle," "I Loved Germany" and "The Immortal Years."

He said he founded the Overseas League as an association of citizens of the British Commonwealth and the English Speaking Union as an association of citizens of the Commonwealth and the United States.

He was introduced to his Victoria audience by Canon C. W. Downer, president of the Overseas League, and Mrs. H. L. Smith, acting chairman of the English Speaking Union.

He was thanked by Senator Mrs. Nancy Hodges and Colin Rutherford.

Casey Stengel's Half-Century In Baseball

By FRANK GRAHAM JR.

Casey Stengel was traded to the Boston Braves after the 1925 World Series, married his wife the following season, later managed Worcester, Toledo and Brooklyn and spent six hapless years as boss man of the ill-fated Sox, even investing $45,000 of his own money in the dismal Boston Club.

While managing Worcester in 1925 Casey Stengel made a friendship that was to play an important role in his later life. George Weiss, the man who hired him to manage the Yankees in the fall of 1948, was the general manager of the New Haven team in the Eastern League. Though they were rival executives, they often whiled away evenings talking baseball. The general admiration in which Weiss is held today surely rests partly on the durability he displayed on those evenings long ago with Stengel.

"I guess," Weiss has said in a nostalgic moment, "I have stayed up later and talked longer — or, rather, listened longer — with Casey than with anybody else in baseball. You know how he is and how he can use up the hours of a night and still be going strong when it's daylight. If you weren't a baseball man, why, you'd think the guy was crazy. But if you were, when you finally got to bed — and the chances are he'd still be sitting on the other bed and still talking — it wouldn't take you long to find out you were really learning things."

Weiss has never forgotten those nights. The Pacific Coast League had long been a haven for fading ballplayers and those who read of Stengel's appointment to Oakland must have conceived the idea that this was also the legendary land where aged managers crept off to die.

Among Casey's admirers at Oakland was Del Webb, a wealthy contractor who, with Dan Topping, owned the New York Yankees. Webb often visited Oakland on business and was an interested spectator at the Oaks' home games.

Having won Oakland's first pennant since 1921, Stengel was a hero in the city. The team's owners, Brick Laws and Joe Blumenfeld, staged a "Casey Stengel night" for him at the ball park and presented him with a new Cadillac. The gods were smiling on Stengel again and baseball men who had watched him at Oakland were changing their minds about him; perhaps he was something more than a clown after all.

He was to get an urgent phone call from New York a few days later which would mark the turning point of his life.

Summons to Yankees Came Suddenly
The summons had come suddenly while Stengel was leading his Oakland Oaks to victory in the post-season playoffs. The Yankees had been managed during 1947 and 1948 by Bucky Harris, a colorless but extremely likeable man with a sound baseball reputation. In his first season with the Yankees Bucky won the pennant and the World Series and was acclaimed a hero in New York. Then Dan Topping and Del Webb bought out Larry MacPhail late in 1947 and George Weiss was made general manager.

Ambitious and immensely industrious, Weiss wanted a pennant badly in his first year of command. He was disappointed when the 1948 team, although in the race until the final weekend of the season, finished third. In a move that shocked New York, Weiss fired Harris.

On Sunday, October 10, Weiss called Stengel from Cleveland, where the Yankee general manager was attending the World Series between the Cleveland Indians and the Boston Braves.

"Casey," he said, "we want you to fly to New York and meet us there tomorrow night. If you'd like to manage the Yankees, the job's yours."

Casey, accompanied by Brick Laws, flew to New York the next morning. He was promptly stowed out of sight in a room at the Waldorf-Astoria; the grand unveiling was not to take place until the following day. That night he was visited by Topping and Weiss, and he signed a two-year contract for $35,000 a year. He had become the 15th manager of the New York Yankees.

Most baseball clubs hold press conferences in their own headquarters. The Yankees, befitting their eminence, staged the introduction of Stengel to the press in one of New York's most sumptuous and exclusive restaurants.

The date was Tuesday, October 12, 1948, 25 years to the day since a defiant old New York Giant outfielder named Casey Stengel had hit a home run to beat the Yankees in the World Series, 1-0.

CLEM WINS STAKES
Round Table Again Misses Big Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—Clem triumphed by half a length after a neck-and-neck contest with Nadir and Round Table down the backstretch Saturday in the $111,200 Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park.

The victory dashed Round Table's hopes of becoming the world's top money-winning horse.

Round Table, needing $25,141 to catch Nashua, who retired with $1,288,565, wasn't even in the money, finishing a dismal fifth 16½ lengths behind the winner. Nadir was second, Reneged third, and Brother fourth.

For Willie Shoemaker, Clem's jockey, it was another banner afternoon, and marked the sixth consecutive Saturday he had won a major race. The little Texan used to ride Round Table, but has been aboard Clem in his last two winning races.

CONSISTENT MOUNT
Clem is named after Clem McCarthy, radio racing announcer, and is owned by Mrs. Adele L. Rand of Santa Fe, New Mexico. Two weeks ago he defeated Round Table in the United Nations Handicap at Atlantic City. On Labor Day, he whipped the Table in the Washington Park Handicap at Chicago.

Clem's time was 2:01, one second off the disputed 1913 track record of Whisk Broom II. Electric timing devices are used now, but in Whisk Broom's day the clocking was done by stopwatch.

Clem's victory shot his total earnings to $513,727.

Colts Clobber Haughty Lions

NEW YORK (CP)—The proud Detroit Lions, defending champions of the National Football League, went down to an ignominious defeat and the ragamuffin New York Giants sailed to an easy victory Sunday as the NFL opened its 1958 season.

Chicago Bears produced a "new" coach, George Halas, who came back from a two-year retirement. The Bears crushed Green Bay Packers, 34-20.

The Lions, who started everybody by winning the title last year, dropped a 28-15 decision to Baltimore Colts. The Giants clubbed Chicago Cardinals 37-7 at Buffalo, N.Y.

THE HARD WAY
Cleveland Browns, perennial rulers of the Eastern Conference, won their opener the hard way. Lou Groza kicked a ninety-yard field goal in the last 25 seconds and the Browns edged Los Angeles Rams 30-27.

San Francisco 49ers shaded Pittsburgh Steelers, 23-20, and Washington Redskins whipped Philadelphia Eagles, 24-14.

The Colts took the lead at the start, then had to come from behind twice to beat the Lions. End Ray Berry caught 10 passes and scored twice. His second tally, a 14-yard pass from John Unitas, put the Colts ahead for good in the final quarter.

The Giants' victory was the shocker of the day. The New Yorkers couldn't do a thing right during the exhibition campaign and before the game with the Cards Coach Jim Howell sadly acknowledged:

"We're really a bad club, although in three or four weeks we may improve."

TROUBLESOME RAMS
The Browns had their troubles with the Rams. Los Angeles was ahead 17-7 at the half and 27-14 at three-quarters. The Browns finally tied it, setting the stage for Groza's kick. A fourth-quarter field goal also provided the winning margin for San Francisco over Pittsburgh. Gordie Soltau booted it.

Washington also found itself on the short end of things in the fourth quarter. The Eagles were ahead 14-10 but little Eddie Lebaron took care of that. He engineered two long marches for the two deciding scores.

Optimists Post Shutout
An alert Optimist squad, sparked by Jim Peters' two goals, blanked Eagles 6-0 at Windsor Park Sunday in a first division encounter in the Lower Island Junior and Juvenile Soccer Association.

In Saturday's action, the third division Eagles lost 2-1, to Colwood Pharmacy, while ANAF Vets edged Britannia Legion by a similar score in a fourth division match.

CRITICS READY TO FIND FAULT
England's Soccer Selectors Can't Win

LONDON (AP)—England's soccer selectors, bitterly criticized after their team's dismal showing in the World Cup, move into the firing line again today.

They're due to name the team for the first international of the season—against Northern Ireland in Belfast next Saturday.

And it's a sure bet that no matter which team is picked the critics will find plenty of faults. England failed to reach the quarter-finals of the World Cup in Stockholm in June. Northern

ODDS FAVOR YANKEES

Fred Defiant, But Cautious

By LEO H. PETERSEN

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Manager Fred Haney and his Milwaukee Braves today discounted the odds which have made the New York Yankees 13-10 favorites to win the world series opening here Wednesday.

"What the hell, we were on the short end last year, too, weren't we," snorted Haney, whose grammar at times is not in the living room lexicon. "But we wound up—on top, didn't we?"

"But I suppose you have to have odds, so let 'em have 'em. We're going to do the same as last year—play 'em one game at a time."

The defiant Haney said he would name his opening game pitcher after the Braves work out at County Stadium today.

while in New York Casey Stengel said his first-game pitcher would be named at noon New York time. The Yankees are flying to Milwaukee this afternoon.

The little manager of the National League pennant winners, who guards his words closely, wouldn't predict a repeat triumph for the Braves—they beat the Yankees in seven games in 1957.

But his players did so freely.

"We'll take them again," shortstop Johnny Logan predicted. "We weren't supposed to be in the same class with them last year—on paper. But every one found out what class we were in on the field."

Low Burdette, who came back to plague the Yankees when he won three games in last October's series, remarked that odds "don't bother us."

"What do you think the odds were that the Yankees ever thought I'd beat 'em three times in a World Series after they let me go when I was in their farm system," he asked. "I wasn't good enough for 'em—and those odds would have been mighty high."

"Forget about the odds for this series, we'll beat 'em again."

Neither Burdette nor Haney was concerned over the injury which Lew suffered on Friday night when he was struck on his pitching hand by a batted ball in the game against Cincinnati. X-rays showed no fracture or serious injury.

Haney, however, refused to say what game he planned to start Burdette in. Guessing was that he would lead off with his southpaw ace, Warren Spahn, a 22-game winner, in the first game and follow up with Burdette, who won 20 games this year for the first time in his nine-year major league career.

Burdette has a streak of 24½ scoreless innings going for him in series competition—only 5½ innings short of the series hurling record set by Babe Ruth. Ruth was a southpaw pitcher for the Boston Red Sox in the 1916 and 1918 series before he switched to the outfield and went on to become the greatest home run hitter the game has known.

Ted Waltzed; Rich Battled

Williams Easily Wins Sixth Crown; Ashburn Just Edges Willie Mays

By United Press International

Ted Williams in a walkover and Richie Ashburn in a fight to the finish—that's the story of Sunday's grand windups of two of the most exciting fights for batting championships in big league history.

SOPLY HEMUS NEW MANAGER OF CARDINALS

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Solly Hemus today was named the new manager of St. Louis Cardinals as the first step in the National Baseball League club's plans to revamp the team's front office.

The contract is for one year. He succeeds Fred Hutchinson, fired recently when it became obvious the club would not finish as high as had been expected.

The Cardinals, who wound up the 1958 season in a fifth-place tie with Chicago Cubs, also named Johnny Keane and Harry Walker as coaches.

Keane has been manager of the Cardinals' farm club at Omaha, Walker, who once served briefly as Cardinal manager, was manager of the Cardinals' Houston club in the Texas League during the 1958 season.

Hemus was with Philadelphia Phillies for the last two seasons.

Williams, the Boston Red Sox 40-year-old super-star who got off to one of the slowest starts of his career, wound up with his sixth American League title while Ashburn, the Philadelphia Phillies' spray-hitting center-fielder, walked off with his second National League crown.

Williams, turning back the clock 17 years to when he won his first title in 1941, went 2-for-4 to finish at .328 and beat out teammate Pete Runnels, who went 0-for-4 Sunday and 5-for-19 in his last four games to close at .322. Williams, trailing Runnels by four points when the four-game series with the Washington Senators started Friday, went 7-for-11 over the weekend recalling his magnificent last-day 7-for-9 that boosted him to .406 in 1941.

ALL-OUT TRY

Ashburn, who won his first N.L. title in 1955 with a .338 mark, had three singles in four tries as the Phillies beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-4, in 10 innings to finish at .350. San Francisco's Willie Mays, starting his game-at-about-the-time Ashburn's season was over, needed a 5-for-5 day to beat Richie.

The great San Francisco center-fielder gave it all he had with a 3-for-5 day but that was only good enough for .347. Had Willie gone 5-for-5 he would have finished at .350 and beaten Ashburn, whose average carried out to four places is actually "only" .3495. Because the fourth place is not needed to determine the champion, Ashburn's official average became .350.

Williams smashed his 26th homer of the year in the seventh inning to provide the Red Sox with their margin of victory in a 6-4 decision and also enable them to clinch third place. The loss extended the Senators' season-ending losing streak to 13 games.

Mays' homer, double and single enable him to score three runs and bat in one, leading the Giants to a 7-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

RISE IN ATTENDANCE

Attendance wise, it was a tremendous season for the National League and one of bitter disappointment for the American.

National League attendance, sparked by Los Angeles and San Francisco, soared to 10,164,254, second only to the league record set in 1947 and 2,344,653 over 1957. The Milwaukee Braves, despite a 24,303 drop, retained their "attendance championship" with a season total of 1,971,101. The league's overall attendance rise was 26.6 per cent.

The American League fell 10.9 per cent to 7,296,065—the lowest league figure since 1945. Even the New York Yankees, with the largest city in the world to themselves for the first time, fell off 68,706.

The Athletics and Senators were the only teams to show minor gains.

Because of the huge National League increase total attendance in the majors was 17,460,319 compared to 17,015,819 in 1957.

RICHELIE ASHBURN

'Extremely Lucky' Admits Bat King

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox, who draws $125,000 a year for swinging a bat as few men have ever done, won't say whether he'll be back next year for another try.

"I wish I knew," he said Sunday after capturing his sixth American League batting championship with a .328 average.

"I'm not going to worry about that now. I'm going fishing."

Williams left immediately for Maine, stopping just long enough in Boston to pick up equipment.

The 40-year-old Williams said he was "extremely lucky" to have won another crown, his second straight. But his blazing finish was in the tradition of confident heroes.

The .328 was the lowest championship average of Ted's career. He won in 1941 at .406, which hasn't been equalled since. In 1942 he was tops with .356, in 1947 with .343, in 1948 with .369 and in 1957 with .388.

HOCKEY NOTES

Egan Satisfied; Marcel Missing

Coach Pat Egan whipped early arrivals at the Victoria Cougar training camp through their first brief workout of the 1958-59 Western Hockey League season Sunday afternoon in Nelson and expressed satisfaction with the 17 players on hand.

Missing most evidently from the drill was goalie Marcel Pelletier, expected either Tuesday or Wednesday from his Milwaukee home, the site of the first two games of the baseball world series, Wednesday and Thursday.

Holdovers, centre Doug Anderson and winger Doug Macaulay showed best among the old guard while three youngsters from Boston — Al Nicholson, Don Blackburn and Jean Marc Picard — appeared to have a jump on the other hopefuls condition-wise.

Skip McKay is expected to arrive at the teams rinkside dormitory today for twicedaily, two-hour workouts along with former Lethbridge junior, tiny Art Stone.

Those already in camp include goalie Barry Zajak, defencemen Picard, Gordie Matheson, Doug Stewart and Frank Milne, and forwards Nicholson, Anderson, Macaulay, George Ford, Murray Wilkie, Enio Scisizzi, Blackburn, Jim Pilla, Carl Forster and Gord Garrant.

Cougars open their playing season Oct. 10 in Vancouver and meet Calgary Stampedeers Oct. 13. Thanksgiving Day, in their Memorial Arena debut.

Art Chapman, coach of the Vancouver Canucks, announced Sunday that the New York Rangers are sending his club the highly rated kid line of Ted Hampton, Mel Pearson and Dan Belisle.

Chapman said: "Every club in the country has been after these kids."

Rangers had sent the three 21-year-olds to Vancouver on the condition they be kept intact as a line. "They'll be our No. 1 line without a doubt."

Wally Chevrier, all-star defenceman with Guelph Juniors last season, was expected in camp today. Veteran defenceman Hugh Currie, who has been a holdout, will join the team in a day or two.

Coaching problems of the Saskatoon Quakers were solved in the weekend announcement that general manager Frank Boucher will be the coach with Jackie McLeod as his assistant. McLeod, with Vancouver Canucks of the WHL in the last two seasons, will report to the Saskatoon camp today. He will play right wing in addition to helping Boucher with the coaching.

ICE CHIPS

Hull-Ottawa Canadiens rang up a 4-3 exhibition victory over New York Rangers of the National Hockey League on the strength of two unassisted goals by Jack McMaster.

... Boston Bruins defeated 4-0 a composed team, largely of their farmhands in the Rhode Island Reds of the American League. Flem Mackell, Earl Chevrefils, Earl Reibel and Jerry Toppazzini scored for the Bruins.

... Maurice (Rocket) Richard, back in business with his scoring flair, whipped in three goals Saturday night to help Montreal Canadiens to a 7-4 win over Rochester; Americans in a spicy exhibition hockey game.

... Detroit Red Wings drove in five goals in the second period Sunday to roll to a 7-1 victory over Winnipeg Warriors in an exhibition game.

ROYALS AGREE TO RELEASE OLLIE DOROHOO

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Veteran forward Ollie Dorohoo will be granted his release from New Westminster Royals.

Coach Hal Laycoe said, "Dorohoo, 35, requested his outright release, and it will be granted. Waivers will be asked on him immediately."

Laycoe confirmed that Dorohoo worked out with Spokane Spokes for two days and was later sent in Pentiction. He worked out at the Royals training camp here for a short while.

25 Fans Hurt As Stands Fall
MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Twenty-five persons were injured Saturday night when wooden bleachers collapsed during a Louisiana State and Alabama College football game. One of the injured was in critical condition.

There were about 1,500 spectators in the bleachers at Ladd Memorial Stadium when they gave way. Fans were plunged into a mass of twisted timbers during the first half. The game was stopped amid screams of agony while police rushed to aid the injured.

Eight persons were taken to hospital, one with a severe back injury.

Millers One Away From Series Title

MONTREAL (CP)—A clutch relief job by right-hander Tom Hurd-Sunday preserved a 3-2 victory of Minneapolis Millers that gave the American Association champions a stranglehold 3-0 lead over Montreal Royals in the Little World Series.

Hurd replaced southpaw Bob Smith with the bases loaded and none out in the eighth inning. International League Royals scored twice on a fielder's choice and an error, but Hurd got the Millers out of difficulty and re-

Ladysmith Upsets Esquimalt; Tillicums Rally to the Kickers

Weekend results are in and city soccer followers today are inclined to feel that "it's going to be an interesting winter."

The surprises are certainly popping up early in Victoria and District Football League play. Sunday's toll included Ladysmith's 3-2 victory over the previously-unbeaten Esquimalt squad and, to a lesser degree, Kickers' 4-4 tie with Tillicums.

In other Sunday games, Brodies beat Gorge Hotel 5-2 and Butlers clipped winless Nanaimo 5-1. Heaney's, the only undefeated entry in the 10-team circuit, kept its loss column clean by playing to a 3-3 tie with Canadian Scottish on Saturday.

The upstart Ladysmith club, which entered the city circuit tired the side in order in the ninth.

The best of seven series shifts to Minneapolis tonight for the windup.

In the second game of the series Saturday night, southpaw Dean Stone turned in a neat pitching chore, belted a home run and drove in a run with a double to pace Minneapolis to a 7-2 win over Royals.

Stu Locklin also cracked a bases-empty homer for Minneapolis.

Are Oklahoma, Army Setting Grid Pattern?

NEW YORK (AP)—This could be the year United States college football abandons the traditional running game and begins a new era of wide open offense.

Already two of the top coaches—Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma and Red Blaik of Army—have started the swing. Both were successful in their opening games of 1958, so other coaches are certain to follow the pattern.

'Ol' Arch' Floored By Angry Employee?

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Light-heavyweight boxing champion Archie Moore is credited in a police report with a bus station knockdown.

But William Samuel Ross, 38, says he also floored the champion.

Ross told police Moore owed him back pay as an employee at the champion's training camp at nearby Ramona. The altercation occurred when they met at the bus depot Saturday.

Greenskeepers' Golf Event Set Tuesday

The annual Victoria Greenskeepers' golf tournament will be held Tuesday at the Cowichan Golf Club.

The draw and starting times:

11:05 a.m.—C. A. Smith, W. Barnes, W. Darnard.
11:30 a.m.—L. Barnes, J. Wood, R. Beggs.
11:55 a.m.—A. C. Smith, W. Armstrong, C. Caridge.
12:30 a.m.—D. Furnston, C. Barwick, P. Matheson.
1:25 a.m.—J. Waincott, A. Turner, M. Jacobson.

JBAA, Venture Start With Whitewash Jobs

Venture Cadets and James Bay Athletic Association went to work with the whitewash brush in their opening games of the Victoria Rugby Union Saturday.

Venture, sparked by centre Ken Brygadyr's fine running, blanked Royal Roads 19-0 while JBAA defeated Oak Bay Wanderers 3-0 on a second-half penalty kick by Gary Pynn.

OVERTIME FLURRY GIVES HALECOS SOCCER CROWN

VANCOUVER (CP)—Halecos Saturday defeated Carlings, 4-1, on three overtime goals to win the Pacific Coast Summer Soccer League championship and the McDonald Trophy.

Neal McEachnie broke a 1-1 beadlock at 17 minutes after the start of overtime to give Halecos a lead which they never lost.

Halecos opened the scoring eight minutes after kickoff when Art Hughes plunged down the left side, crossed to Jim Blundell who headed a perfect goal.

The equalizing goal, by Ian Wilson, came 18 minutes before the end of regulation time.

Carlings, outplayed until Wilson's goal, gained a new lease of life and could easily have won the match with more polish around the net.

Win Over Argos Rough on Riders

By United Press-International

"They hit us harder than any team in the league, even Hamilton."

That was Ottawa Rough Riders coach Frank Clair talking today about the Toronto Argonauts. The Riders, defeated the Argos, 28-4, Saturday to strengthen their hold on second place in the Eastern Football Conference.

But in so doing they:

—Lost import quarterback Tom Dimitroff for the balance of the season when the 23-year-old import suffered a broken left leg when he was tackled behind the line of scrimmage.

—Lost import tackle Milt Graham for possibly one game because of an injured hand.

—Had first-year import fullback Dave Thelen knocked unconscious and carried from the field on a stretcher when stopped by Argo tacklers on the Toronto three-yard line.

SEVEN STRAIGHT

The Grey Cup champions, Hamilton Tigercats, stretched their unbeaten streak to seven in the other Big Four game as veteran Eddie Macon ran a fourth-quarter kickoff back 95 yards to edge the Montreal Alouettes 35-29 in Hamilton.

The Als had overcome a 20-point lead to go ahead 29-28 when Macon ran the kickoff all the way. Montreal halfback Dick Hunter had run 74 yards to put the Als ahead. Then Macon took the kick, fumbled the ball, recovered, and broke loose for the major.

After the two teams had traded touchdowns in the opening minutes of first quarter, Hamilton moved ahead with three straight majors.

Montreal replied with three straight majors and a safety touch while Hamilton managed a single. Macon wrapped up the scoring and the game.

TWO FOR CAMPBELL

Homebrew halfback Ron Rowell took a 42-yard Bernie Faloney pass and ran 22 yards for one Ticat touchdown and took a 32-yard pass for his second TD of the afternoon. Reigning Olympic decathlon champion Milt Campbell, making his start in Canadian football, ran 73 and 17 yards for the other two Hamilton majors.

Besides Hunter, Montreal quarterback Sam Etchevery threw to halfback Joel Wells for a touchdown, scored another on a quarterback sneak and handed off to fullback Bo Dickson for the other.

In Ottawa it was a battle of Canadian quarterbacks with Russ Jackson taking over when Dimitroff was injured and

Esks Need Twin Victory To Move Into Top Berth

By The Canadian Press

First place in the Western Football Conference could change hands this week in a home-and-home series opening tonight.

To take the lead away from Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the second-place Edmonton Eskimos would have to defeat the Bombers in Winnipeg tonight and again in Edmonton Saturday night.

Bombers, idle Saturday night, have seven wins in nine starts and Edmonton has five wins, a tie and three losses. So Edmonton, with 11 points, is three points behind Winnipeg.

INTO VANCOUVER

In the other WIFU game tonight Saskatchewan Roughriders invade Vancouver and battle British Columbia Lions.

Saturday night, at Edmonton, Eskimos tied 11-11 with Roughriders and, at Calgary, Stampeders beat Lions 29-15.

At Edmonton, the Eskimos had a light margin on the play, but had to score a fourth-quarter converted touchdown to come from behind and gain the tie.

A crowd of 15,000 sat through a light drizzle in Clarke Stadium and saw Saskatchewan take advantage of two Edmonton fumbles and an intercepted forward pass for all their points.

WHITEHOUSE BUSY

Saskatchewan scorers were halfback Jack Hill with a touchdown and guard Reg Whitehouse with a convert, a single and a field goal.

Edmonton's points came from a touchdown by fullback Normie Kwong and a convert, a single and a field goal by end Joe Mobra.

NINE DEFEATS

At Calgary, the Stampeders took over third place before a crowd of 14,500 in Mewata Sta-

CAMPBELL RIVER SCORES . . . . . IN GRID DEBUT

Vampire Teams Gain Split

Vampires won on the score-moral victory went out to Oak Bay Police. The underdog Police team, at Carnarvon Park, but the with a lineup studded with juvenile players, gave up a touchdown in the last 10 minutes of play to fall, 19-12, to the heavier Vampires.

In other minor football activity Sunday, Campbell River made its debut as a winning one in the juvenile league by defeating Vampires, 10-2, at Campbell River.

MOODY SHINES
Jim Moody sparked the 'junior Vampires' with a three-touchdown performance. Bernie Johnson added a convert while Murray Halkett and Jack Heath scored Oak Bay's majors. Halkett's TD gallop covered 75 yards after he intercepted a Vampire pass on Oak Bay's 35. Wayne Farmer was a sparkling performer for Oak Bay, accounting for much of their yards gained, rushing with his sweeps around the ends.

At Campbell River, Ken Kajiwara's first-quarter major was good enough to sink the juvenile Vamps. Graham added Campbell River's other points on a single and a field goal, while Robin Barnes scored both points for Vampires with singles.

ALL-Ireland Champs

DUBLIN (AP)—Dublin won the all-Ireland Gaelic football championship Sunday by defeating Derry, 18 points to 12, in the final.

WORLD RELAY RECORD FOR BRITISH RUNNERS

LONDON (UPI)—An English team of Mike Blagrove, Peter Clark, Derek Ibbotson and Brian Hewson Saturday set a world record of 16 minutes, 30.6 seconds for the four-mile relay.

The time bettered the listed record of 16 minutes, 41 seconds, which the British team of Chris Chataway, G. W. Nankeville, D. C. Seaman and Roger Bannister set Aug. 1, 1953, on the same track at White City here.

The record was set in an international track meet between Britain and Finland.

All Bill Wanted Was Main Prize

Bill McCoubrey, you might say, is not selfish.

The city marksman was the big winner as the shooting season wound up at Heals Range Saturday with the completion of the Weiler-Regan Trophy competition. McCoubrey won the trophy despite the fact he failed to finish first in any of the three stages of the meet.

Bob Walker captured the opening stage two weeks ago, scoring 101x105. Last week McCoubrey and Frank Ball each scored 93x100 but the laurels went to Ball, a Navy marksman, as the result of a count-back.

SAME STORY

It was the same story Saturday when McCoubrey scored 90 out of a possible 100 to tie Ken Blagborn for top honors in the third stage. Once again, McCoubrey lost out in the count-back.

McCoubrey, however, finished with 279 in the aggregate to edge Walter Burch by five points. Tyro laurels went to Don Grant, with 269, while Peter Roche topped all cadets with 268.

Complete scores:

Bill McCoubrey 279; Walter Burch 274; Dave McCredy 274; Frank Drysdale 274; Ron McCredy 273; Chuck Hobson 269; Don Grant 269; George Orivel 268; Frank Ball 268; Harry Lum 268; Peter Roche 268; Mary Robinson 267; Ken Blagborn 267; Bob Walker 266; Eileen Learoyd 263; Peter Lunn 263; Major A. E. Evans 259; Oliver Nordby 254; Lloyd, Milburn 191.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A missing engineer may have walked out on an invention worth a fortune.

Elmer C. Meukel disappeared from his home here June 22, broken and discouraged by long, unrewarded effort to market an electronic device for preventing airplane collisions.

Now an engineering firm that Meukel wrote to before he left says the government is willing to put $5,000,000 into developing the device with 3 per cent, or $150,000, going to Meukel.

Library-Building City Man Celebrates 95th Birthday

A man who built three libraries is 95 today.

E. Lincoln ("because I was living in his day") Hill, 29 Gorge Road East, will celebrate his birthday with a party attended by his daughter, E. Marjorie Hill, who cares for him, and many friends in the city.

Mr. Hill is modest about his achievements but daughter Marjorie supplied the information that practically single-handedly he established three libraries, two in Edmonton and one in Calgary.

An honors graduate of the University of Toronto in a comprehensive arts course including geology and mineralogy, Mr. Hill went to Calgary in 1907. After a period as school inspector, he was invited to set up a library.

TWO MORE

A long uphill struggle with the Carnegie Foundation finally produced sufficient funds. After seeing the building erected and in operation he went to Edmonton and took on the task of building two more on the north and south sides of the city.

On the boards of both institutions, Mr. Hill retired to Victoria in 1936.

He found it difficult to retire completely and has been actively engaged in gardening, stamp collecting, and job printing.

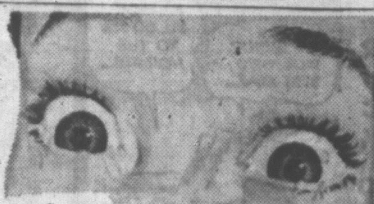

To do his job printing, mostly for friends, he has a small but efficient press at home and is much in demand for cards and letter heads.

His daughter Marjorie is well known in town for her hand weaving on four looms built by Mr. Hill. She was the first woman to graduate in architecture from the University of Toronto.

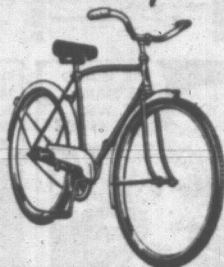

To what does he owe his long life?

Emily Carr's Best On View Tuesday

An exhibition of many of Emily Carr's greatest paintings will go on view at the Art Gallery Tuesday.

They have been chosen from the 150 works which Emily Carr bequeathed as a trust collection to the province and which since her death have been held at the Vancouver Art Gallery.

This collection had been restricted to Vancouver in the absence of a fireproof gallery in Victoria. The new centennial gallery has removed this restriction and as a result of its opening the trustees of the collection, Dr. Lawren Harris and Dr. Ira Dilworth, have agreed to make the whole of the collection available to Victoria on a constant loan basis.

The exhibition will consist of a large group of big canvases of forest and totem scenes as well as of the oil sketches which the artist made on the spot.

SECOND EXHIBITION

Formal opening of the exhibition will take place at the gallery Tuesday evening, when a reception will be held for gallery members and former friends of Emily Carr.

A second exhibition will open concurrently with the Emily Carrs and will consist of scenes of Mexico by Andres Salgo, a Hungarian artist who has been a resident of Mexico for the past 20 years. Senor Salgo, who has held more than 30 one-man exhibitions in the capitals of Europe and in the Western Hemisphere, is accompanying his exhibition on a tour of Canadian cities.

He has devoted his art to portraying the spirit and folklore of Mexican life. His tour is being sponsored by the Mexican ministry of cultural relations, the Free University of America, and the Mexican Folklore Institute.

Senor Salgo will lecture at the gallery on the evening of Oct. 2, talking on the subject of his paintings and of the general Mexican background from which they have been developed.

TOO MUCH TILT—City fathers in Pisa, Italy, have appealed to engineers all over the world to help to keep the famed Leaning Tower of Pisa from toppling. The tower, pictured above in a rare night photo made in 1954, tilted another 1.5 millimeters during the last 12 months. This is one and a half times the annual rate of lean. Since it was erected, the 784-year-old white marble bell tower has developed a lean of 4 meters, 55 centimeters and 6 millimeters (less than five yards) away from the perpendicular. The problem is a big blob of soft clay on which one side of the base rests. Massive injections of concrete earlier this century apparently did not help.

Thief Takes Valuable Art From Convent

BRUGES, Belgium (Reuters) — Belgian police placed Interpol on the alert Sunday after the theft from a convent here of part of a valuable 15th-century Flemish altar piece.

A man believed to have spoken English as well as Flemish asked Saturday to see the 12-by-18-inch panel which was painted by Peter Canemebrot between 1475 and 1480. It is one of eight in a famous altar piece known as The Legend of St. Ursula and valued at over 20,000,000 francs (about $390,000).

The man posed as a tourist and when he left a sister found the panel, called The Synagogue, had disappeared.

FATHER KILLS 2 IN APARTMENT

Baby Used as Shield

SEATTLE (AP) — An armed man held his baby daughter in front of him for protection after his estranged wife and a teenage babysitter were shot to death at a courtyard apartment house Sunday.

A man identified as Alfred James Brunetto, 23, finally surrendered without harming the child, Vickie Lee, 14 months. He then admitted both shootings, police said.

Mrs. Lorraine Brunetto, 19, was found with four bullet wounds in her body, including one through the heart. Brunetto told police he had shot three times.

Zeril McKrill, 16, had been shot three times.

The man finally was talked into surrendering by officers.

gone to his wife's apartment to seek a reconciliation.

Police said Brunetto held the baby in front of himself as a shield and waved the revolver while talking to police in the courtyard. Officers were afraid to take any action for fear of harming the child.

'Big-Tree' Hunter Aims To Improve Douglas Fir

By PETE LOUDON

Deep in a Vancouver Island forest a hunter pauses, draws a bead on a lofty treetop, and squeezes the trigger.

There is no flailing of wings or drawn-out rustle of a small body falling through the boughs. A tiny sprig of evergreen drifts slowly to earth.

The hunter picks it up. Bullseye—big-tree hunter Dr. Alan Orr-Ewing has shot another Douglas fir for his collection.

Dr. Orr-Ewing, MC, BScF, MF, PhD, is forest genetecist of the research division, B.C. Forest Service.

Potting fir tips is a serious business. So is another of Dr. Orr-Ewing's occupations in the forest—the tying of ploidfilm bags over choice new shoots on the tips of accessible branches.

SANTA'S GOODIES

Where he has passed, the trees take on a Christmassy look, the little bags glistening in the sun, like goodies left by Santa.

It's all part of a project aimed at improving the seed of Douglas fir, which in turn will ensure a continuing return of wealth from B.C. forests. Dr. Orr-Ewing's experiments can produce much faster growth and may improve the quality of the timber.

The merits of careful breeding are well-recognized by horsemen and cattle ranchers and growers of field crops. By mating strong, healthy parents, strong, healthy progeny result.

TOP GRADE

Eventually, Dr. Orr-Ewing hopes, the full reforestation program of the province will employ only seed from superior trees. Ontario, Sweden, Denmark and some of the southern United States, have made great strides along these lines.

It was from other researchers Dr. Orr-Ewing found the benefit to science of a steady eye with a telescopic-sighted rifle. The Douglas fir buds he needs grow atop trees often 100 to 150 feet tall, at the end of branches too slender for safe climbing.

GOOD SHOT

One of his major expenses is for 22 calibre mushroom bullets. But his friends in the department say he doesn't often miss.

He uses the tender fir tips for grafting purposes in experimental beds at the forest nursery at Duncan.

His work with the ploidfilm bags also is interesting. On each fir branch are both male and female buds. Pollination—the transference of pollen—is normally done by the wind, which carries it from tree to tree.

But the wind isn't selective. Sometimes a remote tree will in-breed, resulting in stunted growth. Sometimes a poor physical specimen will pollinate another tree and the progeny is spindly.

PRIME STANDS

For controlled pollination, Dr. Orr-Ewing selects trees in prime stands. He will enclose a female bud in a bag to keep off poor pollen. At the proper time, using a hypodermic needle, he blows a selected pollen on the young cone. The cones then seal themselves, the plastic bag comes off. Sometimes a paper bag then goes on to discourage insects and squirrels.

This warding-off of interruptions is a continuous battle. Besides those hazards mentioned, deer, children, cone collectors and Christmas tree hunters often spoil months of work for Dr. Orr-Ewing.

Hunters have been known to use his bags for targets. He intends to try an electric fence to discourage browsing deer.

ONE-MAN SHOW

Dr. Orr-Ewing is almost a one-man department administering to some of the world's largest forests.

"But we are making a start," he says.

He has a helper at the Duncan nursery to help collect the fir cones, dry them, remove the seed, then store them until spring sowing.

More staff in his department would ensure a continuity of the program. If for any reason he left the job now, his past work would be lost to the province.

He began this work in 1952, but has been with the forest service since 1948, when he came here from Scotland, where he learned forestry at Edinburgh University. He is a prolific author on forestry subjects.

The ability of such a scholarly man with a rifle is easier understood when it is explained, the MC after his name stands for Military Cross. He won it at Dunkirk.

TO CONTROL POLLINATION and ensure mating of best trees, Dr. Orr-Ewing's experiments are shielded from the wind. Above, a hypodermic needle blows selected pollen on female bud, protected by plastic. Below, a paper bag protects against insect infestation. Vandalism often disturbs this work. Bags make targets for thoughtless marksmen.

UP WITH YOUR NEEDLES BUD, says forestry marksman, Dr. Alan Orr-Ewing. Fir buds needed for scientific tree-mating grow on top branches, which won't support a climber. So doctor shoots them off.

Missing Man's Body Found By Hunter

ALBERNI (CP)—The body of an elderly man, missing since Christmas, was found by a hunter Sunday in the woods several miles from the Sproat Lake home from which he disappeared.

Fred Bristow, in his 70s, disappeared just before Christmas and search parties combed the woods and lakeshore all through the holiday season.

The body was found Sunday by Lloyd Tilley as he was hunting about a mile from Stirling Arm Road.

Mr. Bristow, a widower, had lived on Faber Road, Sproat Lake, where a daughter, Mrs. C. Kitchen, and a son, Alec Bristow, make their homes.

About 80 rooming house operators, members of the Victoria Ratepayers' Association, were urged by their executive Thursday to register their premises at city hall before the Sept. 30 deadline.

It was explained that having held a licence for a number of years did not take away from the necessity of registering under new regulations.

Arthur M. Pickles, 40, son of former Central Saanich Reeve Sydney Pickles and Mrs. Pickles, was project engineer for propulsion development of the Bomarc guided missile which will be used in Canada's defence.

He has been with the Aerojet-General Corporation of California for 15 years.

With the Bomarc now in production, he has moved to new secret work.

He attended school here at St. Michael's, Shawnigan Lake private schools and Oak Bay High, and won his engineering degree at California Institute of Technology. He lives in Monrovia, Cal., with his wife and three children.

"Retire to Life," a film which portrays the problems and adjustments of retirement, was shown by Glen Hamilton, executive director of Silver Threads, Service, to a group of visitors recently.

The film followed the regular business session of the Silver Threads volunteer visiting corps, with Mrs. E. Bevan presiding.

'We Must Work With New Sense of Urgency for Unity' Says Archbishop

Preaching in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday morning, Archbishop Harold Sexton called for:

1. Unity between the Anglican Church and the non-episcopal churches (including the United Church of Canada).
2. A healing of the breach between the Anglican Church and the Church of Rome.

"We must pray and work with a new sense of urgency for unity with the non-episcopal churches, for harmony of spirit and agreement in doctrine with the Eastern Orthodox Church, and other ancient churches.

"And, if God wills, we must aim at the healing of the breach between ourselves and the Church of Rome. Some of you may think that is not desirable, but in any scheme of Christian unity the Church of Rome cannot be left out.

"How that is going to be accomplished God only knows, but we will pray about it and we will work to that end."

The archbishop said he had returned from the Lambeth Conference in London with the firm conviction that the Anglican Church is "the chief unifying factor in Christendom, aiming at unity rather than uniformity."

"Here is a ministry of reconciliation for a divided world, and a disunited Christendom, and it is widely held that the spiritual gifts which Our Lord has given to our part of His church are ours in trust for the whole body of Christ."

Raising his arms in a gesture of prophecy, the archbishop declared:

"There is developing a great united church, catholic and evangelical, but no longer in the limiting sense of the word Anglican.

"In time the Anglican church is going to be swallowed and evangelical—and that will be our contribution to the unity of Christendom.

"Insistence on what is known as the Lambeth Quadrilateral is helping us to play our part in the creation of this great world church, which will be the alternative to Rome."

The archbishop said the Lambeth Quadrilateral insists on four things:

1. The Holy Scriptures. 2. The historic creeds. 3. The two great sacraments. 4. The three-fold ministry of bishops, priests and deacons.

Anglicans, he said, can never surrender the historic episcopates which will eventually bring about the whole unity of the Christian body.

"We can never do that and we won't," he declared. "We up by a greater and more world-embracing church—catholic must hold fast to these things, never wavering, knowing that our great church has its own life which it must sustain, and its own distinctive witness which it must give.

"So let us faithfully preserve our priceless heritage and take our full share in our church's vital work for the world's salvation, till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

Archbishop Sexton recalled that just over 10 years ago, four dioceses of the Anglican Church in India left the Anglican Communion to enter into the new United Church of South India. "It is anticipated that the church will be fully episcopal within a comparatively short time," he said.

"In the near future it is expected that 15 dioceses in the Church of India, Burma and Ceylon will take their place in the new churches of Lanka, North India and Pakistan, though remaining in full communion with the rest of the Anglican Church.

"The basis of these schemes is a fully unified ministry from the very beginning."

Archbishop Sexton was speaking on the 29th anniversary of the consecration of Christ Church Cathedral by his predecessor, Bishop Schofield.

"Today," he said, "we realize the greatness of our inheritance, and that inheritance involves responsibility, not the least being the task of completing this noble church."

"And that is true of the great and world-wide Christian society of which we in this catholic church and diocese are a part. The progress which God has enabled us to make here has been matched elsewhere."

MONTE ROBERTS

Many admirers of English as she is spoke have lamented the decline and fall of the adverb.

The adverb, as you know, is in a losing battle with the adjective.

This is especially noticeable at this season of the year, when the sports pages are pitted with: "He tagged that one real good," and "He sure ran fast down to first."

But it is not only on the sports pages the adverb is being thrust aside by the sturdier adjective. Advertisements urge you to "drive safe with Twoton Tires," and tell you about the cigaret that "tastes good."

It is no wonder admirers of English view with alarm the decline and fall of the adverb, and think back to the good old days when "quickly" and "safely" and all the other adverbial "lys" found favor throughout the land.

So far, none of the admirers of English has come forward with a plan to restore the adverb to its former glory.

I now rectify that omission. In fact, I go one step farther, and attempt to give the adverb a glory it never had.

This is based on the age-old saying, if you can't lick 'em, join 'em.

I propose adverbs should join adjectives, and thus attain a long, happy, and useful life.

As a simple sample, take the adjective "simple."

Add "y" and you have the adverb "simply."

But I'd like to go a little further. I'd like to adverbize "simpler" and "simplest," which would then become "simplerly" and "simplestly."

I believe this will soon restore the adverb to its full power.

Excuse me. I'm ahead of myself.

Take another example. "Better." How much pleasantly it sounds as "betterly." In fact, it rings on the ears even more pleasingly as "more betterly," or "most best-estly."

Pretty soon we would have novels written in which a mysterious dark shape loomed up blackerly and ever more blackerly against the leadenly sky, as the heroine cringed against the broadly chesty of the handsomely hero.

I am convinced the English language will owe me an undying debt of gratitude for this most valuably contributively.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City police were told Saturday a thief broke into the office of Davis & Hewitt, 1119 Vancouver, and took two cheques, one for $7.96, after ransacking desk drawers of the auto electric shop.

Former Victoria architect Ian B. Simpson has been appointed to the architectural staff of the Building Construction Branch, Ottawa.

Born in London, England, Mr. Simpson came to B.C. in 1953 and was employed with the provincial government and Wade & Stockhill before becoming a partner in the firm of Birley & Simpson.

A successful candidate in Civil Service Commission competition he has already assumed his duties with the department.

Henry Bruce, president of the Victoria branch, National Unemployment Insurance Commission Association, will attend the fifth triennial convention of the group in Windsor, Ont., Oct. 1 to 4.

He will take with him publicity material concerning Victoria to distribute to the 400 delegates.

The federal public works department has awarded a $25,778 contract to Pacific Pile Driving Co. Ltd. of Victoria for improving the harbor at Ladner, B.C., it was announced today.

Work will include building of a wharf and floats.

City Parks Administrator, W. H. Warren today requested permission to cut down an area of bush near the city nursery in Beacon Hill Park.

City parks committee tabled the request so that it could view the site. The area covers about 30 by 100 feet and includes several dogwood trees. It runs parallel to Cook, about 125 feet inside the park.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Donald Souter, Comox, $25 for not having a driver's licence; $35 for careless driving and $75 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident.

R. K. Parkinson, HMCS Jonquiere, $25 for not having a driver's licence and $15 for not having his car registered.

R. E. Lambert, Work Point Barracks, $20 for exceeding 30 mph.

Beverly Bugg, 238 Richmond, $10 for improper lighting of the rear licence plate, and $10 for failing to show her driving licence where it could be easily seen.

Howard Gehrke, 2217 Belmont, $25 for not possessing a driver's licence.

In Colwood RCMP court today:

E. Settle, $75 and $6.50 costs for careless driving.

A meeting of the Victoria Amateur Movie Club will be held tonight at 7.45 in the Art Gallery. A showing of members' films will be held.

Deadline for registration on the city voters' list is 5.30 p.m. Tuesday.

City Clerk Frank Hunter said today all registrations by resident and tenant electors must be in his office by the deadline if they want a ballot in the Dec. 11 elections.

Property owners are registered automatically.

Mrs. Joyce Dunsheath, well-known British mountain climber, will give an illustrated address on Moscow and the Caucasus at a meeting of the Alpine Club of Canada, Victoria section, tonight at 8 at the Pacific Club.

It will be open to the public. Mrs. Dunsheath reached the top of Mt. Elbrus, 18,481 feet, in the Russian Caucasus, with two Russian climbers, and in 1956 led an expedition of British women to the Himalayas.

Warren Raps Plan to Sell Athletic Park

Opposition to sale of Royal Athletic Park as a shopping centre site was mounted on two fronts today.

Parks administrator W. H. Warren, backed by city parks committee, lambasted the suggestion.

Douglas Fletcher, president of the Sports Council of Greater Victoria, sent City Hall a letter registering "a very strong protest" against any sale of the park.

He said it would be a heavy setback for Little League baseball in which more than 1,400 Greater Victoria boys participate.

Mr. Fletcher requested council permission to appear with a brief in opposition to the proposed sale.

An unidentified firm has offered to buy the park, Milton King, of King Realty, announced last week. Council has not been approached formally for the purchase.

In view of the offer, "I should like to express the view that no land now held for park purposes should be given up," Mr. Warren told parks committee.

FALLS SHORT

Victoria has little more than two acres of playing fields and playgrounds available per 1,000 population, he said. This falls far short of the six acres per 1,000 persons developed as a rule of thumb in more densely populated Great Britain.

Instead of selling Royal Athletic Park, the city should plan to expand it by acquiring remaining private property in the block, he said.

Mr. Warren ruled out development of Topaz Park as a replacement for Royal Athletic Park.

He said it was not suitable for an enclosed field, was windier than Royal Athletic Park which probably would make it colder in winter and did not have as much parking facilities available.

He also pointed out that a reported $150,000 purchase price was not enough to fence and install a grandstand and bleachers at Topaz Park.

Ald. M. H. Mooney, parks committee chairman, and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson supported Mr. Warren's opposition and recommended that any concrete offer to purchase the park be referred to the parks committee for study.

TUESDAY MEETINGS

Kiwianis: 12.10 p.m., Empress Hotel. Film on power development in B.C. "Mountains of the West."

North Kiwanis: 6.15 p.m., Monterey Restaurant, Saanichton Fair trophy winners will be guests.

Victoria British-Israel Association: 8 p.m., Newstead Hall, 734 Fort. Program change. Mrs. O. A. Brake speaks on "Can Working with Evil Produce Good."

FUR COATS TAKEN FROM OAK BAY HOME

Police said the home of Dr. a chest of silverware valued at about $1,400 were stolen from an Oak Bay home Sunday afternoon while occupants were away.

Police said the home of Dr. E. H. W. Elkington, 572 Island, was entered shortly before 4.40 p.m.

Two of the coats—an ermine and muskrat—had a total value of $1,000, police said.

Thieves overlooked a firearms collection value at $2,000, which was stored in an attic.

Wife-Beater Guilty Again

Walter Mothersole, twice convicted previously of assaulting his wife, Carol, 1560 Oakland, was found guilty in city police court today on another charge of assault occasioning her actual bodily harm, and was remanded for sentence to Oct. 1.

Mrs. Mothersole told court early in the morning of Sept. 16 her husband had pushed open the door of her residence, said "I'm going to kill you," punched her in the face and choked her, then dragged her out of the house and threw her on the floor in the back of his car.

She testified she blacked out several times.

Medical evidence was that she suffered a black eye, swollen jaw and cheek, a cut on the top of the head and superficial scratches to her neck, as well as other bruises.

Three stitches were required to close the head wound.

Evidence was that she made her escape from the car at Quadra and Cloverdale when the car had stopped.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

Another Symphony Season

In less delicate phases of show business, Mr. Hans Gruber's opening symphony concert Sunday would be referred to as a "warm-up."

The talented young maestro softened up his auditors for a brisk season with the mellow strings of Weber; moved on through the petroleum and moonlight confessions of Debussy; and finished up with that grand crasher of Anton Dvorak's, the "New World" symphony, which embraces cowboy lyrics, an Appalachian jig, and even a line from "Three Blind Mice."

This last piece had a little boy from one of our better private schools so excited that he leaped to his feet, took off his cap, and seemed bent on shying it at the nearest contrabassoon.

Each year our orchestra seems a little more polished and professional. Just how good it is, by international standards, remains a matter for conjecture.

The eminent music critic, Irving Kolodin, jolted a few West Coast souls this summer when he flew out from New York to hear the Vancouver Symphony (at the International Festival) and subsequently wrote that it was not much dam' good at all.

As for Canada: An expert musicologist remarked to me a few weeks ago that this country had one top-flight symphony, in Toronto. Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver, he opined, were professional, at the second level, Halifax, Hamilton, Ottawa and Calgary were semi-professional. Victoria occupied a sort of "No-man's land" in between the two; we could move to the top rank, given enough financial support. As it was, we were lucky to sustain our players, on a paid basis, in a town where there was no opportunity for CBC performances via television or radio.

Only two things irked me, and very mildly, yesterday. First were the program notes of my friend Graham Steed. In his comment on the "New World" symphony, Mr. Steed argued that the visits of Dvorak and Tschalkovsky to the U.S.A. had done nothing for American musicians because they "were not ready, either intellectually, spiritually or even nationally." If that is true, then we must assume that the eminent composers were either very bad teachers, or the Americans were dundeadheads, or very possibly, both. I doubt it.

Mr. Steed went on to write: "Percy Scholes... points out that American Indian and Negro idioms have basically little appeal to American composers of European extraction..."

Like George Gershwin? Or is it possible that "Porgy and Bess" is too Non-U for our boy Graham?

Secondly, a good many parched patrons of the Symphony moved at the intermission—on this fine, hot Sunday afternoon—in the direction of an orange juice machine in the lobby, only to be told that it is "contrary to the Lord's Day Act to sell orange juice on a Sunday."

How long must we put up with such utter fatuous nonsense?

AT YARROWS SHIPYARD

Missing Funds Probe Started

Esquimalt police and company officials began an investigation today into a report that a considerable sum of money is missing from the employees' benevolent fund at Yarrows shipyard.

One source said $5,000 was involved.

A company spokesman, who requested anonymity, told The Times a chartered accountant had been asked to examine the fund's books after a "complaint" was made that money was missing.

He declined further details. Andy Dickie, president of the committee which administers the fund, said he was "not saying anything until I have met with my committee."

Esquimalt police were similarly guarded. The accountant will present his report to the fund committee by noon Wednesday.

The plan, submitted by parks administrator W. H. Warren, will be considered in detail at later meetings.

Mr. Warren recommended that permission of the Public Utilities Commission be sought to:

1. Remove all crushed rock or gravel from plots covered by the materials;
2. Empower the caretaker to regrade any plot and remove headstones from any plot in disrepair where there has been no burial for at least 25 years;
3. Replace headstones with flat surface markers, where possible;
4. Concentrate the proposed program in Block G—one of the older general areas in the centre of the cemetery.

Mr. Warren suggested that $5,000 be spent annually for a gradual improvement of the cemetery through this program. He also said the program should be publicly advertised before any action was taken.

The report was made as part of the committee's continuing study of ways to improve the appearance of the cemetery.

Ald. M. H. Mooney pointed out that survivors who had neglected to maintain a plot for more than 25 years had broken the contract with the city under which the plot was obtained for family use.

Gun Fired Inches From Head

The bullet that killed Albert Kerr at his North Pender Island home was fired from a gun at most three inches from his head, an RCMP firearms expert said today.

He was the second of three crown witnesses to give evidence on the fourth day of a preliminary hearing on a murder charge against the dead man's wife, Mrs. Alice Louella Kerr.

The hearing was expected to conclude this afternoon with completion of the crown's evidence in the case.

Mrs. Kerr, 54, is charged with the death of her 56-year-old electrician husband on Aug. 10 at their home at Hope Bay, North Pender Island.

Cpl. Hugh George Van Dusen, of the RCMP crime laboratory in Regina, said he determined from tests made, following a post mortem on Kerr's body, that the gun barrel would have been in direct contact with the skin or up to three inches distant.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Did Emanuel Swedenborg, who wrote "Heaven and Hell" (1758), consider himself a spiritualist or a prophet?—A.M.

A.—Swedenborg (1688-1772) believed that he was called upon to reveal a new Christian doctrine, which would make him a prophet more than a spiritualist. It was only the last 25 years of his life of the noted Swedish scientist that were devoted to biblical studies and theological writings. He had no idea of founding a new sect and remained a Lutheran until his death.

Dust and Dirt on Auto
Knocks Off Much Value!

By PENNY SAVER

Shame, shame and more shame! How can you car owners drive a car that looks as if it's been through a dust storm? Why, it brings down the value of a car when all it can show for itself is a sticky mass of dirt!

Wash your auto... and whether it be old or new vintage, this package of speedy washing powder will bring new high-lights to it! Little packs of the cleaner are priced at 10 cents each.

Could it be that the gruesome, horrible sounds coming out of your record player have nothing to do with the machine? Stop now! Take a look at the record you're playing. Is it completely devoid of dust and fluff? There, you see... it is the record, not the player!

There's an excellent wee brush on the market just now to attach securely to the arm of your player. Turn the switch and place the brush on the record. It's bound to reach into every nook and cranny... and the disc will seem like new again. Brush is priced at 60 cents.

Add life to the lunchbox! Make up kiddies' and hubby's sandwiches with tasty Danish sausage. This spicy delectable meat is good for cocktail tidbits or tea party dainties... so buy a pound right away!

It's selling at 79 cents a pound... and a little goes a long, long way.

Reading 'riting and 'rithmetic... and there we have the three r's! Little cotton smocks with exactly this written on the pockets and bodices are selling at one shop I know for $2.98 each. They're in bright blue or red in sizes four up.

Melt in your mouth centennial toffees are packed now in tin boxes to insure a freshness. So, if you're starting to plan your Christmas parcels to the folks overseas, think of this centennial treat priced at $1 a box.

DEAR ABBY...

He's Outnumbered!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We will leave it up to you. Should a MOTHER or a FATHER tell a 14-year-old boy the facts of life? My husband is a quiet man who finds it hard to put those kind of thoughts into words, and he says I should tell him. I say it is the FATHER's place to tell his son. What is your opinion?

DEAR MOM: The boy should be told by his father, but he'd better hurry. Telling a 14-year-old boy "the facts of life" is like giving a fish a bath.

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old daughter took a job in a drug store for the summer. She earned about $40 a week and I felt since she worked hard for it, it was her own money and she could do anything she wanted with it. She spent it on entertaining her friends, scads of records and magazines and so forth. Not one dime was saved. Her father said I should have MADE her save part of it. I say she earned the money herself and if she wanted to throw it out of the window we had no right to stop her. Who was right?

DEAR MOTHER: Parents have an obligation to teach their children sensible and practical economy habits. Many children (and some adults) are capable of earning money, but must be taught how to handle it. Papa was right!

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 years old and married to a man who is 31. My husband doesn't know what it is to find a button off his shirt or a hole in his sock. We have a baby a year old (been married two years) and my house is spotless. I do my own cooking and bake fresh bread every day. I was a model before I married and am still 38-24-36. My husband doesn't come home nights or weekends. He gets perfumed letters delivered to the house about once a week. Should I examine his mail? IGNORED. DEAR IGNORED: Examine his HEAD!

CONFIDENTIAL TO BRUCE: Just call it "THE HIGH COST OF LOVING." And don't whine - you made your bed!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Things to Remember
When Picking Perfume

In our grandmother's day we always could tell whether she or Aunt Mary had just left the room because of the fragrance which lingered. Perfumes were highly individualistic.

Today most women have perfume wardrobes which include a couple or more scents to be used on different occasions. It is about as inappropriate to wear a heavy, sultry perfume in the office as it is to wear an evening gown to work. Daytime perfume should be spicy and light. You should save the more provocative odors for evening or for very special occasions.

Of course, a woman should also consider her personality when selecting perfume. Some women do not enjoy wearing a heavy fragrance at any time any more than they would be caught dead with a balloon hairdo. You should be happy with your fragrance.

Many women make the mistake of buying perfume without first trying it on their skin. Alcoholic gases form in the neck of the bottle. Therefore, when you smell from the bottle you miss the true overtones and undertones of a well-blended scent.

Royal Roads Chapter, IODE, Wednesday, 8 p.m., headquarters.

There is another reason for trying perfume on your skin. The chemistry of the skin affects the odor and the body chemistry of each person is different. Therefore, the same perfume will smell differently on different people. Try out any perfume you buy on your wrist before making a final choice.

One more warning—it is fatal to dash into a store to select perfume when you are in a hurry or in a hectic mood. You are buying these to enhance your pleasure and attractiveness

Local Council President Interested in Youth Work

By MAUREEN DUFFUS

Helping young people is a major interest of Mrs. Bert Noel, past grand mistress of Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association in British Columbia, past mistress of Victoria Purple Star Lodge, and now in her first term as president of the Local Council of Women.

During her years in the lodge, Mrs. Noel has worked tirelessly for Protestant Orphanage in New Westminster, and has tried to help young people in any way she can. She is particularly interested in the less advanced child, who, she feels deserves more attention than he gets at present.

"The brilliant ones seem to get all the attention," she believes.

"I suppose I'm interested in children because I was an only child," says Mrs. Noel, who was born in Hamiota, Man., but has lived in Victoria since 1920. "I've made up for it by taking a great interest in children and young people ever since."

She has five children of her own—two boys and three girls, and all were married in St. John's Church here where Mr. and Mrs. Noel themselves were married.

SINGS IN CHOIR

Besides her lodge and Local Council work, Mrs. Noel has been in church groups, and has been a member of St. John's choir for over 35 years.

But she finds that she can not keep up with all her work, and while she is president of Local Council she plans to devote her whole time to council affairs.

"There are 31 affiliated societies represented on Local Council. The president must be prepared to go to all their meetings, and be able to discuss their projects with them."

"I enjoy it but it takes time to study work of all these groups. I don't want to take on more than I can handle. It's no use joining things if you haven't time to give to them."

Mrs. Noel wishes that more members would devote more time to committee work on Local Council.

"Our committees study problems thoroughly, keeping abreast of everything related to their subject in both local and national fields. On the basis of this study resolutions are passed here, then sent on to Provincial Council for presentation to the government. Many of our resolutions have been acted upon, and have brought about great improvement.

WIDE KNOWLEDGE

"But too often committee work is left to one or two people, and more help is needed."

With so many groups represented on council, from different political parties and church organizations, council president must be prepared to consider many different view points of every question.

"There is a great deal to be thought out, and never a day goes by without some aspect needing concentration."

When she gets too worried about a problem, Mrs. Noel turns to her knitting for relaxation.

"I find if I get very worried, it helps to pick up my knitting and think things through."

With four grandchildren, Mrs. Noel always has plenty of knitting on hand to help her relax.

Reception at 'St. Evar' Draws Relatives, Friends

By boat and private plane from the mainland and by car from up and down Island, relatives and friends converged upon "St. Evar," the Parksville home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Johnstone, on Sunday, to honor them on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary.

Attractive arrangements of colorful autumn flowers decorated the rooms for the occasion. Doors opened on a garden where chrysanthemums and late dahlias bloomed in profusion.

In the receiving line with the golden wedding couple were the two bridesmaids of 50 years ago, Mrs. J. D. Lumsden, Vancouver, a sister of Mrs. Johnstone, and Mrs. George Paterson, Goderich, Ont., Mr. Johnstone's sister.

Mrs. Johnstone wore a blue crepe and lace afternoon dress for the occasion with a three-strand pearl necklace, her golden wedding gift from her husband.

Their family gave the couple life size head and shoulder paintings of themselves.

Keith Johnstone, Nainaimo, son of the honor couple, acted as master of ceremonies. The guests gathered on the patio, where Rev. Dr. Montgomery, Parksville, gave the blessing and Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone, assisted by their eldest daughter, Mrs. Alden Appleton, Vancouver, cut their anniversary cake. Toast was proposed by Capt. Douglas Stalker, who was an usher at the wedding.

Mr. Appleton read telegrams of congratulations from friends and relatives and a niece, Mrs. Berge Thorsteinsson, presented the couple with a large envelope containing congratulatory letters from the eight nieces of Mrs. Johnstone, living in England and many places across Canada.

Refreshment table in the dining room was covered with an exquisite cutwork cloth and centred with an arrangement of golden chrysanthemums, flanked by golden candles in crystal holders. Presiding at the silver tea and coffee services were Mrs. W. I. Paterson, Vancouver, and Mrs. William MacKenzie, Toronto, a sister-in-law and a sister of Mrs. Johnstone; also Mrs. B. Harrison and Mrs. J. A. Cockburn. Assisting were the two other daughters of the couple, Mrs. Richard Harrison and Mrs. Victor Young, both of Vancouver, and their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Keith Johnstone, Nainaimo.

Victorians who travelled Up Island for the celebration included Lieut.-Col. J. R. Miller and his sister, Miss Louise Miller, who are staying for several days at Island Hall Hotel; Lieut.-Cmdr. S. Croucher and Mrs. Croucher with their children; Miss Katherine Youldall, Mr. and Mrs. Berge Thorsteinsson and Miss E. L. Forbes.

Is "iron-hungry blood" making you so tired you're ashamed?

Feel better fast when you suffer that run-down, weary feeling! Take this blood-improving iron tonic compounded especially for women!

How unfortunate when a woman is so tired, so weak and run-down, she feels guilty that she can't face the day's problems. Luckily, it's often due to "Iron-Hungry Blood" (simple iron deficiency anemia). Then it's needless for those women to go on suffering such awful weariness without help.

A special iron tonic can help relieve this condition... thus restore your vitality! It's Lydia E. Pinkham's Tablets, an iron tonic made especially for women.

With blood-improving iron, Pinkham's Tablets start to strengthen "Iron-Hungry Blood" fast. Thus quickly help build rich, red blood... to restore strength and energy so you feel fine again. In women, "Iron-Hungry Blood" is often aggravated with change of life and hot flashes. And especially in younger women—with monthly pain and cramps. Pinkham's unique formula can also bring blessed relief for these functionally-caused female sufferings that can do so much to drain away strength and vitality too. No wonder so many women find Pinkham's Tablets useful all through their lives! If "Iron-Hungry Blood" has left you weak and run-down, get Pinkham's Tablets at drugstore. Then see if you don't soon feel more like yourself again!

FOR FEMALE AILMENTS! Tests prove Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound (liquid) also brings quick relief from discomforts of monthly pain and change-of-life.

By Air to Edmonton

Miss Ruth M. Scott left early this afternoon for Edmonton, where she will make her home for the next three months. Miss Scott has been staying with her parents, Colonel and Mrs. G. B. Scott, at their home on Wilkinson Road, during the past two weeks.

Return From Trip

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wilson Goode have returned to Victoria after a five-month trip to the British Isles.

Baby Christened

The Captain Reid Chapel of St. Barbara, Esquimalt Garrison, was the scene Sunday for the christening of Deborah Anne, nine-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erroll Inglis, of Lauder Road. The child's godparents are Mr. and Mrs. C. Olsen and Mrs. William Edmonds. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R. Beaton, of Langford, and the paternal grandmother is Mrs. G. Inglis, of Queens Avenue. A tea followed the service at the home of the baby's parents.

Weekend Guest

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Colquhoun, of Beach Drive, had as their guest over the weekend, Mrs. Norma Revell-Smith, of London, England, and Southern Rhodesia. Mrs. Revell-Smith has been on a month's tour of Canada and left for Vancouver this afternoon for a three-day visit before flying back to England via the polar route.

From Winnipeg

Mrs. Ralph Erwin has arrived from Winnipeg for an extended visit in Victoria, and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dryden, Westdowne Road.

Tea for Bride

Mrs. A. Cochrane and Mrs. D. Walker were co-hostesses at a tea in honor of recent bride Mrs. John Davis, the former Miss Alma Angus. The affair was held at Mrs. Walker's home on Allenby Street. A miniature bride, groom and matron of honor centred the tea table. Guests included Mrs. J. F. C. Blowey, Mrs. Parrott, Mrs. E. P. Angus, Mrs. N. Angus, Mrs. C. Walker, Mrs. G. Burkholder, Mrs. T. Peatt, Mrs. H. Harmsworth, Mrs. Jack Fouracre, Mrs. C. Ratcliff, Mrs. T. Steven and Miss Arlene McLaren.

At Art Gallery

Following a preview of the Emily Carr exhibit at the Art Gallery Tuesday evening, a reception will be held for Art Gallery members. Mrs. Bernhard Kjekstad of the Women's Committee is in charge of refreshments, and will be assisted by Mrs. A. Sutherland Brown, Mrs. Thomas Fee, Mrs. Lloyd McKenzie, Mrs. R. L. Horne and Mrs. Colin Graham.

Engagement

Of interest in Victoria is the engagement announced by British Vice-Consul Francis Joseph White and Mrs. White, Coral Gables, Florida, of their daughter, Agnes Deap, to Philip Morrow Ahlgren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley C. Ahlgren of Osterville, Mass. Miss White spent some time in Victoria with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, and attended Oak Bay High School. She attended Duke University and is a graduate of McGill University, Montreal. The wedding is to take place Oct. 11 at 3 p.m. in St. Philip's Episcopal Church, Coral Gables.

Suggestions for college wardrobe were modeled by 16 sophomores when second-year Victoria College students entertained for first-year girls yesterday afternoon. Some of the models are pictured, from left: Pat Burton, wearing a casual dress in grey wool; Doreen Johnston in

Campus Clothes Modeled at Tea

A fashion show featuring campus clothes for every occasion was highlight of the Freshette tea, given by the Women's Undergraduate Society of Victoria College to welcome first-year students Sunday in the Ewing Building union room. Models were sophomore girls, wearing their own clothes, many of which they had made themselves. Miss Barbara Dick-out was commentator of the show, which included college clothes from sleepwear to formal—and even the very newest in the casual look—Bernuda shorts over red stocking-tights. Over 300 attended the affair, at which special guest was Mrs. Frank MacKenzie Ross, accompanied by Miss Ruth MacLean. Women's Undergraduate Society president Miss Margaret Johnston welcomed guests, then introduced Mrs. Ross who spoke briefly. Also present were Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Hickman and other faculty members of the college faculty.

Attractive decorations for the tea were golden baskets filled with arrangements of autumn leaves.

Alaska Future Home For Happy Newlyweds

Juneau will be the future home of newlyweds of Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. John Irwin Davis. The couple were married in Oak Bay United Church by Rev. A. M. Angus in a setting of deep red asters and daisies.

Bride is the former Alma Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Angus of Allenby Street and her groom is the son of Irwin F. Davis, New York, and the late Mrs. Davis.

Wearing a gown of white lace over taffeta, the bride entered the church on her father's arm. Her waltz-length gown was styled with a high empire bodice. She wore a shoulder-length veil misting from a dainty headdress and had a triple strand of cultured pearls, gift of the groom. Red roses and stephanotis were in the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. J. A. Cochrane, sister of the bride, as the only attendant, wore an ice blue taffeta ensemble. Her flowers were yellow marguerites and she had a matching headband.

A blue satin and crepe gown was worn by the mother of the bride. She had a matching hat and wore a mink shoulder piece. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Best man was J. Andrew Cochrane and ushers were Donald Walker and Tom Steven.

A wedding cake, decorated by the bride's sister, Mrs. D. Walker, centred the table at a reception in the home of her parents. Dr. W. J. Cochrane proposed the toast.

Civil Ceremony Unites Couple

In a civil ceremony recently, Miss Vita Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson of Denmark, became the bride of Ed Skjold, son of Mrs. Anna Skjold of Sauda, Norway.

For the service, the bride chose a yellow nylon net dress with full skirt and floating shoulder panels at the back. Her accessories were in gold tone and she carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and carnations.

Mrs. Agot Telgenes was matron of honor wearing a silk dress in pink shade. She had a red rose corsage. Bridesmatron, Mrs. William Huse wore a turquoise silk ensemble and white carnation corsage.

Best man was William Huse. Oak Lodge private hospital was the scene of a reception. A horseshoe of heather and carnations was presented to the bride for good luck. Gold and white was the color theme of the bridal table which was centred with a wedding cake.

Stanley Janes proposed the toast to the bride. Mrs. Janes presided at the tea table, and serviteurs were Miss Janet Nuttall and Miss Helen Woodcock.

"O Perfect Love" was sung by Mrs. Hilda Clatworthy at the reception.

'The Texan' Debuts at 7 on 7; Arthur Murray Party at 10 on 4

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

KREMLIN IN THE LIVING ROOM - So excellent was Playhouse 90's new season curtain-raiser last Thursday evening, "The Plot to Kill Stalin," that one is inclined to use it as a full stop to the thought that Playhouse 90 is more than a "television series. Rather once a week.

In its two years of existence not only has it been, for the most part, of such high order that it has overcome successfully a rash of commercials that would have sounded the death knell for presentations of lesser merit. To be sure, the string of "hits" has been weakened occasionally by plays of doubtful stature but the memory of these has quickly been extinguished in the flood of good ones to follow.

Among the best, picked from the random of memory, were such TV classics as Polly Bergen's memorable evening with "The Helen Morgan Story," Jack Palance's "Requiem for a Heavyweight," Mickey Rooney's "The Comedian," Joan Woodward and her husband Paul Newman in the bitter-sweet "The 80-Yard Run" and the unforgettable story of little Helen Keller with Patty McCormack and Theresa Wright, "The Miracle Worker." Now, to these, can be added "The Plot to Kill Stalin."

Dairies Reject Pay Boost Plan For Employees

Victoria milk distributors have rejected the majority report of a conciliation board which recommended a $40-a-month increase over two years for plant workers, and $43.75 over two years for drivers.

The Victoria Pasteurized Milk Distributors' Association made its decision known to the B.C. Labor Department.

Earlier, the employers' nominee to the board, who constituted the minority report, claimed that Victoria milk distributors are "being forced out of their own market" by Vancouver distributors able to ship carton milk here to sell at lower prices.

Lawyer Edwin Pearlman, representing Island Farms Dairies Co-operative Association and other local milk distributors, made the allegation in a minority report calling for no pay increase for 200 Victoria workers. The conciliation board majority report, consisting of employees' nominee Robert Strachan and board chairman Robert Leach, Friday recommended pay boosts for drivers and plant workers on parity with a recent Vancouver decision.

CAN'T COMPARE

In his stand against any increase in pay this year, Mr. Pearlman said the milk distribution situation in Victoria could not fairly be paralleled to that in Vancouver, and that no pay boost for Victoria milk workers was justified.

"Victoria distributors are being subjected to ever-increasing competition from Vancouver dairies able to process their products in Vancouver and ship carton milk to Victoria chain outlets to sell at less than Victoria prices," Mr. Pearlman says in his minority report.

"As they are not sold on a retail delivery basis, the conditions which Victoria distributors must make, such as local delivery costs and commission payments, are thus avoided."

"There is uncontradicted evidence that milk in an ever-increasing percentage is reaching the Victoria market from Vancouver and that Island-produced milk is being forced out of its own market."

SERIOUS

Mr. Pearlman said the situation was "reaching serious proportions and is growing rapidly worse."

"I consider it my duty," his report continues, "to condemn in the strongest possible terms the complete disregard by members of boards of conciliation of local conditions and local problems."

"The fact that an agreement is reached in Vancouver is no justification for applying the same decision to Victoria."

Mr. Pearlman rejected a pay increase for Victoria milk workers "as entirely unsuited to local conditions" and called for extension of the existing collective agreement for two years.

Under the majority report recommendation, drivers' pay would jump to an average $355 a month and plant workers' pay to $342.

Voting Today On Sewer Plan

NANAIMO—Residents of the Harewood district are voting today on a $287,000 sewer project to become part of a Greater Nanaimo system.

A majority vote will mean establishment of a sewerage board in the area.

Harewood share of the program is $93,000 and will mean a tax increase of three mills. Polls opened at Harewood fire hall at 8 a.m., and will close at 8 p.m.

CENTRAL MORTGAGE AND HOUSING CORPORATION—SEALED TENDERS, payable marked as to content and addressed to the undersigned, will be received up to 12 o'clock noon, October 21, 1958, for the construction of 27 housing units at Site "11," Belmont Park, Vancouver Island, B.C. Plans, specifications and forms of tender required can be obtained by prime contractors only at the address shown below, and are available for inspection at CMHC Branch Office, Belmont Bldg., 505 Government St., Victoria, B.C., and the Vancouver and Victoria Builders' Exchange. ## PARKSVILLE WANTS OWN POLICEMAN

PARKSVILLE—Chamber of Commerce has acquired some unwelcome ammunition in its fight to have a resident RCMP constable here, instead of being protected by the Qualicum Beach detachment.

In the last few days there have been the first false fire alarm in 10 years, wires cut at a pay telephone booth, seats slashed in the Park Theatre, and valve inserts taken from tires of cars at Island Hall Hotel.

Jobless Total Takes Plunge At Duncan

DUNCAN—Resumption of logging operations after a series of layoffs during the dry summer has reduced the number of unemployed applicants at the Duncan office of the Unemployment Insurance Commission to the lowest number since October, 1957.

At the close of the September period there were 522 male and 167 female unemployed applicants registered.

With the settlement of wage agreements between the IWA and the Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, a feeling of optimism is prevalent in the area, said R. S. Robinson, manager of the Duncan UIC office.

There is a surplus of workers in all categories except skilled loggers and domestic workers to live in.

All logging operations are now back to normal as a result of seasonal rains and the settlement of wage negotiations in the industry. The few sawmill workers who were laid off due to cutbacks caused by the longshoremen's strike will be rehired immediately.

City Man Injured In Car Crash Still 'Critical'

Istvan Varro, 21-year-old Victorian hurt Wednesday afternoon in a car crash on the Alberni summit, remains in critical condition at West Coast General Hospital in Port Alberni, hospital officials said today.

His companion, A. T. Carvello, was discharged from the hospital after treatment of minor injuries.

Varro, a CPR employee, was driver of a car that went out of control on a curve, and smashed into a rock bluff.

Seeds of the white birch tree number close to 1,500,000 per pound of weight.

Deficit Hits $190 At Community Centre

CHEMAINUS—The Community Centre here had a net loss of $190 for the year ending Aug. 31.

Financial statement presented at the annual meeting showed that total revenue received during the year amounted to $3,113.82, while expenditures during the same period were $3,304.43.

Cost of operating the Community Centre sports program was $1,389, and receipts from the various sports events amounted to $1,079.

R. J. Duncan was re-elected president of the centre. Nick Lystar was named vice-president, and Charles Ayling secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected for two-year terms were Nick Lystar, Al Woodley and Bob Wilson. Ron Gibbons, Bill Brown and Alec Crabbe were elected for one year.

Mr. Duncan said that the

50 JUDGED Gardening Students Get Prizes

GANGES—Students of Salt Spring Elementary High School assembled in Mahon Hall here for the annual prize-giving of cups and awards to winners in the school gardens contest sponsored by the PTA.

J. B. Foubister, school principal, introduced Mrs. Mary Fellows, PTA president, and Mrs. Gwen Burge, garden contest convener, who made the presentations.

More than 50 gardens were judged throughout the island and marks attained were high despite the dry summer.

First, second, and third-place winners were: Special Grade 1 class, Sylvia Atkins, Danny Akerman, Laurie Mout; Class 1, Alan Halmberg, Beverly Atkins, Linda Inglis; Class 2, Rhonda Lee, Patricia Atkins, Laurie Hollings; Class 3, Donna Hollings, Stuart Reid, Raymond Fraser.

Lively Bidding Marks Final Day Of Big Mill Sale

A crowd of close to 300 contractors, dealers and home workshop hobbyists kept bidding lively today at the final session of the three-day auction of Crowe, Gonnason Co. Ltd. mill equipment and stock.

Heavy equipment was offered for sale Thursday and Friday, but small tools, builders' hardware, lumber lots, paint, and other building materials were up for sale today.

Auctioneer Art Roberts of Maynard and Sons conducted the sale.

"There are more than 500 lots to sell," he said. "They will have to be moved at up to 100 lots per hour to finish today. That is almost two per minute."

Observers said the bulk of sales today were made to private buyers. Still unsold from Thursday are a saw carriage, electric saws, and kiln. Bids were made but were considered by the auctioneer as too low and were refused.

Driver Fined $35 After Smash-Up

ALBERNI—William A. Rickert, 234 Milton Street, Nanaimo, pleaded guilty in police court here Friday to driving without due care and attention, and was fined $35 and costs.

He was the driver of a late model car that was badly damaged when it went off the road at Cathedral Grove earlier the same day. One of the passengers was treated at West Coast General Hospital in Port Alberni for minor injuries, then released.

Times Honor Carrier

Each day this month The Times honors one of its "junior merchant" carrier boys who have demonstrated qualities of leadership and application to their endeavors. Today's candidate is:

JOHN EDGINGTON

A Times carrier for almost two years, John has given his many customers the best of service and has managed to increase his monthly route earnings, providing him with a substantial savings account which he plans on using for his future college education.

An avid sports enthusiast, John is interested in swimming, track and football events and attends S. J. Willis Jr. High School. His hobbies are stamp collecting and acquiring foreign coins.

John's father, Ronald, is a service salesman for Empress Motors and along with his wife, Ann, reside with their family at 3761 Kathleen. Their younger son, Paul, is also a Times carrier.

John is one of the top carriers in the city in the annual sales popularity contest and is eagerly trying to win for himself the grand champion award.

So the best of luck John and congratulations on being nominated TODAY'S TIMES HONOR CARRIER.

Unions Ask Papers to Dig For Welfare Payment Data

NANAIMO (CP)—The Nanaimo and District Labor Council plans to enlist the aid of leading B.C. newspapers to obtain accurate figures on those receiving welfare benefits in the province.

The move followed accusations that the provincial government had deliberately kept the true figures from the public.

J. F. Colwell, president of the council, at a meeting Sunday, said the public is entitled to a true picture.

"This is information which belongs to the public," he said. Arnold Smith, president of the Nanaimo carpenters union, had raised the issue. He said he had been unable to get specific figures from the welfare branch.

He said he wanted to know, in his capacity as chairman of the council's unemployment committee, how many persons in central and upper Vancouver Island areas were receiving welfare benefits.

He said he emphasized the information was needed so the council could press the federal government for amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act.

The council represents more than 15,000 unionists on the Island.

Mr. Smith said he was told it was not the policy of the branch to release current information until it has passed through the legislature.

He said a letter to Health and Welfare Minister Martin on the matter had been unanswered.

GO AFTER IT

Percy Kidder, noting the press did not seem to have access to the figures, moved that the press be asked "to go after this information."

"For the government to refuse to disclose the information is to act behind closed doors... is undemocratic."

In other business, the council gave its support to the B.C. Government Employees' Association in its efforts to gain wage increases in 1959.

Request for support came from Nanaimo branch spokesman Dave Block.

READY TO STRIKE

Mr. Block revealed that a poll vote of Nanaimo members indicated they would be agreeable to strike action this year if necessary to enforce wage demands.

The council voted to ask the provincial government to provide an appropriate sum of money in its 1959 budget to bring government employees' pay to "a more realistic level."

It wants the government to make a policy announcement on the matter "immediately."

ISLAND DIGEST

Victoria Daily Times 28 MONDAY, SEPT. 29, 1958

Inquest Tuesday In Sidney Crash

Inquest into the death of Donald Campbell, 32, of 35 Obed Avenue, in a car crash near Sidney Friday will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m. at Sands, according to Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner.

The car in which he was riding with four other persons was in collision with another car at the intersection of Patricia Bay Highway and Lochside Drive.

Let's talk REAL ESTATE

By Don Whyte

It is interesting to drive through our sparsely developed country-side and observe the continuing development of 5 and 10-acre plots into small subdivisions. It becomes self-evident.

The need for a master plan covering the entire area and for legislation restricting the development of these small subdivisions, becomes self-evident. There must be a more homogeneous development with a continuity of planning radiating out from the existing developed areas, or more of our beautiful potential residential areas will be lost.

The case for professional planning of subdivisions also becomes self-evident. Most of these small subdivisions are patterned on the outmoded grid principle. There is little thought given to topography and the placement of roads along interesting contours. Streets in a residential development should form a functional system, that is the street layout ought to be designed for the site and not superimposed upon it. It is the form of a pre-conceived pattern. A functional street system derives its inspiration from the lay-of-the-land. Natural features of the landscape instead of being removed are incorporated into the layout. Designs of streets should be synchronized with the homes on it. In other words the exact locations of the homes should be laid out in conjunction with the laying out of the street. The buying public are beginning to resist the subdivisions with homes set in an uninteresting line exactly 25 feet from the road. They can be offered much more with the help of professional town planning people.

An example of this type of planning can be seen at Grandview Drive and Narvaux Crescent, in Gordon Head. This subdivision was laid out by Maurice Clayton, formerly of Clark & Clayton, who had a great deal of town planning experience in England. The subdivision is now nearing completion and the benefits of this type of planning are now being enjoyed by the residents of the area.

Smashing Victory Won by De Gaulle

Algerian Rebels Fight On

CAIRO—Algerian rebels will continue their war against French rule despite the results of Sunday's referendum in Algeria, sources of the newly-constituted Algerian provisional government said today.

The rebel sources charged that Algerian voters were hauled to the polls in trucks and under heavy guard. They said Moslems were forced by various means to vote.

Incomplete results from 12 of Algeria's 15 departments reflected a 96 per cent "yes" vote in the referendum.

For the first time, French and Moslems voted on an equal footing. It also was the first time Moslem women were given the vote.

The big turnout of Moslem women surprised officials. They regarded it as a signal the women are taking full advantage of their new opportunity for emancipation.

The new constitution makes no provision for the future of Algeria and a heavy yes vote there was simply an expression of confidence in de Gaulle personally.

The favorable vote was clouded by the fact most of the Arabs and Berbers who make up nine-tenths of Algeria's 10,000,000 people are illiterate and were under pressure from the French army to turn out and vote yes.

The Algerian result also was rendered less valid by the fact only 1,005,538 persons were registered to vote out of 4,222,000 eligible adults. Nationalist rebels campaigned for abstention.

ST. PIERRE, St. Pierre et Miquelon—Residents of these French islands off Canada's west coast voted heavily for Premier de Gaulle's new constitution Sunday.

A total of 2,385 persons voted at the town hall here and 2,325 marked their ballots in favor of the constitution.

PARIS—France today notified her West African possessions of Guinea that it has chosen the path of separation from the French union by voting against the new constitution.

Premier Sekou Toure was told his government no longer could receive financial or administrative aid from France.

The alumina-rich country, slightly larger than the United Kingdom, broke its links with France Sunday when its people rejected Gen. Charles de Gaulle's constitution.

With about one-quarter of the vote counted, Guinea has gone for its freedom 30-to-1.

Said Chest president Hubert Wallace: "Victorians have charitable souls. They have rallied before—I know they will rise again this time."

The speeches came after a parade of army, air force and navy men that was slick enough to coax the small change from anybody's pocket. Led by the 17-piece Naden band, the marchers strode along to the subdued cheers of curbing-line Victorians whose representative support assured well for the outcome of the drive.

PRAYER FOR TODAY
Father, show me how I may get the most out of life not only in personal pleasures but also in the joys and satisfactions of being helpful to others. May I guard my health, living in moderation and respecting nature's laws, in order that I may function at my best. Lift me above the trivial and the common-place and free me from selfish desires. May I discover how to save my life by losing it; in Christ's name. Amen.

GEN. DE GAULLE
... personal triumph.

Canada Asks A-Weapons From U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has asked the United States to release atomic weapons to the Canadian armed forces, Maj. Gen. Jean Allard, vice-chief of the army general staff, said today.

He also said that the army has ordered a small number of American Lacrosse ground-to-ground guided missiles and planned to order the American Hawk ground-to-air guided missile.

Helene Rips Cape Breton

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Hurricane Helene roared toward Newfoundland's southwestern coast today after dealing Cape Breton a knockout blow.

Power was restored in all but two residential sections of this city of 32,000 shortly before noon. For four hours Cape Breton Island's only link with the Nova Scotia mainland was a single telephone line.

A city works official estimated property damage in the wake of Helene's 90-mile-an-hour winds at more than $100,000.

Schools were closed all over the island.

With 60-mile-an-hour winds gradually diminishing, the storm will move up the strait of Belle Isle and into Labrador.

As the city gradually returned to normal, reports of damage were widespread. A large frame warehouse of the L. E. Shaw brick plant in the city's east end crumpled in the gale minutes after 20 employees scrambled out.

One tree smashed through a house. Firemen were called to check numerous minor fires.

No injuries were reported.

One eyewitness said the powerful winds were "bending trees almost to the ground."

Gusts reached 70 miles an hour at Shearwater naval air base near Halifax.

Hurricanes Helene and Ilsa gave strong indication of merging into a violent storm far out in the North Atlantic.

Courses plotted by the U.S. weather bureau in Miami would bring them together possibly in the next two or three days, said forecaster Rolfe Dean.

DAMAGE HEAVY
Today, up and down the coast of the Carolinas stand houses with roofs ripped open after the weekend's furious onslaught of Helene.

There were scattered personal injuries but no loss of life.

Spinning in to the coast Saturday from the southeast, Helene passed up most of South Carolina's lush resort area.

Frenchmen Back New Constitution

PARIS (AP)—Premier de Gaulle has won his fight. Returns from the most sweeping referendum in French history today gave him a resounding personal triumph and a strong constitution for a new Fifth Republic.

The Fifth Republic will be proclaimed in the official Journal next Sunday. And France will embrace a new, more powerful system of government, so daring many Frenchmen gasped at the conception while they voted their approval by a landslide Sunday.

Voters of continental France approved the new constitution by a margin of almost 4 to 1. Complete official tabulations in France showed 17,656,226 yes votes and 4,624,475 no votes. There was a record turnout of 84.9 per cent of the registered voters. Counting all those who went to the polls, including some who cast blank ballots, the new constitution was approved by 78.5 per cent. With one exception—French Guinea in West Africa—the overseas lands of the erstwhile French empire also backed the constitution to the hilt. This set them up with France on the world political stage as a "French community," a sort of global confederation, with commonwealth status and even independence waiting in the wings.

Can Write His Own Ticket

Even the no vote of independence-minded Guinea, on a steamy stretch of the West African coast, made little impression in the general massive outpouring of approval that exceeded even the most optimistic estimates.

The landslide raised the prospect that de Gaulle, the 67-year-old wartime hero who became premier after a rightist uprising last May, can almost write his own ticket to cure the sickness of this long-ailing country.

Chief of these is the four-year-old Algerian rebellion.

De Gaulle probably will become president, with powers that no French chief of state has enjoyed since Emperor Napoleon III was overthrown in 1870.

In the interval France has deliberately maintained a strong legislature and a weak executive.

De Gaulle's dramatic victory was the worst electoral black eye the Communists have suffered in postwar France. The Communists formed the largest bloc campaigning against de Gaulle's constitution. They said it would open the way to dictatorship.

Gaullist leaders hailed the results as a decisive blow at the Reds, who had the biggest single voting bloc—148 deputies—in the 596-seat National Assembly.

Approval of the constitution automatically rejects the old assembly. De Gaulle now has four months of near-dictatorial powers in which he will write a new election law to seat a new assembly.

Elections probably will come in late November or early December.

Chiang Threatens To Bomb Red Guns

TAIPEI (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek said today his Nationalist air force will bomb the Communist guns ringing Quemoy when and if the "crucial moment arises."

He added he felt the United States would back him if that time came.

Chiang said this would be when the lives of the 130,000 troops and civilians on the outpost fortress are in danger either from the effects of the Communist artillery blockade or other military action.

He said: "When the crucial moment arises I feel the United States will not fall back on its promises to help. But the crucial moment has not yet arisen."

"But we will act on our own regardless of the U.S. attitude when it comes to a question of life and death."

Chiang spoke at his first open news conference since Feb. 7, 1955.

Meanwhile, growing bitterness is reported in Formosa over United States policy on the Formosa Straits issue. Nationalist armed forces and political leaders are saying privately that there is a growing feeling the government of Formosa will be "sold out" by the United States.

Nationalist official quarters received with "grave concern" press reports from Washington Sunday on possible American moves to bar Nationalist agents from being air-dropped into the Chinese mainland.

They said the ban would impede their efforts to defend Formosa.

Reliable Nationalist sources said Nationalist airmen, who now are reported operating F-100 supersonic jet fighters, had penetrated into the mainland several times in the last week.

The sources said the Nationalists would seek permission to bomb rocket bases on the mainland if the Communists opened fire with their newly-installed rockets, reported to be in position opposite Quemoy.

All-White Private Schools Set Up as Vote Backs Faubus

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Federal Judge Harvey M. Johnson announced today the court will issue a temporary restraining order against the Little Rock school board which has leased four high schools to a private corporation.

The Little Rock school board today leased four closed high school buildings to a private group for operation as private, segregated schools.

With the approval of the state attorney-general, the board went ahead with the leasing without waiting for federal court action in Omaha, Neb., where the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is asking that the leasing deal be temporarily halted.

A two-judge court was to take up the NAACP request for a temporary restraining order later.

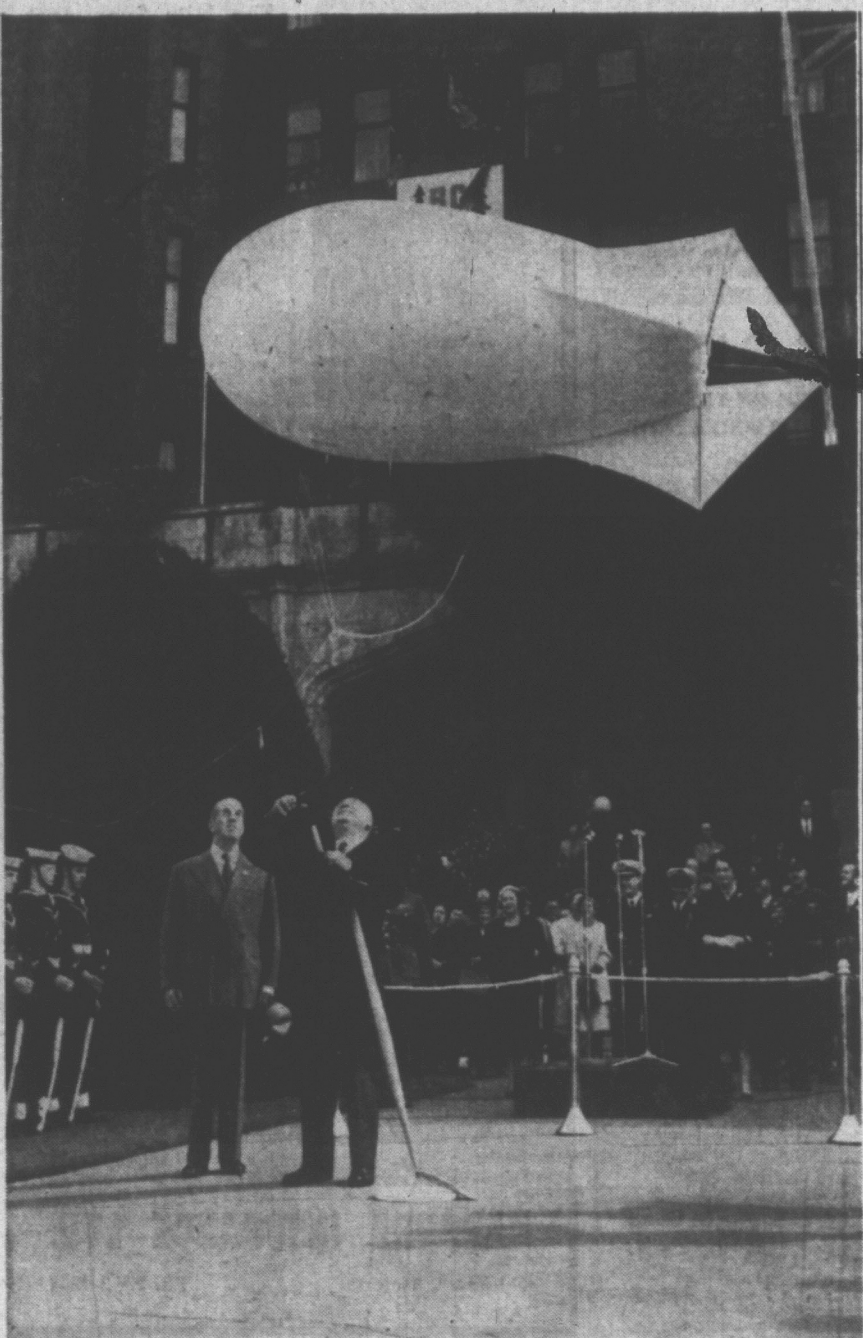

The action followed an overwhelming vote by Little Rock citizens Saturday against letting Negroes attend the all-white schools. The final result of a referendum was: against 19,470; for 7,565.

Governor Orval Faubus said of the result: "We shall now move forward with all dispatch to open the closed schools as private educational institutions."

"In short," the chief justice said for his unanimous tribunal, "the constitutional rights of children not to be discriminated against in school admission on grounds of race or color... can neither be nullified openly and directly by state legislators or state executive or judicial officers, nor nullified indirectly by them through evasive schemes for segregation whether attempted ingeniously or ingenuously."

The assertion was in the formal opinion setting out the reasoning behind the court's Sept. 12 decision against any delay in integration of Little Rock's Central High School.

With the justices assembled in a special session, Chief Justice Warren read the court's 17-page printed opinion. It said that violence and disorder in the Little Rock situation "followed

LET'S PUT IT IN ORBIT!

FLYING START FOR $300,000 CHEST DRIVE

The Balloon Went Up! How High Will It Go?

By DAVID COWLISHAW

A snip of a pair of scissors, a sudden riveting of some 200 pairs of eyes skyward and a big white plastic balloon floated up from the front walkway of the Empress Hotel today.

The time: 11:06 a.m. The occasion: the launching of Greater Victoria's 1958 (for 1959) Community Chest campaign, blowing the kick-off whistle on a spirited drive for money that will not stop until $300,000 is in the bag about Oct. 31.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross was the man with the scissors.

"As this balloon goes up, so I hope will your contributions," he said to the applauding onlookers. "Three thousand volunteers who are giving their time to this campaign will be looking for your support and generosity."

As he spoke, the balloon bobbed gently around above the hotel lawn. Tethered to a wooden block, the 40 cubic foot oval sausage filled with high-priced helium (courtesy, Yarrows Ltd.) was at once the epitome of Chest officials' hopes for a triumphant drive, and a reminder to citizens to keep their contributory sights high.

But there wasn't much doubt that Victorians will heed the call for cash.

Said Chest president Hubert Wallace: "Victorians have charitable souls. They have rallied before—I know they will rise again this time."

The speeches came after a parade of army, air force and navy men that was slick enough to coax the small change from anybody's pocket. Led by the 17-piece Naden band, the marchers strode along to the subdued cheers of curbing-line Victorians whose representative support assured well for the outcome of the drive.

Pearson Hopeful Solution Looms In Formosa Talks

By PETE LOUDON

New hope for peaceful settlement of the Formosa dispute by negotiation was expressed in Victoria today by Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson.

He was most optimistic over a proposal by India which would see the war-torn islands of Quemoy and Matsu become a no-man's-land while talks proceed.

Mr. Pearson spoke against any Canadian participation in the dispute over the off-shore islands. He said the war between Red China and the off-shore islands is a Chinese civil war.

Regarding the threat of U.S. armed intervention, he added: "The time has come when we should say publicly we don't support this... our attitude should be made clear to the United States."

"We shouldn't break with the U.S. if we can avoid it, but if the U.S. is going to continue this policy, then their friends should let them know... where they stand."

The only alternative to a U.S. diplomatic defeat or a world war, he felt, was through negotiation as proposed by India.

CROSS-CANADA TOUR
Mr. Pearson's visit to Victoria is part of a cross-Canada "fact-finding" mission which will be the basis of a drive to rebuild the election-shattered Liberal Party.

He came here from Vancouver and will proceed tonight to Calgary, Edmonton and Regina on a tour which will end in Cape Breton.

Mr. Pearson lunched today with R. W. Mayhew, former ambassador to Japan, and tonight he will speak to Victoria district Liberals following a dinner at Holyrood House.

Mr. Pearson said it was too

LYONS, Kan. — A little over two weeks ago five-year-old Steven Schleuning lost a pet caterpillar while playing with it in bed.

He began to feel the symptoms of a cold. Saturday night, Steven sneezed extra hard.

Out of his nose came a partially developed butterfly.

His mother, Mrs. Jack Schleuning, vouched for the incident Sunday. The family doctor said he is considering writing it up for a medical journal.

KENILWORTH, N.J. — If you think the hoop craze will end with cold weather and shorter days, you haven't figured on the ingenuity of businessmen.

A firm here has come out with a new hoop that glows in the dark, so children can go right on twirling till bedtime.

BOGNOR REGIS, England — About 50 schoolgirls — followed by nearly 100 jeering boys — paraded through the streets of this seaside town Sunday protesting a proposal to make their school co-educational.

The girls, aged between nine and 15, carried banners reading: "Save our schools from co-education," "Boys and girls want separate schools," "co-education will be unhappiest days of our lives."

With the girls was one boy, 18-year-old Edward Horton, who said he thought boys and girls in the same school "cause trouble for both."

MOSCOW — A Soviet philosopher claimed Sunday there are far fewer loveless marriages in the Soviet Union than in the West.

Dr. T. Stephanyan in an article in Komsomol Pravda said true love will reign supreme under Communism.

In the Western world, he asserted, many marriages are concluded for convenience or gain.

SYDNEY, Australia — A widow walked into a "men only" drinking establishment in a Sydney suburb Friday night, went up to five of her husband's former drinking companions and emptied a box of ashes on the bar.

"You wanted him here all the time," she said. "Well, here he is."

And there were the ashes of her husband, Harold William Norris, 47, who was found dying in a Sydney street Sept. 5.

PRINCE RUPERT — A car plunged into the Skeena River Saturday carrying a man and woman to their deaths. A third occupant escaped.

Only one of the bodies was still in the wreckage, that of the woman apparently having floated away. She was identified as Vivian Lucy Watts, 22, of Kincolith, B.C.

Police identified the man as John Berry, 26, a longshoreman.

Prince Rupert garage mechanic Howard Nicoll crawled from the vehicle as it sank beneath the surface. He was pulled to shore by Joseph Kraupner, 19-year-old bank clerk, who dived in when he saw Nicoll in the water.

"We've got to rebuild on a basis of decentralization and we've got to bring new and younger people into the party."

He said a questionnaire recently sent to all party members by the B.C. executive would be invaluable to his project. He felt a strong policy on labor matters would have to evolve in the near future. New policies on agriculture and finance were also important to the party's hopes for again assuming power.

SNIPER POTS AT AIRMEN IN BALLOON

SOUTH ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Two balloonists preparing for a high altitude flight said Sunday a sniper with a highpowered rifle fired at them seven times as they were drifting over Iowa.

Bullets snapped at close as 15 feet away from the multi-colored balloons that air force Lieut. Clifton McClure, 25, and his instructor, M. Lee Lewis, Minneapolis, were riding on a training flight Saturday.

McClure, a space researcher, is scheduled to make a lone ascent to a height of 100,000 feet Tuesday.

WINTER VACATION NEWS

Mr. Eugene M. Strauss, Vice President of Hotel del Coronado, will be at the Empress Hotel the afternoons of Sunday, October 5, Monday, October 6 to accept reservations for the winter season. Because of the exceptionally mild, sunny climate of Coronado, winter is a most favored season at the Hotel — where it is said to be "Spring all year 'round". Mr. Strauss would like to have the opportunity to meet you personally and tell you in some detail of the many unique features and advantages offered by his hotel. In the event you cannot meet him, he suggests that you see your travel agent.

senior and junior Chambers of Commerce — steered along at five miles an hour by beaming drivers who occasionally waved to shoulder-hoisted kiddies.

Policemen kept the crowd lines straight. Youngsters skipped and ran alongside the marching feet. An old lady sat on a folding chair and munched an apple. Victoria — a representative gathering, anyway, had turned out to see the 1959 Chest off to a good start.

At the Empress the cars drew up to the right of the causeway and parked. The marchers formed a U-shape in front of the main entrance, while Victoria MP A. deB. McPhillip's Labor Council's A. W. Toome and other dignitaries representing civic and other groups took their places.

CHANGE LIVES

The lieutenant-governor arrived promptly at 11, the servicemen presented arms, the band played six bars of God Save the Queen and the simple ceremony began that signalled the start of a campaign that will affect and perhaps change the lives of hundreds, maybe thousands, of luckless Victorians.

Out came the scissors and up went the balloon, up 150 feet. Tied to it literally is a mammoth red feather. Tied to it figuratively are a myriad hopes that a lot of people dealt an unfair hand by life will be able to raise their heads during the next 12 months and live in happiness free of the stigma of need.

CHEST REPEAT PERFORMANCE TONIGHT

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

All-orchestral program with which the Victoria Symphony Orchestra launched its 18th season Sunday afternoon was well chosen to give the ensemble scope for showing off its most appealing attributes.

Pleasure of the fair-size audience at the Royal Theatre — where the program will be repeated tonight — was enthusiastically expressed. Such deeply familiar music as Weber's "Oberon" Overture and the "New World" Symphony of Dvorak while welcome to the audience is peculiarly fraught with danger for the orchestra.

SHARP CHALLENGE

The slightest "fluff" or fall below standard in a work like the "New World," known in intimate detail via a dozen distinguished interpretations on records, provides, at least outwardly, a sharper challenge than a new suite by Prokofiev or a piece by Samuel Barber.

Let me say at once then, that the Victoria Symphony inspired by the interpretive insight of Hans Gruber was equal to the challenge and gave us a reading that evoked the folk quality, seeming to draw attention to the composer's imaginative delight and skill in manipulating his new-found material.

Technically this first concert of the winter season revealed no slip below the good level of competence achieved at the height of last season.

It makes one long to find out what could be done on a basis of daily rehearsals.

But what it lacks in the sheer, breathless dazzle of technical perfection heard from some orchestras, the Victoria Symphony makes up in a way that gives lasting pleasure.

SACRED DUTY

This is an interpretive orchestra. With Gruber on the podium it provides lovely effects achieved through sensitive handling of color and an earnest dedication to the principal that the truth and meaning of the music is a sacred duty and of first importance.

As a result, such music as Debussy's atmospheric tone poem, "Afternoon of a Faun" is given a lucid performance full of mood and delicate light and ephemeral shadow.

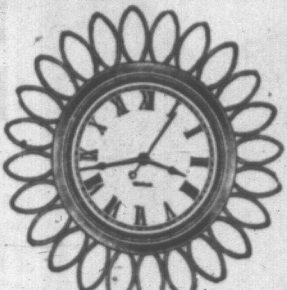

Another of the orchestra's strong points is its playing of Mozart and Haydn. The current program includes Mozart's 33rd Symphony in B Flat.

The story of the growth of Canada's First King Size Cigarette

"The auditors of Rothmans of Pall Mall Canada Limited (Price Waterhouse & Company) have certified in a report dated September 12, 1958 that the monthly sales figures of Rothmans in Canada, used in this graph, are correct and that the total sales of Rothmans King Size in Canada in the period October 1, 1957 to August 27, 1958 amounted to one billion (1,000,000,000) cigarettes."

From the beginning, Rothmans new concept of King Size smoking pleasure appealed to Canadians. In just four short months, it was first in sales in Toronto.

Then, early in 1958, other Canadian tobacco manufacturers followed Rothmans King Size idea by introducing 11 new brands of longer-than-ordinary cigarettes.

Canadian smokers sampled these new brands (as evidenced by the downward curve in the above graph) in the spring of this year. Equally evident in the graph is the fact that Canadian smokers returned to Rothmans King Size after trying the newcomers.

The unprecedented demand for Rothmans King Size then proceeded apace. In April, Rothmans became first in sales in Ontario, and across Canada, first in sales in August.

The month of August marked the passing of yet another Rothmans milestone—the sales of one billion (1,000,000,000) cigarettes since October last year.

Heifer Calf

RED's new calf came home last night. What a flurry and excitement with Red plunging round in a frenzy of protective mother love.

She had it two days ago somewhere in the bush. We knew that she must have had it because the evening before she wandered away by herself, and, next morning, she didn't appear with the other cows.

"I'll look for it this afternoon," said my husband.

But I beat him to it. I wrote my last column at top speed, stacked the lunch dishes, and went for a walk in the woods.

I knew that Red might have had the calf almost anywhere, and that it might take me an hour or more to find her.

First, I went along the rocky part, and sat down on a mossy ledge to have a cigarette and watch the willow patch below. She might have had it down there, I thought, because, among the willows, there are many secret places where a cow could hide a calf.

But nothing moved and there was no sound at all, so I set out for the grassy place near the fenced-off, dangerous water hole. It's the kind of walk I like. There are no proper trails. Instead, winding cow paths lead from one grassy glade to another.

I looked by the big maple tree where, in summer, the cows sometimes went for shade. I pushed my way through to a hidden place by the northern fence. I searched in what I call the Wild Rose Glade. I went past the cedar patch, and under the boughs of a two-trunked maple. I had a lovely time, just wandering.

Then, suddenly, as I was beginning to forget Red, I saw her in a mossy, sunny place ringed around with firs.

She was absolutely still, watching me and waiting. Right behind her was the calf, curled up on the ground. (Golden maple leaves on the bright green moss, a blue jay screaming close at hand.)

I sat down to watch the calf because there wasn't any hurry. Besides, I like a spell of peace and quiet, and to sit in the woods on a fine September afternoon, strikes me as little short of Heaven.

The calf is a dark reddish brown with three or four white hairs on its forehead and a little white underneath.

It'll be registered as Madroni Maid the Third. Such a grand name for such a newborn creature!

Her father was a topnotch bull in Ontario. I may be foolish, but it seems to me a miracle that the little vial of semen, packed in a thermos of dry ice and flown from the East, should result in such a warm, sturdy little animal.

I love watching cows when their new calves are running with them. Their natures and reactions are so different.

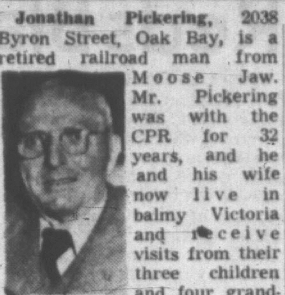

One cow of ours is dreadful with her calves. Giving birth enrages her. She hates her calves. She won't let them come near her.

Another cow, Blossom, was over-maternal. If a new calf was running with her, she was so busy guarding it that she never found time to feed herself at all. Even a straying hen would put Blossom in a tizzy in case it hurt her precious calf.

But Red is fairly sensible. Last night we put the calf in the back of the truck and Red followed close behind. She was wild and excited, naturally, until it was on its feet again, and trotting beside her on the way down to the barn.

I hope I haven't bored you and been too bovine. But it's so delightful when things go well, and a calf comes safely, and turns out to be, not a bull, but a healthy little heifer.

The Day YOU Were Born

Pickering is a postman here, and a daughter raises chinchillas.

On the day he was born: High rents in Ireland gave rise to country-wide protest meetings calling for an abatement.

General Baker met with the Ameer, Yacob Khan, of Afghan outside of the city of Cabul. More news from India was to the effect that General Roberts repulsed a large body of Mongols near Jagathana; that all was quiet at Mandalay, and that Dikka was occupied by British forces.

"For a month only," says Dr. W. P. Cool in an advertisement, "I will make full upper or lower sets of teeth on vulcanite or celluloid base for $12 or $15 the plate."

A mass meeting, called in London to denounce the government, was a failure.

The nerves of the whole neighborhood of Yates and Government were being unstrung by the "Whee-haw! Haw-aw-aw!" of a brute of a jackass, which had been sounding off at intervals of about a minute, from morning to night.

Russia was in the middle of a huge rearmament program, and speculation pointed at Austro-Hungary as the recipient of her attentions.

The date? Sunday, Sept. 28, 1879.

Another birthday we wish to honor is that of Michael Alan Phillips who was three on Sunday.

PM Pans 'Washtub Nugget'

DAWSON, Y.T. (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker left Sunday for Ottawa after a three-day sampling of the Yukon's people, industry, trout-fishing and food.

He carried with him a small gold nugget he panned from a gravel-filled washtub, a lake trout he caught while fishing from shore with spinning tackle, two special Yukon gifts and the record of having been the first prime minister to visit the territory.

The gold nugget, about the size of a corn kernel, was his reward for the washtub effort in a secret initiation ceremony Saturday night. He was made an honorary member of the exclusive Yukon Order of Pioneers.

Earlier Saturday, after a civic banquet of moose meat and wild goose, he and Mrs. Diefenbaker shook hands with Dawson residents at a public reception.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Pay Packet Racket

LONDON—There are all sorts of ways of making a penny or two, honestly or otherwise, and this is quite an ingenious one.

On pay days outside certain automobile plants and other big factories, workers are seen to go and queue up at a van parked nearby. They take out their pay packets, a transaction is conducted and then off they head home.

What goes on?
It seems that the gentlemen with the van have provided themselves with pay packets of exactly the same type as used in the plant. The worker asks them to make out one for several pounds less than what is marked on his real pay packet.

He transfers his pay into the new envelope, pocketing the difference after giving a "consideration" to the men who work this pay packet racket. Then he goes home and dutifully hands over to his wife what she thinks are his full wages for the week.

The operators of this stunt do it quite openly and as yet the firms have taken no action against them. I suppose they feel that having paid their workers

It's their own concern how they sort out their domestic problems.

An apt new word I hadn't heard before—"kidult." I heard a producer use it when referring to "kidult movies" such as Robin Hood, Davey Crockett and the like, i.e., aimed at kids but as much fun for adults. I guess comics come under the same heading and there are lots of kidult toys—electric trains, to name but one.

A bit of pioneering done by the Daily Herald—a page printed in full rotogravure color, the first time a British newspaper has ever done this. It was an ad for a sister publication, the weekly magazine Woman.

Those of you who have a technical interest in printing might like to know how it was done. One side was printed first in full-color rotogravure and the rolls of newsprint rewound and fed into the ordinary newspaper presses for the printing of the other side.

But there's a major problem of combining gravure and letterpress printing and the Herald admits it hasn't yet thoroughly licked it. Putting the newsprint through the rotogravure process stretches it and it's the devil's own job to have the color page fitting exactly with the black-and-white page on the other side.

For the time being the Herald got around this by designing the ad in a pattern like wallpaper so that it could be chopped up into sizes without impairing it.

The link-up between Ind Coope, the British brewers, and Labatts of Canada has prompted the former to announce: "The time has come when we must adopt the same approach to beer as to good wine."

This pooling of research brains will, they feel, produce the perfect pint of beer—"a combination of the qualities of a Canadian lager with the traditional British brew."

$400,000 Damage In Warehouse Fire

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A spectacular fire which burned for more than two hours destroyed a 50-year-old warehouse and an estimated $400,000 worth of drugs and chemicals here Sunday. Earl Robinson, assistant fire chief, said the flames started in the basement of the Gem State Wholesale Drug Co.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

CITY'S WEATHER RECORD
Sunshine, 1958 — 2,105.3 hrs.
Last year — 1,915.7 hrs.
Precip. to date — 10.83 ins.
Last year — 14.45 ins.

SYNOPSIS—There are two tremendous storms on the chart today, one battering the eastern Aleutians the other moving northeastward off the coast of Nova Scotia. This latter cyclone dropped nearly 3 inches of rain on Halifax during the last 24 hours with violent winds which touched 78 miles per hour. To compensate for the depth of these storms some strong ridges of high pressure have developed and one of these promises to drop anchor over British Columbia for the next few days. In consequence a spell of fairly settled weather is expected in most areas with cool, frosty nights in interior valleys. There will be patchy cloud in coastal areas especially at night and in the early morning but the sun should appear each afternoon.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Try Early Start on Annuals

Spring sown annuals started outdoors frequently are slow to get started and rarely start flowering before July 1.

Gardeners with green-houses, even unheated, or sun-porches, can make an earlier start by sowing indoors. Others sow in cold frames in March and transplant to the open garden during May.

The end of September is the recommended time for the sowing outdoors of many of the hardy annuals. As with any other sowing or planting, preparation of the soil is necessary. Now that a little rain has been in the topsoil, it is more readily broken down to a fine tilth.

COVER CROP

If the soil is a stiff clay, discard the idea of a fall sowing, and concentrate on improving the texture for next year by making compost and sowing a cover crop such as broad beans, peas, or fall rye.

A sandy loam may be raked down and the seed sown in rows if the flowers are to be used for cutting. If the idea of straight rows does not appeal to you, mark out three-foot squares in the prepared soil and sow a separate kind of seed in each square or perhaps two which blend particularly well.

The seedlings should not be thinned until spring, since the elements may take some toll of their numbers. If you have the space, and the inclination, these sowings may prove worth the gamble, though the results cannot be guaranteed.

Tuesday I shall give a list of hardy flowering annuals which usually stand over average winters, and will provide cut flowers for the house or early flower shows during the first weeks of June on through summer.

Reds Blamed for Attacks on IWA

VANCOUVER (CP)—District Labor-Progressive (Communist) IWA president Joe Morris issued a statement Sunday aimed at stemming what he termed "incor- rect and malicious statements" about the 1958 wage settlement between the International Woodworkers of America and Coast lumber operators.

Morris suggested in the lengthy statement that the party is behind the rumors.

The LPP-Communist plot to destroy the IWA in 1948 was attempted by IWA members who attacked the union's policy from within the union, as the tools of outside interests," he said.

"We must never allow this to happen again."

His statement was a defence of the district policy committee's acceptance of the Sloan formula calling for no wage increases during 1958.

"Membership opinion was made known to the committee at the district delegates conference called for the purpose of assessing the union's position. This conference approved the actions of the negotiating and policy committee unanimously."

"Those who now attack the terms of settlement were not heard to express opposing views at that time," he said.

Although the union vote members had voted 82 per cent in favor of strike action, within a few days the government-supervised strike vote reduced this majority to 65 per cent.

"Out of every seven operations . . . three voted against strike action."

"There were reasons for the membership opinion opposed to strike action. Serious unemployment prevailed over large sec-

Industrials Hit Peak at Toronto

A new two-year high was established by industrials on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Led by steels and banks, the advance pushed the industrial index 2.21 points to 490.44, surpassing the 1957 high of 490.42, and any mark since mid-September 1956. Trading was otherwise light.

Steel Company of Canada and Algoma each moved up 1/2. International Nickel boosted both industrials and base metals with a 1 point gain at 82 1/2.

In base metals Hudson Bay Mining added 1/2 at 53 and Campbell Chibougamau advanced 45 cents at $6.60.

Bailey-Selburne led western oils, ahead 30 cents at $9. Calgary and Edmonton, up 1/4 at 29 1/2, and Pembina, up 1/4 at 8 1/2, were other winners.

Other index changes: Golds off 0.8 to 82.80; base metals up .49 to 166.73; western oils up .84 to 136.1.

AT NEW YORK tobaccos and drugs made good gains as the stock market continued to advance in active trading late this afternoon.

Toronto closing averages: Industrials . . . 491.06, up 2.83
Golds . . . 82.64, off 0.24

BEIRUT, Lebanon (Reuters)—United States and Lebanon have reached "complete agree- ment" on the subject of the withdrawal of American troops.

Withdrawal of the remaining 9,000 of the 14,200 troops was discussed by American ambas- sador Robert McClintock and the new Lebanese premier, Rashid Karami.

A spokesman said: "The am- bassador and Admiral James Holloway, commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in Lebanon, have found themselves in complete agreement on the subject with the president (Gen. Fuad Chehab) and prime minister."

McClintock also conferred with Admiral Holloway and Foreign Minister Philip Tecla, as it was announced that 2,700 U.S. Army engineers left Fri- day by air for West Germany.

Basco is a Vancouver com- pany. Kroy has producing oil properties in Alberta, Okla- homa and Louisiana, and gas reserves in Alberta.

Conger eels, found in widely scattered seas, may reach a length of 10 feet.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flax prices showed a firm tone in moderately active trade today.

Buying was prompted by heavy rains expected to delay harvest in Western Canada. Fairly good support was attrib- uted to export accounts indic- ating that some overseas busi- ness might develop.

Oats and barley trade showed shipping demand for barley and there were indications of a small disposal to the United Kingdom. Oats trade was mostly domestic with prices in both grains firm and moving in a narrow range.

The rye trade was quiet and mostly local with prices fairly steady but with some periods of irregularity.

Overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat included: United Kingdom, 300,000 bushels; Germany, 85,000; Belgium, 40,000; Venezuela a small lot.

Lakehead prices for Class Two, IWA and Domestic wheat were all unchanged from Friday.

'We Must Work With New Sense of Urgency for Unity' Says Archbishop

Preaching in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday morning, Archbishop Harold Sexton called for:

1. Unity between the Anglican Church and the non-episcopal churches (including the United Church of Canada).
2. A healing of the breach between the Anglican Church and the Church of Rome.

"We must pray and work with a new sense of urgency for unity with the non-episcopal churches, for harmony of spirit and agreement in doctrine with the Eastern Orthodox Church, and other ancient churches."

"And, if God wills, we must aim at the healing of the breach between ourselves and the Church of Rome. Some of you may think that is not desirable, but in any scheme of Christian unity the Church of Rome cannot be left out."

"How that is going to be accomplished God only knows, but we will pray about it and we will work to that end."

The archbishop said he had returned from the Lambeth Conference in London with the firm conviction that the Anglican Church is "the chief unifying factor in Christendom, aiming at unity rather than uniformity."

"Hers is a ministry of reconciliation for a divided world, and a disunited Christendom, and it is widely held that the spiritual gifts which Our Lord has given to our part of His church are ours in trust for the whole body of Christ."

Raising his arms in a gesture of prophesy, the archbishop declared:

"There is developing a great united church, catholic and evangelical, but no longer in the limiting sense of the word Anglican."

"In time the Anglican church is going to be swallowed up by a greater and more world-embracing church—catholic and evangelical—and that will be our contribution to the unity of Christendom."

"Insistence on what is known as the Lambeth Quadrilateral is helping us to play our part in the creation of this great world church, which will be the alternative to Rome."

The archbishop said the Lambeth Quadrilateral insists on four things:

1. The Holy Scriptures.
2. The historic creeds.
3. The two great sacraments.
4. The three-fold ministry of bishops, priests and deacons.

Anglicans, he said, can never surrender the historic episcopates which will eventually bring about the whole unity of the Christian body.

"We can never do that and we won't," he declared. "We must hold fast to these things, never wavering, knowing that our great church has its own life which it must sustain, and its own distinctive witness which it must give."

"So let us faithfully preserve our priceless heritage and take our full share in our church's vital work for the world's salvation, till we all come in the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

Archbishop Sexton recalled that just over 10 years ago, four dioceses of the Anglican Church in India left the Anglican Communion to enter into the new United Church of South India. "It is anticipated that the church will be fully episcopal within a comparatively short time," he said.

"In the near future it is expected that 15 dioceses in the Church of India, Burma and Ceylon will take their place in the new churches of Lanka, North India and Pakistan, though remaining in full communion with the rest of the Anglican Church."

"The basis of these schemes is a fully unified ministry from the very beginning."

Archbishop Sexton was speaking on the 29th anniversary of the consecration of Christ Church Cathedral by his predecessor, Bishop Schofield.

"Today," he said, "we realize the greatness of our inheritance, and that inheritance involves responsibility, not the least being the task of completing this noble church."

"And that is true of the great and world-wide Christian society of which we in this catholic church and diocese are a part. The progress which God has enabled us to make here has been matched elsewhere."

AT YARROWS SHIPYARD

Missing Funds Probe Started

Esquimalt police and company officials began an investigation today into a report that a considerable sum of money is missing from the employees' benevolent fund at Yarrows shipyard.

Lawn Cemetery At Ross Bay Wins Approval

City parks committee today approved in principle a plan to gradually turn Ross Bay Cemetery into a modified lawn cemetery.

The plan, submitted by parks administrator W. H. Warren, will be considered in detail at later meetings.

Mr. Warren recommended that permission of the Public Utilities Commission be sought to:

1. Remove all crushed rock or gravel from plots covered by the materials;
2. Empower the caretaker to regrade any plot and remove headstones from any plot in disrepair where there has been no burial for at least 25 years;
3. Replace headstones with flat surface markers, where possible;
4. Concentrate the proposed program in Block G—one of the older general areas in the centre of the cemetery.

Mr. Warren suggested that $5,000 be spent annually for a gradual improvement of the cemetery through this program. He also said the program should be publicly advertised before any action was taken.

POOR RESULTS

People dialled BE and four numbers for the old Beacon exchange, defunct for several years. They did the same for Garden and Empire, with rather poor results.

Some ignored the whole change completely, and continued to dial the former five-figure numbers. They got nowhere either.

Others leaped into the future and tried to dial Sidney, Vancouver and Seattle direct.

"We will do that eventually, but not quite yet," a company official said. "That is still in the future."

The "cutover" was made by a crew of 80 men.

LONELY HEARTS TO STAY LONELY

City welfare committee today turned down an application to establish a marriage bureau in the city.

The request made by Mrs. Elizabeth Shreiner, a hospital employee, was "received and filed" without discussion. The step means no action will be taken.

Gun Fired Inches From Head

The bullet that killed Albert Kerr at his North Pender Island home was fired from a gun at most three inches from his head, an RCMP firearms expert said today.

He was the second of three crown witnesses to give evidence on the fourth day of a preliminary hearing on a murder charge against the dead man's wife, Mrs. Alice Louella Kerr.

The hearing was expected to conclude this afternoon with completion of the crown's evidence in the case.

Mrs. Kerr, 54, is charged with the death of her 56-year-old electrician husband on Aug. 10 at their home at Hope Bay, North Pender Island.

Cpl. Hugh George Van Dusen, of the RCMP crime laboratory in Regina, said he determined from tests made, following a post mortem on Kerr's body, that the gun barrel would have been in direct contact with the skin or up to three inches distant.

Cons. William Robert Pictou, of the Regina laboratory's hair and fibres section, detailed intensive examinations made by him on hair specimens sent to him.

V.I. Riders Score At Vancouver Show

Victoria and Vancouver Island riders came home with more than their share of ribbons from the first annual horse-of-the-year show held in Vancouver on the weekend under auspices of the Canadian Horse Show Association.

Entries were limited to horses that placed first, second, third, or fourth in sanctioned shows during the year, and to the competitions in which they placed.

There were at least 20 entries in each class. Prizes in the afternoon were presented by Premier and Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, while Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross and Mrs. Ross attended the evening session and presented prizes.

Victoria and Island winners were as follows:

C. C. Carpenter, riding Sky Bingo, first in middle and heavyweight hunter class, and tie for fourth in open jumping.

Bob Grimshaw of Keating, riding Babe, first in working western.

David Batty of Duncan, riding Babe, first in western equitation.

Mrs. C. C. Carpenter, Daala Shan, second in Arabian costume class, fifth for hack under 15.2 hands.

Mrs. Ved Donaldson, Hindu Punch, third for hack over 15.2 hands.

Jean Dunbar, Seven-Up, fourth, equitation hunting seat; fifth; CHSA junior division; fifth, conformation lightweight hunter, Riding Quardeva, fourth in Arabian costume class.

This is the only horse-of-the-year show held outside of England, and is expected to become an annual event.

MONTE ROBERTS

Many admirers of English as she is spoke have lamented the decline and fall of the adverb.

The adverb, as you know, is in a losing battle with the adjective.

This is especially noticeable at this season of the year, when the sports pages are pitted with: "He tagged that one real good," and "He sure ran fast down to first."

But it is not only on the sports pages the adverb is being thrust aside by the sturdier adjective. Advertisements urge you to "drive safe with Twoton Tires," and tell you about the cigarette that "tastes good."

It is no wonder admirers of English view with alarm the decline and fall of the adverb, and think back to the good old days when "quickly" and "safely" and all the other adverbial "lys" found favor throughout the land.

So far, none of the admirers of English has come forward with a plan to restore the adverb to its former glory.

I now rectify that omission. In fact, I go one step farther, and attempt to give the adverb a glory it never had.

This is based on the age-old saying, if you can't lick 'em, join 'em.

I propose adverbs should join adjectives, and thus attain a long, happy, and useful life.

As a simple sample, take the adjective "simple."

Add "y" and you have the adverb "simply."

But I'd like to go a little further. I'd like to adverbize "simpler" and "simplest," which would then become "simplerly" and "simplestly."

I believe this will soon restore the adverb to its full power.

Excuse me. I'm ahead of myself.

Take another example. "Better." How much pleasantly it sounds as "betterly." In fact, it rings on the ears even more pleasingly as "more betterly," or "most best-estly."

Pretty soon we would have novels written in which a mysterious dark shape loomed up blackerly and ever more blackerly against the leadenly skyly, as the heroine cringed against the broadly chestly of the handsomely hero.

I am convinced the English language will owe me an undying debt of gratitude for this most valuably contributory.

Warren Raps Plan to Sell Athletic Park

Opposition to sale of Royal Athletic Park as a shopping centre site was mounted on two fronts today.

Parks administrator W. H. Warren, backed by city parks committee, lambasted the suggestion.

Douglas Fletcher, president of the Sports Council of Greater Victoria, sent City Hall a letter registering "a very strong protest" against any sale of the park.

He said it would be a heavy setback for Little League baseball in which more than 1,400 Greater Victoria boys participate.

Mr. Fletcher requested council permission to appear with a brief in opposition to the proposed sale.

An unidentified firm has offered to buy the park, Milton King, of King Realty, announced last week. Council has not been approached formally for the purchase.

In view of the offer, "I should like to express the view that no land now held for park purposes should be given up," Mr. Warren told parks committee.

FALLS SHORT

Victoria has little more than two acres of playing fields and playgrounds available per 1,000 population, he said. This falls far short of the six acres per 1,000 persons developed as a rule of thumb in more densely populated Great Britain.

Instead of selling Royal Athletic Park, the city should plan to expand it by acquiring remaining private property in the block, he said.

Mr. Warren ruled out development of Topaz Park as a replacement for Royal Athletic Park.

He said it was not suitable for an enclosed field, was windier than Royal Athletic Park which probably would make it colder in winter and did not have as much parking facilities available.

He also pointed out that a reported $150,000 purchase price was not enough to fence and install a grandstand and bleachers at Topaz Park.

Ald. M. H. Mooney, parks committee chairman, and Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson supported Mr. Warren's opposition and recommended that any concrete offer to purchase the park be referred to the parks committee for study.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Did Emanuel Swedenborg, who wrote "Heaven and Hell" (1758), consider himself a spiritualist or a prophet?—A.M.

A.—Swedenborg (1688-1772) believed that he was called upon to reveal a new Christian doctrine, which would make him a prophet more than a spiritualist. It was only the last 25 years of the life of the noted Swedish scientist that were devoted to biblical studies and theological writings. He had no idea of founding a new sect and remained a Lutheran until his death.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask the Times Editor, Questions and answers will be published daily."

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve problems or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or valuables. These should be submitted to dealers.

It will be open to the public. Mrs. Dunsheath reached the top of Mt. Elbrus, 18,481 feet, in the Russian Caucasus with two Russian climbers, and in 1956 led an expedition of British women to the Himalayas.

FUR COATS TAKEN FROM OAK BAY HOME

A pistol, four fur coats and a chest of silverware valued at about $1,400 were stolen from an Oak Bay home Sunday afternoon while occupants were away.

Police said the home of Dr. E. H. W. Elkington, 572 Island, was entered shortly before 4.40 p.m.

Two of the coats—an ermine and muskrat—had a total value of $1,000, police said.

Thieves overlooked a firearms collection valued at $2,000, which was stored in an attic.

Wife-Beater Guilty Again

Walter Mothersole, twice convicted previously of assaulting his wife, Carol, 1560 Oakland, was found guilty in city police court today on another charge of assault occasioning her actual bodily harm, and was remanded for sentence to Oct. 1.

Mrs. Mothersole told court early in the morning of Sept. 16 her husband had pushed open the door of her residence, said "I'm going to kill you," punched her in the face and choked her, then dragged her out of the house and threw her on the floor in the back of his car.

She testified she blacked out several times.

Medical evidence was that she suffered a black eye, swollen jaw and cheek, a cut on the top of the head and superficial scratches to her neck, as well as other bruises.

Three stitches were required to close the head wound.

Evidence was that she made her escape from the car at Quadra and Cloverdale when the car had stopped.

BE, EM, GA! They Tried Everything

Greater Victoria telephones were switched to a two-letter five-figure system at midnight Saturday with a minimum of fuss for most subscribers, according to B.C. Telephone Co. officials.

But thousands were quite bewildered.

All that happened was that on the former 2, 3, 4, and 5 exchanges, the two-letter prefix EV was added for Evergreen.

For exchanges 7, 8, and 9, the prefix GR for Granite.

So what did the public do?

People dialled BE and four numbers for the old Beacon exchange, defunct for several years. They did the same for Garden and Empire, with rather poor results.

Some ignored the whole change completely, and continued to dial the former five-figure numbers. They got nowhere either.

Others leaped into the future and tried to dial Sidney, Vancouver and Seattle direct.

"We will do that eventually, but not quite yet," a company official said. "That is still in the future."

The "cutover" was made by a crew of 80 men.

Lonely hearts to stay lonely

City welfare committee today turned down an application to establish a marriage bureau in the city.

The request made by Mrs. Elizabeth Shreiner, a hospital employee, was "received and filed" without discussion. The step means no action will be taken.

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

Another Symphony Season

In less delicate phases of show business, Mr. Hans Gruber's opening symphony concert Sunday would be referred to as a "warm-up."

The talented young maestro softened up his auditors for a brisk season with the mellow strings of Weber; moved on through the petroleum and moonlight confessions of Debussy; and finished up with that grand crasher of Anton Dvorak's, the "New World" symphony, which embraces cowboy lyrics, an Appalachian jig, and even a line from "Three Blind Mice."

This last piece had a little boy from one of our better private schools so excited that he leaped to his feet, took off his cap, and seemed bent on shying it at the nearest contra bassoon.

Each year our orchestra seems a little more polished and professional. Just how good it is, by international standards, remains a matter for conjecture.

The eminent music critic, Irving Kolodin, jolted a few West Coast souls this summer when he flew out from New York to hear the Vancouver Symphony (at the International Festival), and subsequently wrote that it was not much dam' good at all.

As for Canada: An expert musicologist remarked to me a few weeks ago that this country had one top-flight symphony, in Toronto. Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver, he opined, were professional, at the second level. Halifax, Hamilton, Ottawa and Calgary were semi-professional. Victoria occupied a sort of "No-man's land" in between the two; we could move to the top rank, given enough financial support. As it was, we were lucky to sustain our players, on a paid basis, in a town where there was no opportunity for CBC performances via television or radio.

Only two things irked me, and very mildly, yesterday. First were the program notes of my friend Graham Steed. In his comment on the "New World" symphony, Mr. Steed argued that the visits of Dvorak and Tchaikovsky to the U.S.A. had done nothing for American musicians because they "were not ready, either intellectually, spiritually or even nationally." If that is true, then we must assume that the eminent composers were either very bad teachers, or the Americans were dunderheads, or very possibly, both. I doubt it.

Mr. Steed went on to write: "Percy Scholes... points out that American-Indian and Negro idioms have basically little appeal to American composers of European extraction..."

Like George Gershwin? Or is it possible that "Porgy and Bess" is too Non-U for our boy Graham?

Secondly, a good many parched patrons of the Symphony moved at the intermission—on this fine, hot Sunday afternoon—in the direction of an orange juice machine in the lobby; only to be told that it is "contrary to the Lord's Day Act to sell orange juice on a Sunday."

How long must we put up with such utter fatuous nonsense?

DEAR ABBY: We will leave it up to you. Should a MOTHER or a FATHER tell a 14-year-old boy the facts of life? My husband is a quiet man who finds it hard to put those kind of thoughts into words, and he says I should tell him. I say it is the FATHER's place to tell his son. What is your opinion?

THE MOTHER: DEAR MOM: The boy should be told by his father, but he'd better hurry. Telling a 14-year-old boy "the facts of life" is like giving a fish a bath.

DEAR ABBY: Our 15-year-old daughter took a job in a drug store for the summer. She earned about $40 a week and I felt since she worked hard for it, it was her own money and she could do anything she wanted with it. She spent it on entertaining her friends, scads of records and magazines and so forth. Not one dime was saved. Her father said I should have MADE her save part of it. I say she earned the money herself and if she wanted to throw it out of the window we had no right to stop her. Who was right?

MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: Parents have an obligation to teach their children sensible and practical economy habits. Many children (and some adults) are capable of earning money, but must be taught how to handle it. Pappa was right!

DEAR ABBY: I am 22 years old and married to a man who is 31. My husband doesn't know what it is to find a button off his shirt or a hole in his sock. We have a baby a year old (been married two years) and my house is spotless. I do my own cooking and bake fresh bread every day. I was a model before I married and am still 38-24-36. My husband doesn't come home nights or weekends. He gets perfumed letters delivered to the house about once a week. Should I examine his mail? IGNORED. DEAR IGNORED: Examine his HEAD!

CONFIDENTIAL TO BRUCE: Just call it "THE HIGH COST OF LOVING." And don't whine—you made your bed!

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Things to Remember When Picking Perfume

In our grandmother's day we always could tell whether she or Aunt Mary had just left the room because of the fragrance which lingered. Perfumes were highly individualistic.

Today most women have perfume wardrobes which include a couple or more scents to be used on different occasions. It is about as inappropriate to wear a heavy, sultry perfume in the office as it is to wear an evening gown to work. Daytime perfume should be spicy and light. You should save the more provocative odors for evening or for very special occasions.

Of course, a woman should also consider her personality when selecting perfume. Some women do not enjoy wearing a heavy fragrance at any time any more than they would be caught dead with a balloon hairdo. You should be happy with your fragrance.

Many women make the mistake of buying perfume without first trying it on their skin. Alcoholic gases form in the neck of the bottle. Therefore, when you smell from the bottle you miss the true overtones and undertones of a well-blended scent.

Royal Roads Chapter, IOOE, Wednesday, 8 p.m., headquarters.

There is another reason for trying perfume on your skin. The chemistry of the skin affects the odor and the body chemistry of each person is different. Therefore, the same perfume will smell differently on different people. Try out any perfume you buy on your wrist before making a final choice.

One more warning—it is fatal to dash into a store to select perfume when you are in a hurry or in a hectic mood. You are buying these to enhance your pleasure and attractiveness and should give time and thought to their selection just as you would when choosing a costume or a hat.

Today perfumes are not such a great luxury as they once were. There are many lovely fragrances on the market which are within the reach of the average pocketbook. Take advantage of this very feminine beauty aid!

SATURDAY, 14 CENTSRED FEATHER MISSILE GOES UP
AND THE TARGET'S $300,000

And Up She Goes! Rising with the hopes for a better life for hundreds of Victorians, the Community Chest balloon soars up from the Empress Hotel front walkway today to signal the start of the 1958-59 campaign for $300,000. Lt. Governor Frank Ross, right, cut the string, watched by Chest president Hubert Wallace. The balloon is tethered at 150 feet. Tied to it at 75 feet is a Red Feather pennant, which will inch up as donations are received, at the rate of $4,000 a foot. When the pennant is at the same level as the balloon, the $300,000 will have been collected. (Times photo.)

Hopes Ride High

A snip of a pair of scissors, a sudden riveting of some 200 pairs of eyes skyward and a big white plastic balloon floated up from the front walkway of the Empress Hotel today.

The time: 11:06 a.m.
The occasion: the launching of Greater Victoria's 1958 (or 1959) Community Chest campaign, blowing the kick-off whistle on a spirited drive for money that will not stop until $300,000 is in the bag about Oct. 31.

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross was the man with the scissors.

FOLSOM SPARES
NEGRO'S LIFE

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The death sentence of Jimmy Wilson for a $1.95 robbery was commuted to life imprisonment today by Governor James E. Folsom.

The decision was announced by Folsom following a clemency hearing last Friday which brought the 55-year-old illiterate Negro handyman face to face with the governor.

Wilson must serve 15 years before he is eligible for parole.

DOT to Run 4 Fields

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Federal Judge Harvey M. Johnson announced today the court will issue a temporary restraining order against the Little Rock school board which has leased four high schools to a private corporation.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Little Rock school board today leased four closed high school buildings to a private group for operation as private, segregated schools.

With the approval of the state attorney-general, the board went ahead with the leasing without waiting for federal court action in Omaha, Neb., where the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People is asking that the leasing deal be temporarily halted.

A two-judge court was to take up the NAACP request for a temporary restraining order later.

The action followed an overwhelming vote by Little Rock citizens Saturday against letting Negroes attend the all-white schools. The final result of a referendum was: against 19,470; for 7,565.

Governor Orval Faubus said of the result: "We shall now move forward with all dispatch to open the closed schools as private educational institutions."

CANADA ASKS U.S.
FOR ATOM ARMSDe Gaulle Wins
Huge Public Vote
For 'New France'

PARIS (AP)—Premier de Gaulle has won his fight. Returns from the most sweeping referendum in French history today gave him a resounding personal triumph and a strong constitution for a new Fifth Republic.

The Fifth Republic will be proclaimed in the official Journal next Sunday. And France will embrace a new, more powerful system of government so daring many Frenchmen gasped at the conception while they voted their approval by a landslide Sunday.

Voters of continental France approved the new constitution by a margin of almost 4 to 1. Complete official tabulations in France showed 17,666,829 yes votes and 4,624,475 no votes. There was a record turnout of 84.9 per cent of the registered voters. Counting all those who went to the polls, including some who cast blank ballots, the new constitution was approved by 78.5 per cent.

With one exception—French Guinea in West Africa—the overseas lands of the erstwhile French empire also backed the constitution to the hilt. This set them up with France on the world political stage as a "French community," a sort of global confederation, with commonwealth status and even independence waiting in the wings.

Can Write His Own Ticket

Even the no vote of independence-minded Guinea, on a steamy stretch of the West African coast, made little impression in the general massive outpouring of approval that exceeded even the most optimistic estimates.

The landslide raised the prospect that de Gaulle, the 67-year-old wartime hero who became premier after a rightist uprising last May, can almost write his own ticket to cure the sickness of this long-ailing country. Chief of these is the four-year-old Algerian rebellion.

De Gaulle probably will become president, with powers that no French chief of state has enjoyed since Emperor Napoleon III was overthrown in 1870.

In the interval France has deliberately maintained a strong legislature and a weak executive.

De Gaulle's dramatic victory was the worst electoral black eye the Communists have suffered in postwar France. The Communists formed the largest bloc campaigning against de Gaulle's constitution. They said it would open the way to dictatorship.

Gaullist leaders hailed the results as a decisive blow at the Reds, who had the biggest single voting bloc—148 deputies—in the 586-seat National Assembly.

Approval of the constitution automatically rejects the old assembly. De Gaulle now has four months of near-dictatorial powers in which he will write a new election law to seat a new assembly.

Elections probably will come in late November or early December.

GEN. DE GAULLE
... personal triumph.Algerian Rebels Fight On

CAIRO—Algerian rebels will continue their war against French rule despite the results of Sunday's referendum in Algeria, sources of the newly-constituted Algerian provisional government said today.

The rebel sources charged that Algerian voters were hauled to the polls in trucks and under heavy guard. They said Moslems were forced by various means to vote.

Incomplete results from 12 of Algeria's 15 departments reflected a 96 per cent "yes" vote in the referendum.

For the first time, French and Moslems voted on an equal footing. It also was the first time Moslem women were given the vote.

The big turnout of Moslem women surprised officials. They regarded it as a signal the women are taking full advantage of their new opportunity for emancipation.

The new constitution makes no provision for the future of Algeria and a heavy yes vote there was simply an expression of confidence in de Gaulle personally.

The favorable vote was clouded by the fact most of the Arabs and Berbers who make up nine-tenths of Algeria's 10,000,000 people are illiterate and were under pressure from the French army to turn out and vote yes.

The Algerian result also was rendered less valid by the fact only 1,005,538 persons were registered to vote out of 4,222,000 eligible adults. Nationalist rebels campaigned for abstention.

'Warn U.S. Now
Against War
Over Formosa'

By PETE LOUDON

New hope for peaceful settlement of the Formosa dispute by negotiation was expressed in Victoria today by Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson.

He was most optimistic over a proposal by India which would see the war-torn islands of Quemoy and Matsu become a no-man's-land while talks proceed.

Mr. Pearson spoke against any Canadian participation in the dispute over the off-shore islands. He said the war between Red China and the off-shore islands is a Chinese civil war.

Regarding the threat of U.S. armed intervention, he added, "The time has come when we should say publicly we don't support this... our attitude should be made clear to the United States."

"We shouldn't break with the U.S. if we can avoid it, but if the U.S. is going to continue this policy, then their friends should let them know... where they stand."

The only alternative to a U.S. diplomatic defeat or a world war, he felt, was through negotiation as proposed by India.

CROSS-CANADA TOUR

Mr. Pearson's visit to Victoria is part of a cross-Canada "fact-finding" mission which will be the basis of a drive to rebuild the election-shattered Liberal Party.

New walls of water were expected today from continued deluges along the Rio Conchos in northern Mexico. About 30 families were evacuated in Presidio. One man was believed drowned.

The river, normally four feet deep here, was at more than 17 feet Sunday. 1.19 feet higher than in the big 1932 flood.

More than 15,000 were isolated in the Ojinaga area on the Mexican side. Pemex, the Mexican government oil company, flew in milk and baby food. Food, fuel and gasoline were reported running low in the Mexican town.

Helene
Wallops
Maritimes

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Hurricane Helene roared toward Newfoundland's southwestern coast today after dealing Cape Breton a knockout blow.

Power was restored in all but two residential sections of this city of 32,000 shortly before noon. For four hours Cape Breton Island's only link with the Nova Scotia mainland was a single telephone line.

A city works official estimated property damage in the wake of Helene's 90-mph-an-hour winds at more than $100,000.

Schools were closed all over the island.

INTO LABRADOR

With 60-mph-an-hour winds gradually diminishing, the storm will move up the strait of Belle Isle and into Labrador.

As the city gradually returned to normal, reports of damage were widespread. A large frame warehouse of the L. E. Shaw brick plant in the city's east end crumbled in the gale minutes after 20 employees scrambled out.

One tree smashed through a house. Firemen were called to check numerous minor fires. No injuries were reported.

DAMAGE HEAVY

Today, up and down the coast of the Carolinas stand houses with roofs ripped open after the weekend's furious onslaught of Helene.

There were scattered personal injuries but no loss of life.

People and Things

LYONS, Kan. — A little over two weeks ago five-year-old Steven Schleuning lost a pet caterpillar while playing with it in bed.

He began to feel the symptoms of a cold. Saturday night, Steven sneezed extra hard.

Out of his nose came a partially developed butterfly. His mother, Mrs. Jack Schleuning, vouched for the incident Sunday. The family doctor said he is considering writing it up for a medical journal.

KENILWORTH, N.J. — If you think the hoop craze will end with cold weather and shorter days, you haven't figured on the ingenuity of businessmen.

A firm here has come out with a new hoop that glows in the dark, so children can go right on twirling till bedtime.

BOGNOR REGIS, England — About 50 schoolgirls — followed by nearly 100 jeering boys — paraded through the streets of this seaside town Sunday protesting a proposal to make their school co-educational.

The girls, aged between nine and 15, carried banners reading: "Save our schools from co-education." "Boys and girls want separate schools." "Co-education will be unhappiest days of our lives." With the girls was one boy, 18-year-old Edward Horton, who said he thought boys and girls in the same school "cause trouble for both."

MOSCOW — A Soviet philosopher claimed Sunday there are far fewer loveless marriages in the Soviet Union than in the West.

Dr. T. Stepanyan in an article in Komsomol Pravda said true love will reign supreme under Communism.

In the Western world, he asserted, many marriages are concluded for convenience or gain.

SYDNEY, Australia — A widow walked into a "men only" drinking establishment in a Sydney suburb Friday night, went up to five of her husband's former drinking companions and emptied a box of ashes on the bar.

"You wanted him here all the time," she said. "Well, here he is."

senior and junior Chambers of Commerce — steered along at five miles an hour by beaming drivers who occasionally waved to shoulder-hoisted kiddies.

Policemen kept the crowd lines straight. Youngsters skipped and ran alongside the marching feet. An old lady sat on a folding chair and munched an apple. Victoria — a representative gathering, anyway, had turned out to see the 1959 Chest off to a good start.

At the Empress the cars drew up to the right of the causeway and parked. The marchers formed a U-shape in front of the main entrance, while Victoria MP A. deB. McPhillips, Labor Council's A. W. Toog and other dignitaries representing civic and other groups took their places.

CHANGE LIVES

The lieutenant-governor arrived promptly at 11, the servicemen presented arms, the band played six bars of God Save the Queen and the simple ceremony began that signalled the start of a campaign that will affect and perhaps change the lives of hundreds, maybe thousands, of luckless Victorians.

Out came the scissors and up went the balloon, up 150 feet. Tied to it literally is a mammoth red feather. Tied to it figuratively are a myriad hopes that a lot of people dealt an unfair hand by life will be able to raise their heads during the next 12 months and live in happiness — free of the stigma of need.

Symphony Wins Applause In Rising to Challenge

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

All-orchestral program with which the Victoria Symphony Orchestra launched its 18th season Sunday afternoon was well chosen to give the ensemble scope for showing off its most appealing attributes.

Pleasure of the fair-size audience at the Royal Theatre — where the program will be repeated tonight — was enthusiastically expressed. Such deeply familiar music as Weber's "Oberon" Overture and the "New World" Symphony of Dvorak while welcome to the audience is peculiarly fraught with danger for the orchestra.

SHARP CHALLENGE

The slightest "fluff" or fall below standard in a work like the "New World" known in intimate detail via a dozen distinguished interpretations on records, provides, at least outwardly, a sharper challenge than a new suite by Prokofiev or a piece by Samuel Barber.

Let me say at once then, that the Victoria Symphony inspired by the interpretive insight of Hans Gruber was equal to the challenge and gave us a reading that evoked the folk quality, seeming to draw attention to the composer's imaginative delight and skill in manipulating his new-found material.

Technically this first concert of the winter season revealed no slip below the good level of competence achieved at the height of last season.

It makes one long to find out what could be done on a basis of daily rehearsals.

PRINCE RUPERT — A car plunged into the Skeena River Saturday carrying a man and woman to their deaths. A third occupant escaped.

Only one of the bodies was still in the wreckage, that of the woman apparently having floated away. She was identified as Vivian Lucy Watts, 22, of Kinloch, B.C.

Police identified the man as John Berry, 26, a longshoreman.

Prince Rupert garage mechanic Howard Nicoll crawled from the vehicle as it sank beneath the surface. He was pulled to shore by Joseph Kraupner, 19-year-old bank clerk, who dived in when he saw Nicoll in the water.

The story of the growth of Canada's First King Size Cigarette

SEPT. OCT. NOV. DEC. JAN. 1958 FEB. MAR. APR. MAY JUNE JULY AUG. SEPT.

From the beginning, Rothmans new concept of King Size smoking pleasure appealed to Canadians. In just four short months, it was first in sales in Toronto.

Then, early in 1958, other Canadian tobacco manufacturers followed Rothmans King Size idea by introducing 11 new brands of longer-than-ordinary cigarettes.

Canadian smokers sampled these new brands (as evidenced by the downward curve in the above graph) in the spring of this year. Equally evident in the graph is the fact that Canadian smokers returned to Rothmans King Size after trying the newcomers.

The unprecedented demand for Rothmans King Size then proceeded apace. In April, Rothmans became first in sales in Ontario, and across Canada, first in sales in August.

The month of August marked the passing of yet another Rothmans milestone—the sales of one billion (1,000,000,000) cigarettes since October last year.

Dairies Reject Pay Boost Plan For Employees

Victoria milk distributors have rejected the majority report of a conciliation board which recommended a $40-a-month increase over two years for plant workers, and $43.75 over two years for drivers.

The Victoria Pasteurized Milk Distributors' Association made its decision known to the B.C. Labor Department.

Earlier, the employers' nominee to the board, who constituted the minority report, claimed that Victoria milk distributors are "being forced out of their own market" by Vancouver distributors able to ship cartoned milk here to sell at lower prices.

Lawyer Edwin Pearlman, representing Island Farms Dairies Co-operative Association and other local milk distributors, made the allegation in a minority report calling for no pay increase for 200 Victoria workers.

The conciliation board majority report, consisting of employees' nominee Robert Strachan and board chairman Robert Leach, Friday, recommended pay boosts for drivers and plant workers on parity with a recent Vancouver decision.

CAN'T COMPARE
In his stand against any increase in pay this year, Mr. Pearlman said the milk distribution situation in Victoria could not fairly be paralleled to that in Vancouver, and that no pay boost for Victoria milk workers was justified.

"Victoria distributors are being subjected to ever-increasing competition from Vancouver dairies able to process their products in Vancouver and ship cartoned milk to Victoria chain outlets to sell at less than Victoria prices," Mr. Pearlman says in his minority report.

"As they are not sold on a retail delivery basis, the conditions which Victoria distributors must make, such as local delivery costs and commission payments, are thus avoided."

"There is uncontradictable evidence that milk in an ever-increasing percentage is reaching the Victoria market from Vancouver and that Island-produced milk is being forced out of its own market."

SERIOUS
Mr. Pearlman said the situation was "reaching serious proportions and is growing rapidly worse."

"I consider it my duty," his report continues, "to condemn in the strongest possible terms the complete disregard by members of boards of conciliation of local conditions and local problems."

"The fact that an agreement is reached in Vancouver is no justification for applying the same decision to Victoria."

Mr. Pearlman rejected a pay increase for Victoria milk workers "as entirely unsuited to local conditions" and called for extension of the existing collective agreement for two years.

Under the majority report recommendation, drivers' pay would jump to an average $355 a month and plant workers' pay to $342.

Voting Today On Sewer Plan

NANAIMO—Residents of the Harewood district are voting today on a $287,000 sewer program to become part of a Greater Nanaimo system.

A majority vote will mean establishment of a sewerage board in the area.

Harewood share of the program is $93,000 and will mean a tax increase of three mills. Polls opened at Harewood fire hall at 8 a.m., and will close at 8 p.m.

State Has No Right To Interfere—Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court declared today the constitutional rights of Negro students "are not to be sacrificed or yielded" to violence and disorder.

The assertion was in the formal opinion setting out the reasoning behind the court's Sept. 12 decision against any delay in integration of Little Rock's Central High School.

With the justices assembled in a special session, Chief Justice Warren read the court's 17-page printed opinion. It said that violence and disorder in the Little Rock situation "followed upon the actions of the governor and the legislature."

No state can deny to any person within its jurisdiction equal protection under the laws, the opinion said.

"In short," the chief justice said for his unanimous tribunal, "the constitutional rights of children not to be discriminated against in school admission on grounds of race or color . . . can neither be nullified openly and directly by state legislators or state executive or judicial officers, nor nullified indirectly by them through evasive schemes for segregation whether attempted ingeniously or ingenuously."

City Man Injured In Car Crash Still 'Critical'
Istvan Varro, 21-year-old Victorian hurt Wednesday afternoon in a car crash on the Al-berni summit, remains in critical condition at West Coast General Hospital in Port Alberni, hospital officials said today.

His companion, A. T. Carvello, was discharged from the hospital after treatment of minor injuries.

Varro, a CPR employee, was driver of a car that went out of control on a curve, and smashed into a rock bluff.

Driver Fined $35 After Smash-Up
ALBERNI—William A. Rick-erby, 24 Milton Street, Nanaimo, pleaded guilty in police court here Friday to driving without due care and attention, and was fined $35 and costs.

He was the driver of a late model car that was badly damaged when it went off the road at Cathedral Grove earlier the same day. One of the passengers was treated at West Coast General Hospital in Port Alberni for minor injuries, then released.

Chiang Threatens To Bomb Red Guns

TAIPEI (AP)—President Chiang Kai-shek said today his Nationalist air force will bomb the Communist guns ringing Quemoy when and if the "crucial moment arises."

He added he felt the United States would back him if that time came.

Chiang said this would be when the 130,000 troops and civilians on the outpost fortress, are in danger either from the effects of the Communist artillery blockade or other military action.

He said: "When the crucial moment arises I feel the United States will not fall back on its promises to help. But the crucial moment has not yet arisen."

"But we will act on our own regardless of the U.S. attitude when it comes to a question of life and death."

Chiang spoke at his first open news conference since Feb. 7, 1955.

Meanwhile, growing bitterness is reported in Formosa over United States policy on the Formosa Straits issue. Nationalist armed forces and political leaders are saying privately that there is a growing feeling the government of Formosa will be "sold out" by the United States.

Nationalist official quarters received with "grave concern" press reports from Washington Sunday on possible American moves to bar Nationalist agents from being airdropped into the Chinese mainland.

They said the ban would impede their efforts to defend Formosa.

Lively Bidding Marks Final Day Of Big Mill Sale
A crowd of close to 300 contractors, dealers and home workshop hobbyists kept bidding lively today at the final session of the three-day auction of Crowe, Gonnason Co. Ltd. mill equipment and stock.

Heavy equipment was offered for sale Thursday and Friday, but small tools, builders' hardware, lumber lots, paint, and other building materials were up for sale today.

Auctioneer Art Roberts of Maynard and Sons conducted the sale.

There are more than 500 lots to sell, he said. They will have to be moved at up to 100 lots per hour to finish today. That is almost two per minute.

Observers said the bulk of sales today were made to private buyers. Still unsold from Thursday are a saw carriage, electric networks, and kiln. Bids were made but were considered by the auctioneer as too low and were refused.

Times Honor Carrier

Each day this month The Times honors one of its "junior merchant" carrier boys who have demonstrated qualities of leadership and application to their endeavors. Today's candidate is:

JOHN EDGINGTON

A Times carrier for almost two years, John has given his many customers the best of service and has managed to increase his monthly route earnings; providing him with a substantial savings account which he plans on using for his future college education. An avid sports enthusiast, John is interested in swimming, track and football events and attends S. J. Willis Jr. High School. His hobbies are stamp collecting and acquiring foreign coins.

John's father, Ronald, is a service salesman for Empress Motors and along with his wife, Ann, reside with their family at 3761 Kathleen. Their younger son Paul is also a Times carrier.

John is one of the top carriers in the city in the annual sales popularity contest and is eagerly trying to win for himself the grand champion award.

So the best of luck John and congratulations on being nominated TODAY'S TIMES HONOR CARRIER.

Unions Ask Papers to Dig For Welfare Payment Data

NANAIMO (CP)—The Nanaimo and District Labor Council plans to enlist the aid of leading B.C. newspapers to obtain accurate figures on those receiving welfare benefits in the province.

The move followed accusations that the provincial government had deliberately kept the true figures from the public.

J. F. Colwell, president of the council, at a meeting Sunday, said the public is entitled to a true picture.

"This is information which belongs to the public," he said. Arnold Smith, president of the Nanaimo carpenters union, had raised the issue. He said he had been unable to get specific figures from the welfare branch.

He said he wanted to know, in his capacity as chairman of the council's unemployment committee, how many persons in central and upper Vancouver Island areas were receiving welfare benefits.

He said he emphasized the information was needed so the council could press the federal government for amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act.

The council represents more than 15,000 unionists on the Island.

Mr. Smith said he was told it was not the policy of the branch to release current information until it has passed through the legislature.

He said a letter to Health and Welfare Minister Martin on the matter had been unanswered.

GO AFTER IT
Percy Kidder, noting the press did not seem to have access to the figures, moved that the press be asked "to go after this information."

"For the government to refuse to disclose the information is to act behind closed doors . . . is undemocratic."

In other business, the council gave its support to the B.C. Government Employees' Association in its efforts to gain wage increases in 1959.

Request for support came from Nanaimo branch spokesman Dave Block.

READY TO STRIKE
Mr. Block revealed that a poll vote of Nanaimo members indicated they would be agreeable to strike action this year if necessary to enforce wage demands.

The council voted to ask the provincial government to provide an appropriate sum of money in its 1959 budget to bring government employees' pay to "a more realistic level."

It wants the government to make a policy announcement on the matter "immediately."

Unions Ask Papers to Dig For Welfare Payment Data

NANAIMO (CP)—The Nanaimo and District Labor Council plans to enlist the aid of leading B.C. newspapers to obtain accurate figures on those receiving welfare benefits in the province.

The move followed accusations that the provincial government had deliberately kept the true figures from the public.

J. F. Colwell, president of the council, at a meeting Sunday, said the public is entitled to a true picture.

"This is information which belongs to the public," he said. Arnold Smith, president of the Nanaimo carpenters union, had raised the issue. He said he had been unable to get specific figures from the welfare branch.

He said he wanted to know, in his capacity as chairman of the council's unemployment committee, how many persons in central and upper Vancouver Island areas were receiving welfare benefits.

He said he emphasized the information was needed so the council could press the federal government for amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act.

The council represents more than 15,000 unionists on the Island.

Mr. Smith said he was told it was not the policy of the branch to release current information until it has passed through the legislature.

He said a letter to Health and Welfare Minister Martin on the matter had been unanswered.

Inquest Tonight In Tractor Death

CHEMANUS—An inquest will be held tonight in Duncan into the death Saturday of Tru-mer Wheeler, 47, who was crushed under the tractor he had been driving.

He and William Ward were demolishing a railway bridge four miles north of Chemainus, on the Copper Canyon Road, under contract to MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. Ward was driving a truck on the job.

"We were driving up a steep grade and I was waiting for a shove Wheeler had promised me," he said. "When it didn't come I looked in my rear view mirror and saw the tractor going down the embankment."

Wheeler's body was on the road. Police believe he was thrown from the machine and killed before it left the road.

Rape Trial At Nanaimo
NANAIMO—Trial of Pete Helland, Chemainus, charged with rape, opened today in Fall Asize Court here.

Next trial will be that of Billy Sam, charged with manslaughter in connection with the shooting death of Harry Fred at Kildonan, Sept. 2.

Mr. Justice A. M. Manson is presiding.

Inquest Tuesday In Sidney Crash

Inquest into the death of Donald Campbell, 32, of 35 Obed Avenue, in a car crash near Sidney Friday will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m. at Sands, according to Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner.

The car in which he was riding with four other persons was in collision with another car at the intersection of Patricia Bay Highway and Lochside Drive.

Let's talk REAL ESTATE

By Don Whyte

It is interesting to drive through our sparsely developed country, and observe the continuing development of the 5 and 10-acre plots into small subdivisions.

The need for a master plan covering the entire area and for legislation restricting the development of these small subdivisions is self-evident.

There must be a more homogenous development, with a continuity of planning radiating out from the existing developed areas, or more of our beautiful potential residential areas will be lost.

The case for professional planning of subdivisions also becomes self-evident. Most of these small subdivisions are planned on the outmoded grid-principle. There is little thought given to topography, and the placement of roads along interesting contours. Streets in a residential development should form a functional system, that is the street layout should be designed for the site and not superimposed upon it in the form of a pre-conceived pattern.

A functional street system derives its inspiration from the lay-of-the-land. Natural features of the landscape instead of being removed are incorporated into the layout. Designs of streets should be synchronized with the homes on it. In other words the exact locations of the homes should be laid out in conjunction with the laying out of the street. The buying public are beginning to resist the subdivisions with homes set in an uninteresting line exactly 25 feet from the road. They can be offered much more with the help of professional town planning people.

An example of this type of planning can be seen at Grandview Drive and Narver Crescent in Gordon Head. This subdivision was laid out by Maurice Clayton, formerly of Clark & Clayton, who had a great deal of town planning experience in England. The subdivision is now nearing completion and the benefits of this type of planning are now being enjoyed by the residents of the area.
